Founders Ranch, Edgewood, New Mexico, June 21-27 - When you drive to END of TRAIL the first time it finally hits you—this is not like any other SASS match. It might be when you see the billboard on Interstate 40. You probably never saw a billboard for a Cowboy Action Shooting™ match before. It might be when you turn off Interstate 40 near Edgewood, New Mexico, onto what was old Route 66, The Mother Road. But it's probably when you turn into the gate and see the big "END of TRAIL" sign and get greeted warmly by waddie Yul Lose or one of the other friendly waddies working traffic. If it isn't there, it's a little later when you're at the top of the hill looking down on a sea of RVs and tent campers, and below them is a nineteenth century town, part "Hell on Wheels" tent city, part Old

END of TRAIL turned another corner this year. For the first since moving to New Mexico the Old West Festival portion of the event is again alive and well. Dr. Buck arranged for the crowd pleasing Old West entertainment, and the Mounted folks provided continuous public entertainment with exciting arena competitions and parades through town. Oh, and the Action Shooting and Wild Bunch competitions were terrific as well!

West town with freshly painted buildings taken right out of Silverado or Dodge City. It might be at the opening ceremonies, when the flags of all of the competitor nations are marched in to their national anthem, and when Sundown leads the crowd in a stirring rendition of The Star Spangled Banner.

This is The Mother Lode. This is 480 acres devoted entirely to Cowboy Action Shooting™, the only place in the world where the winners become World Champions. The losers, well, there are no losers except the shooters who never go. This is the event you dreamed about when you first thought of Cowboy Action Shooting™. This is the event put on by the people who invented and perfected the sport. Twenty-eight END of TRAIL's have come and gone before this one. All of the champions have walked at END of TRAIL, the people you read about or watched on TV, from China Camp to T-Bone Dooley to Holy Terror. Without END of TRAIL, there would be no SASS, no Cowboy Action Shooting™.

There are Cowboy Action Shooters who never make it to END of TRAIL. Some regret it. Some don't know what they're missing. Some don't like the location, or the timing, or the entry fee, or the fact it's a lost brass match, or fill in your excuse of choice. Some watch life on television, just nibbling at life instead of living it. The people who come to END of TRAIL are living. They're biting off big chunks of life. They're dancing. Some of them have fought their way out of their office prisons, defeating the forces that keep them in their ruts. Some are showing their children or grandchildren a world where champions call penalties on themselves or loan their guns to competitors who broke theirs, where there is honor and camaraderie, a world where the term "straight shooter" means a lot more than the ability to shoot straight. Some are living their dreams playing cowboy again in their old age. Some are fighting disease, injury, or disabilities, refusing to "go quietly into the night." The

From the very beginning of Founders Ranch we've had two pillars of dedicated strength supporting the Wild Bunch's efforts—Giggles and More Or Les. They're always there with a smile and a helping hand. Giggles handles parking, posseing, and scoring while More Or Les helps with set up and props. They've been part of the "glue" that holds everything together, and are very much appreciated. More Or Les is a Senior Duelist and his exploits were inadvertently left out of a recent Cowboy Chronicle match report. He won the category! 🐾

In 2005 he became "infected" with Cowboy Action Shooting™. After that, nothing else pleased or made him happy. He had found the "perfect" shooting sport, one that balanced friendliness, fairness, and competitiveness. As Al says, "The use of three different firearms gives one a diversity no other shooting discipline offers, and the costumes take the edge off and remind everyone to have fun and not take the game too seriously."

In 2006 "SASS Luxembourg" was created, and he became the TG for Luxembourg. Kodiak Al earned his black instructor's badge under the watchful eye of The Elder Katie in 2007 while visiting her home range in Washington State. Since then he has had the opportunity to meet and shoot with the Wild Bunch and many of the "movers and shakers" in Europe. In 2009 he received his Regulator badge while attending the European Cowboy Action Shooting™ Championship, Days of Truth, in the Czech Republic. That same year he did very well at the European END of TRAIL, winning the Duelist Category.

As an organization, SASS has endeavored to provide leadership and consistency in Cowboy Action Shooting™. The Wild Bunch has long recognized the need for talented, local leadership across the USA and around the world. Local issues, local "rules," and local situations all require attention by the leadership if we are to maintain a cohesive, international organization. And, the Wild Bunch learned long ago it couldn't know nor understand the subtleties or the substance of most of these local situations. Local leadership needs to be in a position to deal with local situations, sometimes with advice and consulting from Headquarters.

One of the principal functions of Territorial Governors is to facilitate communication between the SASS membership and the Wild Bunch. However, in some situations the concerns are so broad and diverse a Territorial Governor representing a single club, or even a single country, may not have the global view necessary to provide the needed guidance or leadership, or even be able to explain the situation to the Wild Bunch so we can understand it!

Kodiak Al has the shooting background, fluency in five languages, an understanding of the politics and regulations commonly encountered in Europe, and an enthusiastic, engaging personality to be not only the eyes and ears for the Wild Bunch in Europe, but also to speak for the Wild Bunch in Europe. Consequently, in 2008 the General named Kodiak Al as the European representative for SASS USA and The Wild Bunch. This move formally placed Kodiak Al in a position to promote our sport in Europe and to assist European Cowboy Action Shooters.

Many of the administrative tasks necessary to acquire and process new members and new clubs have been assigned to Kodiak Al.

Any European issues, problems, or concerns should be addressed to him. Kodiak Al is prepared to handle any necessary financial transactions for SASS, ensuring all currency conversions are handled appropriately. It's "OK" to deal directly with SASS Headquarters in the US, but Kodiak Al often has a better understanding of the situations confronting Europeans than our US staff does. He can be reached by e-mail at kodiak-al@sass.lu or at PO Box 2127,

Phone: +352-621-280-606
(from USA) 011-352-621-280-606

Cowboy Action continues to grow in Europe. Not only are there more SASS members each year, but the quality of the shooting continues to improve as well. European competitors are beginning to hold their own, and the costumes and gunsmithing are of the highest quality. In Europe there are 15 countries involved in Cowboy Action Shooting™, and any gap between the sport in Europe and the USA is closing fast! If you have the opportunity to attend a match in Europe, by all means do so. You won't be disappointed, and I guarantee, you'll have a great time! 🤠

OKLAHOMA COWGIRL IS WINNER OF THE LEGENDARY 1870'S STOCK SADDLE AND ACCOUTERMENTS

Proceeds Benefit Abused Children

By Dutch, SASS #455
Photos By Jennifer Lauppe

In the midst of a thunderstorm, at 5 p.m. Saturday, June 26, 2010, at the 29th Annual END of TRAIL, The World Championship of Cowboy Action Shooting™ and Wild West Jubilee held at Founder's Ranch, New Mexico, the drawing for The Legendary 1870's Stock Saddle and accouterments was held. Miss Ginny Mac, the young and very talented singer/song writer/musician from Ft. Worth, Texas, who along with her band was performing at END of TRAIL, reached deep into the raffle drum and drew out the winning ticket stub, #1336. Oklahoma Gold, SASS Life Member #19727, aka Tammie Durfey, of Beaver, OK was the lucky winner!

Tammie is a winning Mounted Shooter, CMSA Life Member Card #278. A Senior Ladies Level 4 competitor, she lives on a ranch, is a working cowgirl handling cattle almost daily, owns and trains horses, is an announcer for arena sports and activities, and has traveled throughout the country competing in Mounted Shooting matches. She is one very happy winner and has already put the saddle to good use on the ranch and in the arena on her good Paint horse, Cowboy Gold.

"To say I was thrilled would be putting it mildly. I have purchased Happy Trails tickets in various drawings for several years with the hope of winning, but more with the idea of helping a worthy cause. To win anything is special, but a prize like this is truly a blessing," stated Tammie.

Saddle winner, Oklahoma Gold, with legendary 1870s Stock Saddle and her paint horse, Cowboy Gold, on her home ranch.

The legendary and magnificent 1870's Colorado style stock saddle was made by superb saddle maker and leather artist, Will Ghormley of Des Moines, IA. Included with the saddle were a Calvary pattern combination halter/bridle complete with a replica Calvary bit, reins, lead strap, and Officer's rosettes. Also included were a pair of matching single strap saddle pockets, a breast strap with a brass heart in the center, a rifle scabbard with an EMF Model '92 .45 Colt lever action rifle with an octagon barrel, a saddle blanket, and period correct grass rope lariat. Also included was a unique custom deluxe oak saddle stand hand crafted by Terry Kirk.

Proceeds from the drawing benefit the Happy Trails Children's Foundation and Cooper Home for abused children. The Happy Trails Children's Foundation is a charitable non-profit organization under section 501 (c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. All donations are tax deductible to the extent allowed by law. The kids at the Cooper Home offer a huge THANK YOU to everyone who bought tickets for the legendary 1870s Stock Saddle. Your support is sincerely appreciated!

The New Long Hunter Shooting System by Kirkpatrick Leather Co.

What does it take to make a truly great CAS gun rig?

The knowledge learned from almost 60 years in the leather business along with the experience of competitive shooters. Working with some of the top shooters in the country we have created some great Cowboy action rigs. We asked shooters to help us create better holsters and they were more than happy to oblige. Calling a rig a competition rig and asking people to use it is not what we are about. Our Cowboy Action gunbelts are the results of trial and error and a collaboration between quality maker and experienced shooter. The new LII-09 is our newest holster resulting from such a great partnership.

Features developed after years of practice and study of the game.
Long Hunter Rigs are designed by shooters for shooters.

New! Exclusive slotted screw variable retention.

Wide skirt paddles distribute weight for added comfort.

Angled away from body for unobstructed draw.

Kydex lined for durability & shape.

Belt channel prevents holster movement.

Flared out holster top.

Available in over 10 different configurations.

Exposed trigger guard and rear sight for off hand draw.

2 inch drop & slight muzzle forward cant.

Heavy duty fully lined 2 3/4" belt.

Adjustable bullet slide w/shell stop.

Full welt construction double stitched stress points.

$440.00

Jim Finch, a.k.a. Long Hunter, has been at the top of Cowboy Action shooting for the last 7 years. He has won both National and World titles as well as numerous regional matches. As a top shooter and Cowboy Action instructor, Jim has sent many thousands of rounds down range. His experience throughout his shooting and training career has provided him with an understanding of what works and what doesn't.

Always looking to improve his skills and equipment, Long Hunter came to us with a new holster idea. Instead of just making a one size fits all rig why not offer a choice that will cater to a shooters individual style but still retain all of the features needed for a gun belt to be functional in the world of competitive shooting. With this in mind we created the new 2009 Long Hunter shooting system.

We introduced the Long Hunter gun rig in 2004. Comfortable, functional and very competitive, it has served many shooters well for the last 5 years. Since then we have made a few changes to improve the original design. The new 2009 version has a metal insert in the skirt to keep the pistol comfortably away from the body. This feature provides a draw unobstructed by the shotgun belt and presents the gun for a full shooting grip. Another feature is the retention screw and holster body lining. The tension screw allows modification of drag the holster has on the revolver and the lining insures the holster shape for years of use.

The Long Hunter rig is now available in 6 different configurations for both men and women. You can order the original Long Hunter or you can get a rig in a strongside with crossdraw, a double crossdraw (worn in reverse for muzzle forward cant), a B-Western model with more drop, a muzzle forward with crossdraw and even a 1911 rig for Wild Bunch competitions. All holsters are designed for the Long Hunter rig and will work on the original belt. Also, the new womens belt with contour for hips and adjustable length will interchange with any of the new holsters. Below are examples of the options available to fit your shooting style.

Choose your Long Hunter pieces and create your own custom rig.

Step 1. Choose your gun belt. Step 2. Choose your primary holster. Step 3. Choose your secondary holster. Step 4. Go shoot!

REGION'S ONLY OLD WEST FESTIVAL RETURNS THIS FALL

Cincinnati, OH – Strap on your boots and head on out to a place where scenes out of a John Wayne western come alive as the Old West Festival returns to its permanent site just 15 minutes from I-275, east of Cincinnati. The third annual Old West Festival—running weekends September 11 to October 10—transports visitors back in time to a Dodge City Wild West town circa 1878.

The Old West and a good ol' fashioned gunfight go hand-in-hand. So, back by popular demand, four times daily starting at High Noon, the Big Irons Rangers return with their gunfight re-enactments. When the smoke settles and calm returns to the historic town, the Rangers will demonstrate trick shooting. In between shows, they and other period interpreters will be walking the grounds to meet visitors. Oh, don't forget to come dressed in your best western garb, as there will be a costume contest daily at 1:00 sharp.

The town will also be abuzz with period music on several stages. You'll enjoy the sounds of the 1800's with Changing Tymes and Gunpowder Creek, as well as Raison d'Etire, a trio mixing traditional folk songs with acapella swing tunes and Shaker hymns. Bob Ford and the Ragamuffins will get patrons stomping their feet daily. No doubt you'll hear something you can sing along with, and they all might even take a request or two.

Other performers will be about town as well. Professor Faris' Magic show will amaze, bewilder, and astonish you. While enjoying a beer, sarsaparilla, or root beer at the Long Branch Saloon, folks will no doubt get a "kick" out of Madam Gigi's Outrageous French Cancan Dancers. Patrons can also sit back and enjoy a good old-fashioned melodrama, The Villain's Deception.

After whetting your whistle, venture out into the prairie, where you can find talented artisans and period settlers selling their wares. Or, head into town to the pool and dance hall, western clothing store, vintage photo emporium, and old-fashioned candy store.

The Old West Festival's a grand time for the youngin's, too. At 10:15 a.m. each day, the kiddies can get sworn in as town deputies. They will also enjoy old-timey puppet shows, storytelling, and sing-alongs. The youngsters can also participate in games, pan for gold, take a ride on the train, ride horses or ponies, and cross the frontier in a covered wagon.

New to this year's festival will be a riding area featuring rodeo drill team shows by The Ohio Top Hands, The Renegade Cowgirls, and Buckeye Cowgirls. These talented cowgirls and their trained steeds will set the area ablaze and energize the crowd as they perform unique routines set to music.

The Old West Festival runs Saturdays and Sundays, September 11 to October 10 from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. The Festival is located at 1449 Greenbush Cobb Road between Mt. Orab and Williamsburg, Ohio just off St. Rt. 32. For more information, please visit www.oldwestfestival.com or call 1-866-WEST-FES (1-866-937-8337). Old West Festival is also on Twitter and Facebook.

Cost is $10 general admission, $6 for children ages 6 to 12, and children under 5 are free.

learned how to swim in our pond. We so enjoyed watching him grow up, catching frogs and fish, bagging his first deer, graduating from High School, getting started in Cowboy Action Shooting™, and now joining the Army. He has been such a help to us in recent years, lending a helping hand when needed. It says in Proverbs 17:6 "Children's children are a crown to the aged, and parents are the pride of their children." Isaac's dad, Gold Tooth Dave, and I got together to shoot a match at the Saginaw Six Shooters with him before he shipped off to Boot Camp.

Remember to pray for our troops. For over a year now I have made it my practice to pray daily for our armed forces, and those in public office. My prayer is that the LORD our God would watch over our troops, protect them from harm, and go ahead of them to win the war for us. Then I pray that our officials, both elected and appointed, would be peo-

If they will not honor God, and honor our Constitution, and have integrity then I pray that the LORD will remove them from their position and replace them with people that will. # SONS OF THE PIONEERS CELEBRATE 75 YEARS IN SHOW BUSINESS

In 2009, The Sons of the Pioneers, the most famous singing group in Western Music, celebrated their 75th Anniversary in show business.

The original group was founded by an aspiring cowboy singer named Leonard Slye, later to become "The King of the Cowboys" film star, Roy Rogers. In 1934 the original group consisted of Roy, Bob Nolan, and Tim Spencer. That same year brothers Hugh and Karl Farr joined the group.

They became an instant success with their many recordings, radio transcriptions, personal appearances, and later films.

They appeared in over 100 films, most of them with their founder, Cowboy Star

Roy Rogers, along with George "Gabby" Hayes and the "Queen of the West," Dale Evans (later Mrs. Roy Rogers).

Over the past 75 years, they have had many hit songs, including Cool Water, Way Out There, and Tumbling Tumbleweeds; all are featured on this wonderful Collector's DVD.

The group today is led by 40 year Veteran, Luther Nallie, along with Gary LeMaster, Ken Lattimore, Randy Rudd, Ricky Boen, and Mark Abbott.

Today they are still going strong and adding new fans at each show.

The price for this must have DVD is $18.99 and can be ordered at:

FABULOUS COSTUMES AT THE 29TH ANNUAL END OF TRAIL

By Cat Ballou, SASS #55

The 29th END of TRAIL has come and gone and its numerous costume contests are now history. Was it successful? You bet! Of course, the old adage that a “picture is worth a thousand words” still holds true, so take a gander at the fabulous costumes shown in this article.

However, I do want to describe some of the winning costumes to help you understand just why the judges chose them to be the best out of so many wonderful outfits presented.

Wild Bunch Costume Contest

Man With No Name took first place dressed exactly like Ernest Borgnine’s character, Dutch, from “The Wild Bunch.” Second place, Tumbleweed Thom, and third place, Holy Smoke Harmon, looked very spiffy in their Expeditionary Force military uniforms.

Shotglass won first place in the Ladies category dressed in a “sleazy” flamenco outfit and presented herself as General Mapache’s “white meat.” Second place Nellie Blue dressed as the regiment Colonel’s daughter, and third place, Dixie Bell, attired in black, explaining she was an older working girl down Mexico way. The film didn’t have any prominent female characters, so their presentations were all quite original.

Soiled Doves and Parlor House Madams

Shotglass’ talents shine in this contest. She organizes it, picks the judges, puts together the forms, and is Mistress of Ceremonies. The Soiled Dove category represents the younger working girls, and the Parlor House Madams are the older, but wiser, successful businesswomen in the Old and Wild West. First place Soiled Dove, Bella Spencer, with her voluptuous curves just looks the part. Second place Cookie Crumb used home baked cookies as enticement, and third place, Pixie Powder, was a young and fresh face.

Dolly Double Barrel (I don’t need to say much more!) was the first place winner, while second place, Deville Dalton, made some rather “flirtatious” moves with her parasol, and Ellie Sodbuster portrayed her establishment as more for the genteel Midwesterner.

Yes, these two contests are for the more mature audience, but they sure are fun!

Shooting Costumes, Conventioneers, Waddies, and Gun Carts

All the way from Australia, Laughing Eagle was the first place Male Shooting Costume winner. He was dressed as an Oglala Sioux warrior, complete with Buffalo headdress and “scary” face paint. Second place was Major Disaster outfitted as a US Cavalry Major circa 1871–1880. Third place Tejon Buckaroo portrayed an 1884 trail camp cook from the Lazy HJ Ranch in Wyoming.

First place Female Shooting Costume winner, Miz Annie Ross, took to the range in 1896 Turkish style bloomers, a boater hat, and a Gibson Girl updo. Second place, Pearl, decided to go swimming in her 1900 bathing costume with matching hat and parasol, and third place Perfecto Vaquera dressed as a B-Western cowgirl with chinks, gloves, boots, hat, and enough “bling” to go from working the range to a night in Las Vegas!

Eight year old Winchester Reed won first place Junior Shooting Costume with his red, white, and blue patriotic look. Second place Junior, Slicks Sharpshooter, portrayed an 1866 working cowgirl.

Hav Gunn attired as an old time bartender with apron, bar rag, and shotgun was the first place Male Conventioneer. Lt. Col. Gatewood, resplendent in a 1905 cavalry field uniform won second place, and Major Marcus Reno, outfitted as a US Cavalry officer from circa 1860–1890 was third.

Tatted Lady was first place Lady Conventioneer dressed in an 1883 Polonaise day dress with matching crocheted hat and reticule. Brandy Rose was second in an 1890’s walking dress, hat, and reticule, and Kitty Larue was third in an 1866 tapestry Civil War gown with matching hat.

Best Waddies (first place only) were Silver Jack as an authentic Argentine vaquero with poncho and lots of silver jewelry, and Ice Lady, dressed as a fur trapping mountain man.

Gun Cart Judge Creek Harding said the three winners “were of the highest quality workmanship and detail.” Ned Whiskey’s red Concord stagecoach took first place. The coach was handmade with a complete working undercarriage, and passengers painted in the windows on both sides. If you looked closely, one passenger was Sarah Palin, dressed 1880’s style, of course. Second place was Captain Cooper’s all hand tooled leather cart, and third place’s Yu Loose included book matched walnut details. Honorable Mention went to Kitty Larue’s gas powered 1898 horseless carriage with a surrey top.

Mounted

First place mounted winners were Marshal Cahill, always looking very movie B-Western and Ice

Lady as a fearsome Native American complete with war paint on her and her horse.

Best Dressed

Saturday night brings out everyone's finest outfits, and this year was no exception to the rule.

B-Western/Silver Screen Male and Female

Man With No Name, portraying Clint Eastwood's character "Bronco Billy" was first. The Brisco Kid, looking just like John Wayne in "True Grit," was second. And, Mad Doc Mark was third as a B-Western "card shark."

Kiamichi Queen dressed as Maureen O'Hara from the film, "McClintock," and won first place. Connivin' Katy Jones, as Antoinette, the "girl on the wheel with knives being thrown at her" from the "Bronco Billy" movie, was second. And, dressed B-Western with old movie details was Perfecto Vaquera who won third place.

Military

Coyote Cap as an 1880's US Cavalry officer at the end of thirty years' service was the first place winner, and Alchimista, dressed as a US Volunteer in the Spanish-American War was second.

Juniors

Flirtin' Critter's Confederate Infantry soldier's uniform, complete with rifle, canteen, and saber was the first place winner. Sugar Cookie's beautiful 1899 blue satin gown was the second place winner, and Cowboy Clay took third dressed as "the Gambler."

Couples

Cowboy Cody and Leezay Lam-

our won first place couple dressed as a Confederate officer taken captive by a lady Union soldier in 1862. Second place couple was Doc Roy and Cookie Crumb as an 1875 doctor and ranch owner who marries a "hussy" (remember she was second place Soiled Dove, too. Her cookies paid off!). Third place was a patriotic family, Second Amendment and Winchester Reed.

Men

First place Man Robber Baron's outfit was one of the most outstanding costumes I have ever seen in nearly three decades. He portrayed a very successful businessman in a 1900's morning suit, only worn before 6 PM, and elegantly appointed, down to the details of the correct coins in his pockets. Second place

NOTICE:

THE TIME TO ACT IS NOW!

Tongue Firmly Planted In Cheek

By Coyote Calhoun, SASS #201

Notice to all Taciturn Trailheads, Loquacious Lawyers, Salacious Saloon Girls, Deceitful Drummers, Pulchritudinous Prairie Maidens and other assorted Ne'er-do-wells. We are about to lose our town at Founders Ranch. We have a serious situation at hand that will surely test all our skills to rise up and save our town. Our Wild West Town won't be so wild any more. No more bank robberies, no more train hold ups, no more drunken brawls, our saloons will tumble to the ground, we will have to quit spittin', drinkin', smokin', and carousin'. And, as for the "Trashy Ladies"...Well, forget'em.

What is the cause of this downfall of our iniquities? It is the Cowboy Memorial Chapel Fund. They're raising money to build a church! Mind you not just any old church, but a proper church with a rock foundation and pews to sit on.

I even heard tell of a pipe organ, so they will be singing hymns and the like. They'll be bringing in a "Fire and Brimstone" preacher to run the devil out of town. Founders Ranch will be so clean you won't even recognize it. You'll have to wear clean pressed shirts and tip your hat to the ladies. We'll be going to church socials and sipping lemonade and the like. Disgusting!

I'll tell you boys if we don't stop it now, they will be turning the Belle Union into a School House. They'll bring in one of those ta-deta sweet schoolmarms that you just can't say no to. Peaches O'Day and the Can-Can Darlings all the way from Paris, France will not even be allowed in town. We will have to watch a Shakespeare play, whatever that is.

Why you won't even be able to find a poker chip in the Gem Saloon. They will turn it into a sewing circle, and the next thing you know, they'll be forming a Temperance League to ban that "Evil Spirit" alcohol. They'll be having marches through town with bands playing, stirrin' up the town folk ... what shall we do? They'll take over the town newspaper and only print "Good News." As for the Happy Jack Saloon, the proprietor will probably be tarred and feathered and run out of town on a rail, and the next thing you know they'll want to take our guns. How's a man to protect himself ... I ask you?

Serious times call for serious action. It is time to fight fire with fire. We must start today! What I am talking about, boys, it's time to start building a Bordello. That's right, you heard it here first. We have to start paying more attention to our vices. This needs to be a first class bordello, not just some old "tent city." It needs to be two stories and built of the finest wood with a nice balcony where the "Merchandise" can be displayed. The interior will be the finest around, with drapes from Paris and rugs from Persia. It will need a stage, for "Girly Shows" and a fine oak bar that sells good sippin' whiskey. This would be a place where you might even run into the Town Mayor or Town Council Members, if their wives aren't looking.

As for ladies, well, we'll need proper ladies as well. I heard tell there's a stagecoach coming through the pass with ladies bound for Las Vegas, and I think we could "high jack" it and bring them ladies here.

We'll also need a proper Madam to run things, and our Parlor House Madams contest at END of TRAIL will be a good place to start. A few names for the building have already been suggested such as "Cat's House," "The Queen's Palace," or "Sloan's Big Easy." Mind you, none of these names are engraved in stone ... so to speak.

So what do you say, we start our fund raising today! We must keep our town Wild and Woolly. What is a western town without a few street fights, drunken brawls, a town drunk, a Cattle Baron, a Parlor House Madam, and a few Trashy Ladies? Our fund raising will start as soon as we find one person we can trust to hang on to the money and not steal it. We can't put it in the bank 'cause it gets robbed almost every match. By the way, our first fundraiser will be a Saints and Sinners Match. All Saints will be provided with free lemonade and all Sinners will get free beer. Details to follow.

So, 'till time next time, remember - if you can't take a joke, don't play with jokers!

There is only one name for a nostalgic lever-action: Winchester.

Each of us has a desire to own a piece of the Old West. The nostalgic, weathered pages of yesteryear are best symbolized by a genuine Winchester lever-action rifle, not a mere duplicate, knockoff or imitation.

First came the timeless Model 1885 Single Shot. Then came the dignified Model 1886, capable of handling the mighty 45-70 Win. cartridge. Next was the Model 1892, a compact version with its own scaled-down double-locking system. Who can forget the dependability of the regal Model 1894, having taken more deer than any other rifle in the world. Teddy Roosevelt's "Big Medicine" Model 1895 established the standard for a heavy game rifle.

Now is your chance to own one of these pioneers of the past and begin making your own history.

GET YOUR COWBOY MEMORIAL CHAPEL TICKETS WHILE THEY LAST!

By Palaver Pete, SASS Life/Regulator #4375

Step right up ladies and gents, gather 'round while I tell you of one of the best bargains in town!

Am I selling anti-snake bite concoctions? No siree.

Am I selling anti-rheumatism medicine from the back of a traveling wagon? Not on your life!!

What I have for you is not one, not two, not three or four, but FIVE, count 'em folks, FIVE chances to win a set of specially made for the Cowboy Memorial Chapel project Lindholm Brother Praying Cowboy Spurs with large rowels.

Yes sir, Wimpy and Whiney have once again stepped up to the plate and donated FIVE pair of their hand-made spurs to the Cowboy Memorial Chapel project. They are well known for their generosity and support of our sport, and this is no exception.

Starting at END of TRAIL, we are raffling chances to win one of the five sets. Your ticket will remain in the drawing for each of the five sets, so for the price of one ticket you have five chances to win. But, with the looks of these spurs, no one will want to buy just one ticket, and given that 100% of the proceeds will go to the construction of the Memorial Chapel, not only can you win a set of gorgeous spurs, you are supporting the Chapel.

For more information, see the Spur Ad (Page 34) in this issue as to where you can send your tax deductible check to obtain your tickets (gotta be in it to win it, and the more tickets you have the better the odds!). Remember, a ticket enters you in all FIVE drawings for the spurs

The price:

One ticket for $1

Six tickets for $5

Twenty-five tickets for $20

The drawing for the five sets of spurs will be conducted at the SASS Convention in Las Vegas in December. While you don't have to be there to win it, you sure oughta go, pardes, because if you think shooting with 40, 50, or 100 folks at a time is fun, try hanging out in Las Vegas with 800 or 1000 of the best folks around!

Again, a big thank you and a tip of the ol' cowboy hat to the Lindholm brothers, Wimpy Hank Yoho, SASS #19831, and Whiney Henry Yoho, SASS #19832!

SHOTGUNS IN CIVIL WAR CATEGORY

It seems to me breechloading shotguns weren't invented until after the Civil War (1868). How about the Civil War category requiring muzzleloading shotguns? They could be charged at the loading table, then capped on the clock. The category could be limited to two shotgun targets. This would fall in line with the Spencers and Henrys loading eight rounds. Or, it could be limited to four shotgun targets so the Civil War shooter would have only one complete reload on the clock. (My fellow posse members think it's a hoot when I reload my Spenser on the clock!) It would still be fair, but not very fast since all shooters in the Civil War category would have the same limitation. It would also be a good excuse to buy another shotgun. New muzzle loading doubles are available.

Craven Cowboy wants to add Winchester Model 12's to the Wild Bunch™ discipline. We don't allow the early double action revolvers in any category even though they're period correct. The rules were stretched when '97's were added in deference to the movie, Wild Bunch. They just don't look right in any category except Wild Bunch™. I think it's too much of a stretch to add Model 12's.

The next thing someone will want to add is early Winchester 1907 auto loading rifles and from there the possibilities are limitless. After that maybe some of our members would want all guns that were around by 1913. The West was still pretty wild into the 1930's (at least here in Wyoming), so next someone would want to add all pre-WWII firearms. Thompson sub-machineguns and M1 carbines shoot pistol-sized rounds. I think the line should be drawn where it is now or SASS may turn into something unrecognizable by the Founders!

CAST BULLET QUESTIONS ...

I liked the article by Blackthorne Billy concerning cast bullets on page 40 of the June 2010 issue of The Cowboy Chronicle; however, I'd really like a little more info.

What is a good source for moly powder? I went through the Brownells and Midway catalogs, but no moly powder is listed.

I also would like to know the approximate portion of moly powder to beeswax, and is it done by weight or volume??

A Corbin HCT-2 knurling tool currently costs $139. That's a little more than a "C" note!

MY SIMILAR "B-WESTERN" CHILDHOOD

I read Capgun Kid's article, "It's the Spirit of the Game, Stupid," in the June issue of The Cowboy Chronicle. I had a similar B-Western childhood. One thing Capgun said that I disagree with was the statement "nobody brought guns to school."

In the early 1960s I attended Whitefish Bay High School in Whitefish Bay, a suburb of Milwaukee, WI. Our school had a rifle team. In fact, some schools had their own rifles and firing range. There was an indoor firing range in our school, and the local police department also used it. Schools in Wisconsin had rifle teams and held school competitions. Some of these competitions were at the annual sports show in the auditorium in downtown Milwaukee. While schools had rifle teams, nobody went crazy and shot other students, teachers, or spectators. After I graduated, my younger sister was on the rifle team, and she took my .22 rifle to school to shoot in competition. Those rifle teams and competitions are all gone.

Today guns are banned in schools, and we see more school violence and school deaths with guns. If you mention rifle teams to most teachers and school administrators, they treat you like you are crazy. What has changed in the morals, the upbringing, the religious beliefs, and the conscience of the young people of today that they even consider killing other students or any individuals? It has nothing to do with guns and everything to do with a lack of some type of moral fiber that was not learned somewhere, be it at home, school, or church.

COLONEL DAN'S POLITICAL COLUMN

Just a little while before I retired in 2003, a co-worker friend, a member of SASS, brought some issues of The Cowboy Chronicle and gave them to me. Had I known of your organization years before, I would certainly have become a member. I was born and raised in the era of 'B' westerns. I gathered and sold soda bottles, mowed lawns, hauled coal, and basically did anything I could to earn money to purchase Saturday afternoon B-Western movie tickets. Those were the days of my life, some of the happiest times, which I remember fondly.

At one of our retiree luncheons, the co-worker asked for my address. Shortly after that I started receiving his issues of The Cowboy Chronicle, and I'm indebted to my friend for giving me this gift. It has been one of the best gifts I've ever received.

This leads me into the point of my writing to you. Colonel Dan writes a monthly political column, and for your unwavering support of him I am very thankful, and I wanted to tell you since I read his last article. I should have known you would receive 'fire' even from your own members simply because some can't seem to go beyond 'party affiliation' to really see, hear, and understand what Col. Dan is saying. For standing up and accepting this fire, I'm indebted to you for providing the wise and staunch leadership The Cowboy Chronicle needs and you're presently providing.

I know the truth hurts sometimes, but truth is the ultimate victim when we fail to stand for our God given rights. As Col. Dan said in quoting Plato in the May 2010 issue: "One of the penalties for refusing to participate in politics is you end up being governed by your inferior." Col. Dan then elaborates on inferior. This is something you, Tex and Cat Ballou, will not have to fret yourselves over, as you've proven to be in a class from a cut above the ordinary. Thank you for that.

When I read my first issue provided by my friend, I eventually ran across Col. Dan's column. After reading several issues and finding he was a regular contributor, I realized he was saying what I was thinking and never being able to put into words. After reading of statistics elsewhere of the whole of America, I finally understood there are millions more out in this great nation that feel the way I do. America needs to forever keep the ink to supply the pens of such great patriotic writers as Col. Dan. When I receive my friend's gift of his issue of The Cowboy Chronicle, I immediately search out Colonel Dan's articles, simply because it helps keep my hopes alive and not to relinquish my faith in those who've earned it.

So, it is we, the majority of the readers of The Cowboy Chronicle, who will salute you, Tex, Cat Ballou, Colonel Dan, and the other fine articles provided by some great writers in your body of news that's so prominent in the lives of the readers of this great paper. The articles of historical value also give us insight to the days of yore, which has drawn us to this gathering. I only wish I were much younger, but, alas, it's still in my heart anyway.

I give you my greatest thanks for being the stewards of The Cowboy Chronicle, and I give you my prayers for strength, continued wisdom, and honor for having the insight to recognize quality when you see, read, and hear it. You have some very good writers and in the field of politics, but I find no one who will surpass Col. Dan.

God bless you, your efforts to lead the readers of your paper in the truth, and may your detractors repent their inability to see what great truths you're allowing them to find, because they have to go no further than The Cowboy Chronicle to get it. You're way ahead of the mainstream media, for they've lost sight of what is still most important in America—truth, freedom, and the documents which have given us these things.

Again, God bless all of you, and I'm already anxiously awaiting the June 2010 issue of The Chronicle.

HIGH PLAINS DRIFTER

I was interested in the new categories you posted in The Cowboy Chronicle.

We have a side category many shooters enter in the northwest at local shoots. It is called "High Plains Drifter."

It is all blackpowder cartridge—five shots revolver, five shots rifle, and a double-barreled hammered shotgun. Basically, you shoot the first five revolver targets in the "regular" stage design. The rifle is a trap door Springfield, Spencer, or High Wall with reduced loads loaded one at a time. One shoots the first five rifle targets in the stage design, and the shotgun is shot in accordance with the stage design. What it does is let people use the trap door Springfield, Spencer, and High Walls many shooters have in their gun lockers. Time-wise it works out the same as a stage that shoots 10, 10, and 4+. The harmony of the shoot is not disrupted.

ANOTHER EXCELLENT Cowboy Chronicle

PRODUCT REVIEW BY TUOLUMNE LAWMAN

Another Bullseye! I enjoy every one of Tuolumne's articles and read them first. His great May 2010 Rock Island 1911 review was no exception. I would, however, like to clear up an apparent typo; not to criticize him (Lord knows I can't speak a sentence w/o a mistake) but only so your readers who aren't as familiar with 1911 evolutionary history aren't left with any incorrect perceptions.

When describing the changes circa 1924-1926 from the 1911 to the 1911A1, the article stated a lanyard ring was added to the new arched mainspring housing and a wide spur hammer was introduced. Actually the lanyard ring (on military models) and wide spur began with the introduction of the Model 1911 in 1911. The ring was continued on the 1911A1 military models, but the wide spur was eliminated on the 1911A1 (gradually as inventories were depleted).

In addition to those changes above and the relief cuts added to the trigger guard area of the 1911, the sight blade and rear sight notch were widened, the grip safety was lengthened, and the hammer spur was shortened to prevent pinching the web area of one's hand, and triggers were shortened for smaller hands in addition to the relief cuts mentioned.

All of this is minutia except when one is shopping for a 1911 and trying to determine if that "good deal" is truly an original 1911 or 1911A1, or is it what we call a "Mix-master gun" and maybe not such a good deal!

I also "converted" my worn 1957 1911A1 Colt Government Model to a 1911 with a short, wide spur hammer and flat housing parts changes as Tuolumne did, plus the addition of a long trigger, but left the long grip safety and wider sights on the gun; a perfect "Wild Bunch" shooter for me.

Thanks for the great product reviews!

AN OLD TIMER PROVEN WRONG - AGAIN!

An old timer proved wrong again, as I've changed my mind about there being too many categories. In the May issue of The Cowboy Chronicle three new categories that have merit were mentioned in Tex's editorial, "A Little Something More." Sodbuster is a good idea for new shooters at the club level. I will only point out that many '97 shooters single load. Some clubs could supply a loner pistol as we did in times past.

The Outlaw category shooting the rifle and shotgun from the hip is fine. I think the pistol should be arm extended shoulder high. This would stop the "pistol was above the whatever" penalties.

The Civil War is the best of the three, as most Civil War re-enactors have very little chance for live firing.

Now that these categories have been identified, we have to nurture and keep them!

LOOK (OUT) FOR YOUNG GEORGIA SHOOTERS AT END OF TRAIL

By Witch Doctor, SASS #70062

I love this sport of Cowboy Action Shooting™. I mean I really love this sport. The only thing wrong with it is most of us are getting “on a bit” in years. If we’re going to keep playing the game, we need to attend more to our responsibility of encouraging younger shooters.

While at END of TRAIL last year (2009), I noticed Florida had many young shooters competing. I won’t argue the competence of young Florida shooters such as Hawk Eye Gin, Badlands Drifter, and his little brother, Throw Down Kid. However, I did keep wondering why none of the good young shooters from Georgia were there. Florida kids were bringing home the buckles, and Georgia kids were home doing ... something else. I discovered the Florida kids were sponsored by Florida Cowboy Action Shooters. Major Mishap had started a fund to help their young shooting stars get out to the World Championships. Going to END of TRAIL can be an expensive trip. If Florida can do something, so can Georgia. The seeds of the “Georgia Young Shooters’ Fund” were planted.

When I came home, I started talking to some cowboy friends about what Florida had done. I was hoping to find someone that would start a similar project here in Atlanta. Dirt Merchant and Shifty Eye pointed out to me we already had someone (me), and they would help me any way they could! I started out with a nine year old and a bucket. Joe Cartwheel and I carried around the bucket before the safety meetings at different clubs. After a few months, we had collected five or six hundred dollars. Mule Camp Cowboys had their Christmas party, and Dash Caliber donated a gun he had just won. It was auctioned off to benefit the fund. At that time, I wrote an application blank that doubled as a contract between the fund and the kids. This is when a small idea became a big idea.

Big John Denny’s beloved wife of over forty years was lost to cancer in the early spring. John graciously requested of family and friends that donations be made to the young shooters fund in lieu of flowers. Nine hundred more dollars went into the fund. The fund was renamed the Penny Denny Memorial Young Shooters' Fund.

At this same time, Dirt Merchant was talking to Mike Kirkpatrick about our project. Mike donated a one of a kind—beyond beautiful—hand-made by Mike—full of silver conchos—Buscadero rig. We sold all 250 of the raffle tickets for that $900 beauty and had people begging for more. To see it was to drool. By sheer luck it was won by a B-Western shooter, the 'Nooga Kid. Dirt Merchant, Shifty Eye, Click Bang, Dash Caliber, and Abigail Rose were also big contributors with merchandise for silent auctions or cowboy yard sales.

END of TRAIL, you have some young Georgia sponsored shooters coming your way. At our Georgia State Match, we were able to award $600 to each of the following youngsters—Olin Winchester, Joe Cartwheel, and Slick's Sharp Shooter. They received checks for $500 to offset travel expenses, and $50 cash to spend with our own vendors. My first suggestion was Buffalo Western Wear because Ron sponsors any and every event we have. The last $50 cash is supposed to go to keeping the ice cream vendors at END of TRAIL happy. I have shot at END of TRAIL with the five-time Frontier Cartridge champion, Silver City Rebel, so I have seen firsthand how much ice cream it takes to fuel a world champion. In case you don't know, that's a lot of ice cream! I recently asked whether Olin and Joe were getting excited about going to Albuquerque. Their dad, Hal A. Looyah, said Olin was starting to worry about the level of competition, but actually they should be worried about him, and Joe just wanted to get out there so he could get started on the ice cream. Joe is nine years old, and he is a sponsored shooter ... how cool is that?

The 2011 fund already has over $2000 in it. There is already another gun, donated by J.B. Gunnison, waiting for auction, and there are two new "chairpersons," Dancing Duelist and Pot Shot Parker. Next year, Joe Cartwheel will be 10 years old, and a veteran. Watch out world because we will have the money to send him back. If you happen to see him out there this year, ask to see a cartwheel. It is not just his alias, but please hold his ice cream for him.

Post Script

Three years ago, when Dirt Merchant tied a Dooley string on my arm at Mule Camp, I asked what my duties and obligations were. Dirt and Ringo Fire told me the same thing. It is expected of a Dooley Gang member that one "shoot hard, work hard, and play hard." I was told the most important attribute—in fact the only absolute requirement—of a Dooley is a willingness to help other shooters and to promote the sport of Cowboy Action Shooting™ at any and every opportunity. When I started the Young Shooters' Fund, I had no thought of it having anything to do with the Dooley Gang. I realized different when I got the photos of our State Match back—it was right in front of me. Purple garters were showing on Witch Doctor, Shifty Eye, and the East Coast Grand Poobah of the Dooley crowd, Dirt Merchant. Work hard and always help other shooters. So now, I am making a Georgia Dooley Gang challenge to the other 48 states (my math is OK, but Florida is already in the game) to send your kids to END of TRAIL to play with our kids. We'll be out there waiting ... 🤠

This is the letter I sent out to our club newsletters when the program was started. Let's get our young shooters to END of TRAIL

Florida mopped up last year at END of TRAIL with their young shooters. What was the difference between young Florida shooters and young Georgia shooters? The Florida kids had a plan and were out there shooting, and the Georgia kids were home doing something else. Florida supported getting their kids out west, and we did not. We need to get our kids to END of TRAIL.

All of us love watching the kids learn our sport and then marvel at how fast they can beat us at our own game. I want to back them up with some financial support for getting to the world championships. Dirt Merchant, Shifty Eye, and I are starting a fund to do just that. The proceeds of these fund raisers will be equally divided among all eligible juniors and buckaroo-aged kids who are signed up for END of TRAIL by April 1st, 2010. The intention is to help pay any entry fees, and assist with traveling expenses for them and their families. If you have never had the opportunity to make this trip, you might be shocked at the overall cost.

Eligible shooters are defined as meeting the following criteria:

- Entered in a Junior or Buckaroo category at END of TRAIL by April 1
- Member of any of the four Atlanta Area SASS sanctioned clubs.

River Bend Rough Riders
Cherokee Cowboys
Mule Camp Cowboys
Doc Holliday's Immortals

It does not matter where a kid lives in the state, as long as they are a Georgia resident. He or she must be a member of at least one of these clubs and have shot in a minimum of six matches (total—any mix of the four clubs—six on four) between April 1, 2009 and April 1, 2010. For the most part, cowboy rules apply, and it is a matter of personal honor in reporting eligibility. We all know which kids we see shooting, and these are the ones we want to support. However, we don't all see the kids that are very active at clubs we don't often visit. I am a member of all four of Atlanta clubs, and I know we have some kids who can bring home some buckles. If the young shooter is not able to make the trip at the last minute, it is expected the money will be refunded to start the fund for 2011.

To get things started, Dirt Merchant is donating a case of Remington STS Dooley gang shotgun shells for auction or raffle at River Bend Shifty Eye is donating a Mec Jr. 600 12 gauge reloader.

I plan to walk around before and after shoots with a bucket, feel free to drop a bit of green into it. We started this at Griffin in November with Joe Cartwheel carrying around a donation basket. He is so darn cute; he collected over $167 before the shoot, during lunch, and at awards. He plans on shooting in Albuquerque. After the first of the year (when you need to clean your closet or gun room out to make room for all of the Cowboy stuff Santa brought), there will be a yard sale at each venue. Bring your donation, mark a price on it, and we'll leave merchandise out for purchase during the shoot. Some of my very favorite accouterments were purchased that way. I love remembering which of my cowboy friends owned it first. Other fund raising ideas are welcome.

I want to see some championship buckles flashing around in the Georgia sun next year ...

THE NATIONAL CIVIL WAR NAVAL MUSEUM

By Cree Vicar Dave, SASS Life #49907

When considering the Civil War, the attention of many of us is drawn toward the battlefields. But, the war was also fought on the sea. A great place to experience the ships, firearms, and battles of the War Between the States is the "National Civil War Naval Museum." While spending the winter in Georgia I had an opportunity to visit the Museum with Bobby Jones, a friend I met while attending a little Country Church near Buena Vista, Georgia.

The Museum is located at 1002 Victory Drive on the east side of Columbus, Georgia. There is a side-wheeler out front that welcomes you into the parking area. The first thing that caught my attention while walking up to the entrance was the row of huge cannons. A couple of them were close to four yards long, with a bore I would estimate as a good twelve inches because it was well over my 9" span.

At the door I was happy they offered a senior discount being I'm an old timer. Inside there is a very nice gift shop offering Civil War Naval books, clothing, model ships, and so forth. There was also an early Gatling gun on display. The best deal I found for a souvenir was an oval copper coin that you could make yourself by putting two quarters and a penny into the slots and turning the crank.

On the lower level are the remains of the CSS Jackson and CSS Chattahoochee. The CSS Jackson was the largest of the South's ironclads. It tipped the scale at nearly four million pounds. The ship was still under construction at the end of the war. The CSS Chattahoochee was a 130-foot long gunboat that patrolled the Chattahoochee River. Both were sunk by the Union Army. They were recovered in the 1960's. The foundry in Columbus furnished parts for these ships.

There are reproductions of ships that you can walk through to get a feel of an ole salt's life. On display are the USS Hartford, USS Monitor, and the CSS Albemarle. Inside the CSS Albemarle mock up you can view a movie depicting several Civil War Naval Battles. This ironclad had a cannon that could be pivoted inside to be fired out of a porthole in the front or on the side. The hull was made from 24 inch thick oak covered with two layers of iron.

There are many Civil War artifacts on display; uniforms, flags, small arms, swords, and naval tack. This was a time when steam was taking the place of wind power. The Bessemer process for mass production of steel was patented in 1855. In this time frame steel was not readily available, especially in the South, so iron or brass were used in massive quantities. These "Iron Clads," half submerged vessels, were the forerunners of the submarine.

Although submarines were not used effectively until WWI, the Confederate Navy was the first to use a submarine to engage and sink a warship in battle. The HL Hunley was built in 1863 by a private company out of an iron steam boiler and was hand powered. On a daring night run, February 17, 1864, the Hunley planted a torpedo in the side of the USS Housatonic, backed off, and detonated it. The resulting blast sunk both vessels. After 136 years of resting, the Hunley was located on the bottom of the Charleston, SC harbor. It was raised on August 8, 2000 and is now on its way to being restored.

When you think of their limited knowledge of metal, mechanical power, and underwater travel, one has to marvel at the ingenuity of this time period. If you plan on being in the area, take an afternoon to see this museum.

I was privileged to witness something amazing over Easter weekend; it was grace. Before I explain, let me provide a little background information ...

Shawn and Joanne Gannon, along with Johnny Watts, hosted the First Annual Wild West Days at Rough Cut, the French Broad Outpost Dude Ranch in Del Rio, Tennessee (www.frenchbroaddriver.com). If you were unfortunate enough to miss this shindig, you have my sincere sympathies. If it is held again next year, don't miss it. These folks put on an event like you've never seen before.

Chuckwagons competed among themselves cookin' up beans, beef, and cobblers. Cowboys demonstrated Cowboy Action Shooting™. There was a 70-yard rifle shot contest (the prize was an all expense paid weekend at the dude ranch). Cowboy Mounted Shooters demonstrated their skills with horses and guns, and there were twice daily reenactments by area SMSS members of the Gunfight at the O.K. Corral and the Murder of Wild Bill Hickok.

Vendors of every western ilk were in attendance: Jackson's Western Store, Gunpowder Creek Trading Post, and Hamilton's Dry Goods provided clothing. Circle M Saddlery had plenty of leatherwork from which to choose. Richard Suffrage had his blacksmithing forge set up. Val Wunder demonstrated her beautiful beading techniques in a great period canvas tent. Grayce and Richard Wolcott of Silver Lace brought their wonderful silversmithing and jewelry products. Mike Allee had various servicing up adult libations in the afternoons and evenings.

On top of all this, the folks at Rough Cut lined up some of the best entertainment around, and I do mean entertainment in the truest sense of the word. Acts or performers were scheduled pretty much non-stop each day from morning to early evening.

The Native American duo of East Meets West was phenomenal. Jim Sawgrass and Little Big Mountain had their Native American village, which is so completely detailed it takes two to three days to set it all up. An authentic grass hut, teepee, and cavalry camp were assembled alongside hides, tools, clothing, and weapons. These guys stayed in full Native American dress, including war paint, each day and evening. They put on fun and educational performances at least twice a day, explaining and showing the differences between Eastern and Western Native Americans' dress, weapons, food, fire building, and other various ways of life.

Johnny Hotshot Mincks, the current SASS/WWPAS World Champion Gun Spinner, put on one heck of a show several times a day. Man-oh-man can this guy handle a gun! Aside from amazing the audience—young and old alike—with his dexterity using guns, whips, and an occasional rogue balloon, he was 'armed and hilarious' from start to finish ... a true showman.

Professor B.T. Farquar and his lovely assistant, Polecat Annie, performed several times a day with their beautiful medicine wagon as a

AMAZING GRACE IN DEL RIO

By Lady Tombstone, SASS #54252

backdrop. The professor entertained audiences with his old-time medicine show, peddling music and mirth, with a bit of singing, and a smattering of magic thrown in. Annie demonstrated and taught Indian games of stick balancing and tossing to the delight of many children ... and a few just young at heart.

When not occupied with their own performances, all of these entertainers along with the SMSS cowboys, Hopalong Cassidy look alike Joe "Hoppy" Sullivan, and the wonderful John Wayne impersonator, Bob "Duke" Seiber, wandered among visitors welcoming them and talking to kids and adults about the West and its way of life.

The stage performers were impressive as well. Michael Martin Murphey gave two great performances on Thursday; one in the afternoon geared toward kids, and one that evening for the grown-ups. Asleep at the Wheel, the famous western swing band, delivered a toe-tapping, hand-clapping, fun performance Saturday evening.

Waddie Mitchell, the renowned cowboy poet, was present the entire four days of the event. His cowboy poetry was quite simply mesmerizing. Audiences found themselves entranced by great yarns ... only to realize that the verbal picture he so skillfully painted rhymed as well. Some tales were funny, some were tragic, some were poignant, and every single one was marvelous. His talent is a gift to listeners ... no two ways about it.

Belinda Gail, aptly regarded as America's Western Sweetheart, was there for the entire event as well. She gave multiple performances each day and was the headliner on Friday evening. The crowd loved every minute of her singing. This lady is sweetness personified and has a perpetual—and sincere—smile on her face. When Belinda sang Amazing Grace, there wasn't a dry eye in the crowd as the gorgeous outdoor mountain setting was the perfect stage for her crystal clear voice.

Sunday, Easter morning, Cowboy Pastor Gene Blankenship, gave a beautiful church service with Belinda Gail supplying her special gift of song. The crisp mountain air, cloudless blue sky, fresh sprigs of flowers, leaves, and grass, with the occasional piercing call of a hawk overhead all contributed to a truly glorious Easter morning service.

Now, for the explanation of my first sentence. This incredible event didn't play out exactly as Shawn, Joanne, Johnny, and many others hoped it would. Due to several and various circumstances, few people actually came to the event. Where thousands were expected, only a few hundred attended. We've all had the fear of "What if you throw a party and no one comes?" For these folks that nightmare became a reality Easter weekend. Untold man-hours and dollars had gone into the preparation for this event, a new stage was built, grounds were prepared, entertainment contracted, and staff was on hand, all to serve the throngs of anticipated visitors. The letdown was heartbreaking.

Along with the low attendance, conditions were ripe for true tests of character. The entertainers and vendors—and hosts for that matter—could have bowed up at the lack of visitors (and subsequent lack of money flow). They could have thrown up their hands in frustration, considering it a waste of their time and weekend. They could have been primadonnas and acted rudely or childishly, or they could have been insulted and canceled, or stormed off.

Instead, in typical cowboy fashion, the vast majority showed amazing grace by keeping a smile on their faces, continuing to welcome, entertain, and delight the small audience that came—giving it their all and then some. This attitude was accompanied by an outpouring of support and empathy for the understandably devastated hosts of the event.

Easter weekend, I was fortunate to hear Belinda Gail sing Amazing Grace, but more importantly, I was privileged to witness multiple acts of it as well. 🐾

Whooper and The Missus

ONE POT CHUCK

Cooking Up Some Tasty Grub Like Cookie Did Out On The Trail

By Whooper Crane, SASS #52745, and The Missus

Today we're going to cook up a really great-tasting breakfast in our big cast iron skillet. Now, skillets don't come with built-in legs like camp Dutch Ovens, so we have to come up with something else to keep the bottom of the pan off the hot coals.

The easiest fix here is a lid stand like the one on the left in the picture. If you don't have any lid stands handy, use nature's own "lid stands," three tennis ball-sized rocks like those on the right in the picture. (Just be sure to not get your rocks directly from a stream or they might explode when they're heated!)

Lid stands keep your skillet off your coals

Beans and ham warming up

Lefty Dude's Red Rock Breakfast

- Ingredients
- 1 1/2 Quarts Water
  - 1 Packaged Ham Steak from the Supermarket
  - Jumbo Eggs (2 per cowboy)
  - Pepper Jack cheese (2 slices per cowboy)
  - 1 Can of Bush's Black Bean Fiesta Salsa (we prefer salsa verde)
  - Olive or other vegetable oil

- Directions
- Fire up some charcoal and lay a bed of 10-12 glowing coals.
  - Over the coals, heat up water in your cast iron skillet.
  - Before opening your can of beans, remove the paper label and scrape off the glue on the outside of the can with a dull knife, then remove the top of the can and stir up the beans in the can.
  - Put the can in the hot water to warm up the beans.
  - Cut your ham steak into 4" X 6"

Spoon beans right onto cooking omelet

This breakfast will stick to your ribs!

slices and lay them up against the side of the can to warm up ... one slice per cowboy.

When the beans and ham slices are hot, remove them from the skillet. Pour the hot water out of the skillet. (Save it for making soup for lunch or supper).

Put the skillet back on the coals. Thoroughly coat inside of skillet with a couple tablespoons of oil.

To make each person's breakfast, stir up an omelet egg mixture of 1/4 cup of water with 2 eggs. Pour the omelet egg mixture into the skillet and cook for 20-30 seconds or until it starts setting up.

Spoon a bunch of the beans and some salsa onto your cooking omelet and then fold the omelet over the beans.

Lay one of the ham slices on a plate. Cook the omelet another 10-15 seconds and then flop the omelet right on top of the ham slice.

Lay 2 slices of your Pepper Jack cheese on the omelet.

Spoon some more beans on top of the cheese.

This breakfast is enough for one hungry cowboy or cowgirl. Repeat for as many mouths as you have to feed.

HINT: The folks in Red Rock like to start with a slice of buttered sourdough toast under the ham slice for a really filling meal!

This cowboy breakfast is a wonderful way to start your morning ... before heading to the shooting range!

Gunslingers Galore!

Harlan, who was called a “gun slinger” by other characters in that 1920 cowboy epic. However, guys like Bronco Billy Anderson played gunfighters as far back as 1903 in the first Western, The Great Train Robbery.

Now, we have to remember, a

Cowboy from Great Train Robbery

Up ‘til now we’ve pretty much zeroed in on just one cowboy to represent our Sidekick or Heavy for the month.

This time, however, we’re going to look at a type of Western character whom we always seek out in Horse Opera movies, TV shows, video games, and literature. We’re talking about Gunslingers.

Now, the term Gunslinger (or even Gunfighter) is a rather new one. Back in the “Cowboy Days” (1860s – 1890s) the guys who were fast with their guns were called gunmen or pistoleers or shootists. The Gunslinger/Gunfighter terms came about in the infant days of Western flicks.

Early movie star, William Farnum, played the title role of Drag gunfighter could be good OR bad, depending on whom he was working for. And in real life, many gunfighters worked both sides of the aisle. A couple well known examples of this are Curly Bill Brocius who was an out-and-out outlaw at the same time he was a Deputy Sheriff under Johnny Behan, and our old buddy Doc Holliday who wore a badge on more than one occasion. And, as we know, the Earps crossed over the line whenever it was convenient!

Be that as it may, movie gunslingers always get our attention, whether they’re wearing a white or black hat. Take Yul Brynner for example. In Westworld, Yul played the evil robot “Gunslinger” who had a mind of his own (sorta), while in The Magnificent Seven he played hero gunslinger Chris Adams who used his incredible gunfighting talents against Eli Wallach and his unruly banditos.

Yul Brynner

In REAL life, gunslingers seldom faced off against other gunslingers. In REEL life, they do it all the time. How about Alan Ladd and Jack Palance goin’ at it in Shane ... or Gary Cooper and Ian MacDonald having at it in High Noon ... or The Duke and Tom Tyler settling things on the street in Stagecoach?

There are TV heroes we have to point out as gunslingers, too: Marshal Dillon ... Paladin ... Bat Masterson ... The Lone Ranger!!!!

We’ve seen Clint Eastwood portraying gunslingers young and old, from his early “Dollars” flicks up to his role as William Munny in The Unforgiven (for which he garnered an Oscar nomination as Best Actor, and won an Oscar as Best Director). I suppose I shouldn’t mention Clint’s Dirty Harry movies since they’re not Westerns, but can you think of a more obvious gunslinger than Harry?

Some other great gunslinger parts were handled by the likes of Kevin Costner as Charlie Waite in Open Range, Ed Harris as Virgil Cole in Appaloosa, and Tom Selleck as Matthew Quigley in Quigley Down Under. (“I said I never had much use for one. Never said I didn’t know how to use it”).

Gunslingers show up today in comic books (oh, pardon me, Graphic Novels), in all sorts of video games and in music videos. But, if you ask me, they just don’t hold a candle to those tough guys, both good and bad, whom we cheered and booed at the Saturday Matinees!

HEY, PASS THE JUJUBES!

WILD BILL'S BIRTHPLACE REVISITED

By Juaquin Malone, SASS Life #44677

Juaquin Malone,
SASS Life #44677

A few years ago, I wrote an article about James "Wild Bill" Butler Hickok, and it was published in the March 2006 edition of The Catboy Chronicle. I was appalled at the time at the condition of the monument grounds and the relative lack of interest of the local residents in preserving the remnants of their local history. For those who don't remember, around 1971 the Hickok home had been burned as a training exercise for the local fire department. In addition, they burned his sister's home that had been donated to the city, and the old school house from the same era. Local residents had provided all this information, at the time I wrote the piece. Well, things have changed!

Baily Creek made a dandy

Due in part to the work of a few SASS cowboys and the threat of a nearby city usurping his image, the town has now started to embrace its history and is celebrating their most famous son. The rotting wood sculpture was replaced with a bronze sculpture executed by a local artist. The grounds are now being maintained by the state and are in much better condition than when I last visited Troy Grove (known in "Wild Bill's" time as Homer). Many of the dilapidated signs have been replaced, and in June of 2009 the bronze sculpture was dedicated. May 27, the date of his birth, was designated to be Wild Bill Hickok Day in Illinois. May 30, 2010, was set to be the day of celebration, with plans to have reenactments of some of the occurrences in Hickok's life that would coincide with what will become the annual birthday celebration, and all the reenactment planning fell to Cougar Cat, SASS #82208.

In addition to the reenactments, the days' activities included food off the grill, live music, historic cemetery tours, wagon rides, a petting zoo, and Cynthia Rosinski (the great, great grandniece of James Butler Hickok), who set up a display of family memorabilia in the Grange Hall. In the center of the town is a large park that served as the location of the celebration. Streets were blocked off and shuttles were used to bring visitors to the park.

Portraying "Wild Bill" was Bailey Creek, SASS Life #5759, the reigning Frontier Cartridge Illinois State Champion. Lead Poison Lar, SASS #29028, ably played his deputy, Mike Williams. I first met these gentlemen many years ago,

Cougar Cat made much of the event happen.

and they are both great fun to shoot with. There were other actors playing assorted roles, including SASS members Roughneck Curly, SASS #82210, Billy 2 Knives, SASS #73111, and Cougar Cat. The events to be depicted were the gunfight in Springfield, Missouri, the McCandles Massacre, and the shooting by Wild Bill of his deputy, Mike Williams.

I would like to take credit for the turnaround in Troy Grove, but I can't. It was at least partially the

COST OF COWBOY ACTION SHOOTING™

By Stonefire Slim, SASS #79869

My wife, Colorado Aspen, SASS #79868, and I have been shooting in this sport for a little over two years now, and we are both having the time of our lives. The people we have met have all been friendly and encouraging. This is the one sport in which I have participated where the experienced and really good shooters are willing to tell you how to improve and teach you their secrets. This is the case even if you are shooting in the same category and might someday become real competition for that belt buckle or wood plaque.

As new shooters, there were many costs associated with becoming fully equipped for this sport—the cost of the guns (four pistols, two rifles, and two shotguns), holsters, shotgun shell belt, gun cart, cases to transport the guns, bullet press and accessories, and let's not forget the clothing! We were very fortunate we had two mentors, Hoss Blocker, SASS #26096, and Elm Savannah, SASS #63037, who let us borrow a large majority of these items they had as spares to get us started, and even let us come over and reload ammunition on their press.

Well, two years later, we are now fully equipped to operate on our own (OK, almost; for some reason we still find the need for more clothes whenever we visit vendors at larger events). With the major upfront costs behind us, I started calculating what we were spending on an annual basis so I could figure out our budget for the future.

This calculation was based on two shooters, participating on a monthly basis, at an average of three local matches (North Carolina is blessed with numerous active clubs that all put on fun events), and one annual match (in various states). I calculated the annual matches last three days on average and require two nights' lodging. Based on these parameters, the cost of Cowboy Action Shooting™ breaks out as follows:

12 months of bullets and shotgun shells	= $1860
One year's monthly match and annual match fees	= $2760
One year's hotels, meals on the road, and transportation costs	= $5400

Shooting a clean stage in a personal best time = priceless!

So when it comes down to it, no matter what assumptions you make or how you do the math, every dollar spent that allows you to meet some of the friendliest people in the world and obtain personal satisfaction is well worth the cost! 🤠 seums, from small local ones to the Smithsonian in D.C. When I spot an old energy saving device, like a hand operated washer or a treadle sewing machine, I like to point out to the missus how much money we could be saving if she was the proud owner of one of those “green machines” of the “Good old Days.” She’s always quick to tell me her boots are not only made for walking, but can leave more of an imprint than carbon.

What brings me to marvel most about antiques (especially of the late 1800’s) are the ornate style and the quality of workmanship of the products of yore. They were true craftsmen in my book. Their tools were composed mostly of the hand-operated variety, but they turned out items of such amazing quality.

While passing through Manton, Michigan after a church conference a while back, we spotted the “Manton Area Historical Museum.” So, we wheeled over to have a look see. Manton is in Wexford County, Michigan where my dad, bless his soul, was born in 1903. The Museum was quite impressive for its size. We were greeted by Pamela Rayment, one of the museum’s curators, and her two helpers, Noelle Nyquist and her little brother Axel, who help grandma spruce up the place. They have a variety of things on display such as old household items, tools, war relics, and a huge diesel engine that used to run an electric generator to supply power to Manton back in the early 1900’s.

But what really caught my eye was “The Black Mariah”—something so unique I had never seen one before in my close to seven decades of sojourning this planet. It was a horse drawn sleigh hearse. Now I’ve seen horse drawn hearses before in pictures, on display, and even in use on TV. But, I have never even seen a photo of a sleigh hearse before. Maybe some of you have had the opportunity to view one, but I had never seen this type of vehicle before.

This “Black Mariah” was purchased from the Cunningham Coach Co. of Rochester New York back in 1890 for the sum of $650 by the Abraham Woodward Funeral Home in Manton. And, it still looks like it is sittin’ on the showroom floor. The hearse was retired in 1924. They sometimes used it after the introduction of the automobile because of the bad condition of winter roads back then. It is now on permanent loan to the Manton Museum by the Bostick Family.

The craftsmanship is so outstanding one can only marvel at how it was accomplished back before automation and CNC machines. The majority of the hearse is made out of what looked like oak with that beautiful black patina. The corners and window dividers are large columns with ornate carvings the full length. The windows have beveled glass, and there is a large lantern on each side of the driver's seat. Inside there is a wicker basket that cradled the deceased to their final resting place. I like what it says in 2 Samuel 14:14, "Like water spilled on the ground, which cannot be recovered, so we must die. But God does not take away life; instead, He devises ways so that a banished person may not remain estranged from Him."

I would imagine there are others of the "Black Mariah" variety still around. But if you have never seen one before, your curiosity can be quenched by taking a trip to Manton, Michigan. Or, if you're not up to that challenge, then you'll just have to be satisfied with my humble photos that really do not do the hearse justice. The "Manton Area Historical Museum" has limited afternoon hours from Memorial Day through Labor Day. They have an open house on Labor Day Weekend with quilt displays and other attractions. The cost is a small donation, but the enjoyment is very large. I would like to thank Pamela Rayment and her helpers for a very enjoyable experience at the Manton Museum.

Ammunition Testing at END of TRAIL 2010

Wild Bunch was conceived as a “big bore, Power Factor” match. The power factor has always been in the rules, but at END of TRAIL 2010 the organizers tested everyone’s ammunition for the first time. Several contestants’ ammunition failed to make minimum power factor. Here’s what you need to know to avoid having this happen to you.

Power Factor

From the SASS Wild Bunch Handbook, Copyright © Single Action Shooting Society, Inc 2010, Second Edition:

“The minimum standard for center-fire smokeless ammunition used in all SASS Wild Bunch Action Shooting competitions is not less than a minimum power factor of 150. The maximum velocity standard for pistols is 1000 fps. The maximum velocity standard for rifles is 1400 fps. Not meeting ammunition standards is a Spirit of the Game Penalty.

Power factors are simply calculated by multiplying the bullet weight times the velocity and then the resulting number is divided by 1000. Some examples are as follows: 200 gr bullet traveling at 750 fps has a power factor of 150:  $(200 \times 750) / 1000 = 150$ . 250 gr bullet traveling at 800 fps has a power factor of 200  $(250 \times 800) / 1000 = 200$ .”

Some changes will be made to the rules as a result of the END of TRAIL testing. First of all, failing to meet the minimum power factor will become a Match Disqualification as it is in other power factor sports. Second, the testing procedure will change. Ammunition will be taken from contestants in a “surprise” manner, bagged, and marked. Trying to chronograph at a stage takes too much time, so one stage will be a

Chapter 4 AMMUNITION

By Captain George Baylor, SASS Life #24287

chronograph session. It takes a contestant about the same time to chronograph his ammunition as to shoot the average stage. For example, you may be at a loading table, and a match official will ask for the ammunition from the magazine you are about to insert into your 1911 and five rounds of rifle ammunition from your loading strip for the rifle. Then, at the chronograph stage, it will be returned to you, and you will fire four rounds through the chronograph. The fifth round will have its bullet weighed so the power factor can be calculated. This will prevent contestants from having higher powered ammunition for testing.

.45 ACP

Military spec .45 ACP ammunition is a 230 gr. Full Metal Jacket round nose bullet nominally at 850 ft./sec., which gives a power factor of 195. This is hotter than necessary for Wild Bunch competition and illegal because only lead bullets are allowed in SASS competition.

Three .45 ACP bullet styles work well in most guns (Photo 1.) On the left is a 230 gr. Lead Round nose bullet that comes close to duplicating the shape of a 230 gr. FMJ bullet. Some designs are more rounded, others more pointed. This should work in virtually all 1911s. Early 1911s have a groove in the bottom of the barrel at the rear of the chamber to allow the FMJ bullet to feed. Modern 1911 barrels have been throated and polished in order to feed hollow points and lead semi-wadcutters.

The middle bullet is a 200 gr. Lead Round Nose Flat Point Bullet normally used in .45 Colt ammunition. You’ll note it looks like a 230 gr. LRNFP with the end chopped off. It should feed in nearly all 1911s, throated or not. It gives the additional advantage of allowing you to buy one bullet for both .45 Colt and .45 ACP, allowing bulk purchasing. In a .45 Colt, a roll crimp is used. In .45 ACP, a taper crimp is used because the .45 ACP headspaces on the face of the rim.

The bullet on the right is a 200 gr. H & G 68 Lead Semi-Wad Cutter. This was developed for target usage to cut a sharp edged hole in cardboard targets for action pistol shooting such as IPSC/USPSA. The LSWC has no advantage in Wild Bunch matches since we shoot steel targets. If you have 10,000 left over from your IPSC days, by all means use them. Otherwise, there’s no reason to buy them for your 1911 and 200 gr. LRNFP for your rifle unless you find a deal.

The H & G 68 is also available in 185 gr. and 155 gr. sizes. The external profile is the same. The 155 is not legal, but the 185 gr. is. The same profile bullet as the 200 gr. LRNFP is available in 180 gr. 180 gr. is the lightest bullet allowed. Some shooters prefer the lightest bullets possible for lighter recoil. A 180 gr. bullet needs to go 834 ft./sec. to be legal. If you purchase what are nominally 180 gr. bullets, weigh them before use. If they weigh an actual 179 gr., your ammunition will be illegal.

Loads

Start with a load that is “in the book,” meaning a current loading manual. This will guarantee a safe load, but it will not guarantee a load that will be legal. It must be tested in YOUR gun. I first developed a load using HP38 because, during the powder shortage, HP38 and WW231 are the same powder, and the chance of finding one was pretty good. The final load I chose was 5.4 gr. HP38 and 200 gr. LRNFP. In my Series 80 Government Model it averaged 807 ft./sec. for a power factor of 161 in Phoenix at 75° and 1400 ft. altitude.

As a General rule, powder is hotter with hotter temperatures, and air drag decreases with altitude. So, the same load will be hotter in high altitude and hotter temperatures. HP38 is definitely temperature sensitive. If you develop your load in hot weather, leave yourself a cushion. If this load is legal in your gun in cold, low altitude conditions (Winter Range), it should be legal in high altitude and/or hot conditions (END of TRAIL).

Simplifying

I use one bullet for both pistol and rifle. Later I settled on one powder for all of my smokeless loads, IMR's Trail Boss. Early testing resulted in erratic loads in .45 ACP. Then I noticed some powder was being shaken out when the cases were pulled down out of the dies. The sizing die was sticking, causing jerking when it released. The cure was to lubricate the cases with case lubricant. Then, the rounds chronographed very consistently. Match ammunition was tumbled for 15 minutes to remove the lubricant.

5.0 gr. Trail Boss and 200 gr. LRNFP gave an average of 811 ft./sec. and a power factor of 162 when tested at Phoenix (1400 ft. altitude) at 75°F.

5.5 gr. Trail Boss (maximum load) and 200 gr. LRNFP averaged 868 ft./sec. with a power factor of 174. Muzzle flip was significantly greater than the 5.0 gr. load.

Other Loads

Michael Bane (Wolf Bane)—“4.5 gr. 231 over a 230 gr. LaserCast bullet ... somewhere around 725-750 fps, depending on how diligent I am ... worst case a 166 power factor, which makes IPSC Major by a little bit.”

Happy Jack—“My personal load is 3.6 gr. of Winchester Super Target (WST) with a 230 gr. Lead Round Nose. My other load is 3.9 gr. of Titegroup with the same bullet. Both PF 158-162. I use a 16# recoil spring with both.”

Evil Roy—“200 gr. LRNFP, 5.1 gr. Vihta Vuori N320 (Note, maximum load.); 230 gr. LRN, 4.6 gr. N320.” Roy says his loads have a power factor in the 185 range, which is way over what's needed, but you'll never have to worry about not making the power factor.

Chronograph in YOUR gun

Chambers vary from very tight to loose. Most IPSC gunsmiths use a chamber reamer on their match barrels to assure maximum reliability. I did my testing in a Series 80 Government Model with a rather tight chamber. The same loads in another gun with a looser chamber chronographed slower. These are examples of why you should chronograph your own ammunition in your gun. Don't take the above loads as being gospel. As Evil Roy mentioned at END of TRAIL, chronographs are available for $105, so everyone should be able to chronograph your loads. If you don't want to buy a chronograph, you probably have a friend who will loan you one. Just don't shoot it!

.45 Colt Rifle Loads

I went through the same procedure with the .45 Colt rifle and settled on 5.7 gr. Trail Boss and the same 200 gr. LRNFP did 816 ft./sec., PF 163. This load should work anywhere. I used a 19" Cimarron '73 carbine. .45 Colt loads should have a strong roll crimp.

I also did some testing using a 24" barreled Taylor's Burgess Rifle. Winchester factory 250 gr. Cowboy ammunition did 854 ft./sec. for a power factor of 214.

Ten-X 200 gr. ammunition did 813 ft./sec. for a power factor of 163

Ten-X 250 gr. ammunition did 860 ft./sec. for a power factor of 215.

Ammo Checking

I have an EGW Chamber Checker (Photo 2) for .45 ACP ammunition. Each round is dropped into the holes representing minimum spec chambers. Yes, this takes time and isn't done to practice ammunition.

There isn't a similar unit for .45 Colt, so I use an L. E. Wilson Case Gauge (Photo 3). Every round of match ammunition is dropped into this minimum spec. chamber. Rejects go into a practice ammunition box.

I had planned to do the chapter on equipment next, but moved this one up because of the problems at END of TRAIL. Hopefully I'll get it done next. The entire series is at:

of the rig. When it comes right down to it, believe it or not, all individuals face similar challenges in choosing their rig.

Ergonomics is the art of matching body type with gear so it works for you rather than against you. Folks favor one gun over another because it fits their hand better, balances nicer, and so on. Holsters are no different. Where a holster is placed on the body, how low it is placed, and how it is raked can improve or hamper a draw. Fitting the holster to the gun is important, but ain't worth a flyin' fiddler's yahoo if the other fitting criteria aren't observed.

Step one: Get a good-fittin' belt. The belt is the platform on which the holsters sit and on which they must function. Many gals believe they have to have a special belt—generally one that is heavily-contoured or a buscadero in order to be competitive. That is not the case. Many women can shoot very well using a straight-cut belt. A narrow-hipped lady can very likely get by with a standard 3" wide belt just like the guys are wearing. If their hips are a bit less narrow, they may be equally as comfortable with a similar but narrower belt—say 2 1/2" or 2 1/4" or even narrower. (For the die-hard traditionalists: remember, belts on the frontier varied widely. Percus-

This gun belt could be worn by either ladies or gents. It is made up of a money belt (soft and contouring to all types of hip configurations or hip and back ailments). The traditional high ride of this sort of holster has been modified by lengthening the belt loop.

“What gal you makin’ that for?” my coffee-guzzlin’ compadre inquired.

“This ‘un’s fer a guy.”

“But ... but ... it’s all covered in roses!”

I sighed and gave him “that look” over my Arbucks. “Roses were among the most-used flowers on cowboy gear at the turn of the century. Folks—male and female—who could afford carved gear prized it for its beauty as well as for its functionality, and guys sure weren’t considered less macho or gals more girlie on account of it. It was a mark of status. Top hands of both sexes prided themselves on having the best and fanciest gear.”

“So .... If you can’t tell fer the flowers, how can you tell if a rig’s s’posed to be a gal’s ‘r a guy’s?”

A gun rig made for a gal has got to be different than one built for a guy, right? Nope. Truth is, gun leather is pretty much neutral. The variations are driven by the ergonomic needs of the individual, personal aesthetics, and the function or purpose surrounding the use tion-era belts were generally less than 2" wide. There were also many, many examples of narrow cartridge belts in the form of cap & ball era belts refitted with cartridge loops and of very narrow cartridge belts.) The “girl reasoning” behind this is the narrower belts will conform more easily to the hips. Softer belts (wide or narrow) like the money belt can also provide comfort while placing the holsters in the most desirable position required for shooting. The soft belts are useful for wider hipped gals as well as to no-hipped gents, as they cling to every contour of the body. They are also lighter in weight and can help ease back and/or hip issues for both sexes.

Wider-hipped gals or narrow-hipped ones who don’t like the idea of narrower or softer belts may have to resort to a contoured belt. This may just be a contoured belt; it doesn’t necessarily have to be a buscadero. A contoured belt may also be helpful to gals who prefer to wear their belts higher on their hips—either at or just below the waist. Bustle wearers will benefit from a more contoured, higher belt position as well.

If you prefer a wide, heavy (thick) belt, you will probably need to lean toward a contoured belt whether feller or gal. It's the only way for that monster to hug your body without gapping. The degree of contouring will be dependent on the hip (or waist) in question. The greater the flair of the hip or waist and the smaller the circumference of the individual at this point, the greater the curve must be to ensure a good fit.

Only once you have a belt that gives you a comfortable and stable platform to mount your holsters and guns should one make decisions on your holsters.

Generally speaking, a lot of gals have shorter arms than their male counterparts. The biggest issue gals have with most holsters is they position the pistols too high on their hips. When they draw, they have to distort their arms to the point of discomfort. This is inefficient and costs time. They are also often forced into drawing into their waist rather than alongside their body. This is horribly inefficient and requires further distortion of the arms and loss of time. These high-riding holsters are the main reason why holsters get designated "girlie holsters" or guy holsters.

The decision on what holster will work for you is not dependent on whether you are a girl or a guy. The decision must be made based on the position at which you wear your belt, as well as the way you can move your arms to draw from that belt position.

Many gals with narrow hips can place their belts like the guys, use holsters that are fairly high-riding, and still not draw into their waists or have problems with distorting their arms on drawing. Conversely, there's a lot of guys who can't use high-riding holsters either. Most don't have the problem of drawing into their waistlines, but they do have the issues of injury and joint ailments. Gals also have these latter issues on top of the others. So ... what's the answer? Look at the belt loop.

Extend (i.e., drop) the belt loop, put a rake into it so the holster has a bit of muzzle flip, and move 'em more forward on the hip. Find the sweet spot where your hands, guns, holsters, and belt work for you and not against you. If you shoot more than one barrel length, you may have to consider a tad more drop or rake for the longer barrels than the shorter ones just to clear leather the same way! The key is in the belt loop!

Fit the holster belt loop snugly to your belt. This is particularly important on raked holsters and those with long drops. If the belt loop is all loosey-goosey, the holster will move around on the belt or ride up while drawing, which will aggravate the piddiddle out of you and throw off your game. A raked holster not snugged to the belt will rock. It will lose the desired rake. Again, aggravation, loss of muscle memory, and loss of time. Very annoying.

Resist physically connecting the holster to the belt with Chicago screws or rivets. Not only does it mess up the belt, but it doesn't allow you to reposition your holsters for wardrobe variation, seasonal needs, or for weight loss or gain. This, too, is important for your muscle memory.

Once you have your holster's belt loop figured out, decide on the desired cut at the cylinder, the trigger, and the rear sights. They, too, will effect your draw. Your very final consideration should be decoration. Plain or fancy, it should be last.

Compadres, it's all about you when it comes to your gun rig. It's not whether you're a guy or a gal. It's about your mobility, your body, and your functionality.

As usual, gimme a holler if you wanna crab or hurrah.

GUNS OF THE COWBOYS, LAWMAN AND BADMAN

Part Three, Section Two: "Buffalo" Rifles

By Tuolumne Lawman, SASS Life #6127

*1868 Allin .50-70
Springfield Conversion*

1866 and 1873 TRAPDOOR SPRINGFIELDS

The 1873 Springfield actually started life towards the end of the Civil War. During that time, the majority of troops were armed with .58 caliber 1861 Springfield and 1853 Enfield muzzle loading rifles. These single shot muzzle-loaders were slow to load, and easy to use improperly during the heat of battle. After the battle of Gettysburg, thousands of rifles were recovered from the battlefield with multiple charges rammed down the barrel, one atop of the other. This happened when soldiers under stress would charge the weapon with ball and powder, but forget to place a percussion cap on the cone.

In 1864, General A.B. Dyer and the Ordnance Board recognized this problem and invited submissions of breech loading rifles for evaluation. Breech-loaders like the Sharps linen cartridge rifle were impossible to double charge. The newly developed self-contained metallic cartridges used in the Henry and Spencer repeaters in the Civil War also offered a lot of promise. In January of 1865, the Small Arms Board met and examined 65 different submissions, including Sharps, Henry, Spencer, Peabody, and others. They took no immediate action, however.

Then, in September of 1865, a breechloader was patented by Erskine S. Allin, who was the master armorer at Springfield Armory. It involved converting muzzle loading Springfield muskets to .58 caliber rim-fire, using a new breech plug, incorporating a receiver with the breech assembly hinged to rotate upward. This ejected the spent cartridge case, and allowed the new round to be loaded from the breech when the action was opened (Joslyn had used a similar system for a percussion rifle in 1855).

The board was extremely impressed, and placed an order to have 5,000 Springfield rifles converted. Initially, they used a .58 caliber, 500 grain lead bullet in a folded copper case with 60 grains of coarse blackpowder. This bullet achieved 960 fps. This round was not very accurate, and the rim-fire ignition was not always reliable. In 1866 they reamed the bores of these rifles to .64", and inserted a .50 caliber full-length rifled barrel insert. These rifles used a newly designed center-fire cartridge with a 450 grain, .50 caliber bullet powered by 70 grains of blackpowder. This improved round traveled at 1250 fps, and was twice as accurate at 500 yards. This new round would be standardized as the .50-70 Government round.

By 1868, 52,500 Springfield rifles had been converted to the .50-70 Government round, as it was now called (in fact, numerous Sharps percussion carbines were also converted to the .50-70 Government round for supplemental issue to cavalry units). These rounds also used folded copper cases, using Martin bar-anvil or Bennett cup primers inserted from the case mouth and crimped into place. It gave the rounds the appearance of being rim-fire, but they were actually center-fire. These Springfield cartridge rifles were often called, "Needle Guns," due to their long, needle-like firing pins.

The Springfield cartridge conversions were an instant success on the frontier. They were initially only made in rifle lengths, with the Sharps carbines converted to the .50-70 Government round and .56-50 Spencers being issued to Cavalry. The Allin conversions were used extensively in the majority of the Indian Wars. In 1872, however, the Ordnance Board wanted to refine the design and the ammunition. Different modifications were tried, along with different calibers ranging from .40, .45, and .50.

In 1873, the board standardized on the new Springfield model 1873, using a newly developed .45 caliber cartridge and improved breech block design. It was introduced in a 32 5/8" barreled rifle version with a full stock and bayonet, and a carbine version with a 22" barrel, short fore arm, and carbine butt stock for mounted troops. The new round used a 405 grain lead bullet over the same 70 grain powder charge of the .50-70 Government round for issue to troops with the rifle variant. The new .45-70 Government round had a velocity of 1350 fps with the 405 grain bullet.

A special loading for issue with the carbine was also developed. It used the same 405 grain bullet and case, but used a reduced charge of 55 grains of powder with cardboard spacers to compress the load satisfactorily.

It traveled at only 1100 fps from the 22" carbine barrel. As the two loadings appeared identical externally, a common practical joke at the time was for bunkmates to slip rifle loads into someone's carbine ammo during practice. They said the expression on the shooter's face when the rifle load went off in the diminutive carbine was worth a week's pay!

The Model 1873 .45-70 Trapdoor Springfield became standard issue in 1873-74, though it did not replace all the 1866 Allin conversion .50-70s immediately. Many units still issued the .50-70 to the troops until after the Indian Wars were over. The 1873 trapdoor stayed in service until the early 1890's, and was the primary weapon used by Custer's 7th Cavalry troops at the battle of the Little Big Horn in 1876. The trapdoor even saw service in the Spanish American War, being issued to some volunteer units like Teddy Roosevelt's "Rough Riders."

As the .50-70 Trapdoors were replaced with the new 1873 .45-70s, the .50-70s were surplused out, and were very popular with civilians on the frontier. My Grandmother's cousin, William F. "Buffalo Bill" Cody, used a .50-70 Allin conversion Trapdoor Springfield he named "Lucrecia Borgia" to kill most of his thousands of buffalo. They were popular and affordable for a long time. Even in 1898, you could buy the .50-70 Trapdoors and a box of ammunition from Montgomery Wards and Sears, Roebuck & Co. for just a few dollars.

1881 Marlin Big Bore
Lever Rifle

1881 MARLIN BIG BORE LEVER RIFLE

We generally only think of single shot rifles being involved in the buffalo harvest. That is not entirely true. While not as common as the single shots, Marlin Firearms did make a big bore, lever action rifle that was actually used on the buffalo ranges. In the 1870s, a gun maker named John Marlin was already manufacturing the popular and accurate Ballard single shot target rifles. Seeing Oliver Winchester's success with lever action repeaters, Marlin teamed up with Andrew Burgess to compete against Winchester and their repeating rifles. Burgess already held several patents for lever rifle systems, and in 1878 he and Marlin patented further improvements.

With this, the first Marlin lever rifle, the Model 1881 was born. The Marlin Model 1881 was limited to a production of only around 20,000 guns. They were offered in the popular and plentiful .45-70 Government round. They were also made in Marlin's proprietary .40-60 Marlin (nominally identical to the .40-65 Winchester), and finally in 1885 in .32-40 and .38-55 (both Ballard target calibers). Some 1881s were made in a less popular (but powerful) .45-85 round. These Marlin 1881 rifles came standard with either 28" or 30" barrels.

The 1881 Marlin was far more successful than Winchester's 1876, having a reputation for being stronger than the 1876 Winchester's overgrown and outdated toggle link action. Also, the .45-70 and .45-85 rounds in the Marlin were more powerful than the .45-60 and uncommon .45-75 in which the 1876 Winchester was offered. It was not until the introduction of the 1886 Winchester in .45-70 that the 1881 Marlin took a back seat in the long-range, big bore lever rifle race. The 1881 Marlin in .45-70 and .45-85 were the only lever rifles to actively participate in the slaughter of the northern buffalo herd in any significant numbers.

CONCLUSION

There is no way to identify every type of firearm used in the Old West. It is also impossible to count the number of firearms used by settlers, Native Americans, soldiers, townies, farmers, lawmen, badmen, cowboys, and Buffalo Runners in our great Western Saga. What is certain is all these firearms were tools used to forge History, whether for good or evil—heroic tales or the infamy of dark deeds. The firearms are inseparable from our past. They are our past. Cowboy Action Shooting™ is one venue for keeping this past alive. Cowboy Action Shooters of today celebrate the past every time they use these firearms in a match. The ghosts of that past can be dimly seen through clouds of sulfurous blackpowder smoke at any Plainsmen Match.

COME, my tan-faced children, Follow well in order, get your weapons ready. Have you your pistols? Have you your sharp edged axes? Pioneers! O pioneers!

For we cannot tarry here; We must march my darlings, we must bear the brunt of danger. We, the youthful sinewy races, all the rest on us depend. Pioneers! O pioneers!

O you youths, western youths, So impatient, full of action, full of manly pride and friendship, Plain I see you, western youths, see you tramping with the foremost. Pioneers! O pioneers!"

THE BURGESS RIFLE, PART 1

By Captain George Baylor, SASS #24287 Life

It was 1883. Andrew Burgess had six previous patents while working for Whitney and Marlin. Colt had never produced lever action rifles. Winchester and Marlin held most of the patents. Colt had made revolving rifles starting with the Paterson. They teamed up, and Colt started selling his latest creation, the 1883 Colt Burgess rifle.

It wasn't long before the 1883 Colt Burgess rifle became popular and threatened the sales of Winchester 1873 models and, so the story goes, executives from Colt and Winchester met. Winchester had made several prototype revolvers but had never marketed them. Winchester and Colt came to an agreement on June 1, 1884 "to not interfere in each other's market," as stated in Col. Richard I. Dodge, SASS Life #1750's, article in the July 2010 Cowboy Chronicle. Several Winchester revolver prototypes are in the Cody Firearms Museum in the Winchester Firearms Collection.

Winchester never produced revolvers, and Colt stopped making lever action guns in 1884 after only 3,810 rifles and 2,593 carbines were produced.

Like many other superior products, the Colt-Burgess was removed from the market for reasons other than its quality or market superiority. Colt didn't stop producing rifles. They replaced the Burgess with the Lightning, a pump action rifle.

Fast forward a few years, and Taylor's and Co. convinced Uberti to make a Burgess. As to what to call it, Colt still held the trademark to "Burgess" as used in a rifle. But in 2009 they failed to renew the trademark. Taylor's quickly trademarked "Burgess."

I picked up the test Burgess at Legendary Guns in Phoenix—after half of the staff looked at it. It was a really good-looking rifle, obviously to Uberti, well, obvious to a SASS nut (Photo A). The fit and finish were excellent with really good-looking wood and case coloring. The rear sight looked like the one used on '66s and '73s. The lever moved to more than 90°, (Photo B) and the action was very smooth. It was in .45 Colt. Most Cowboy Action Shooting™ oriented firearms come out in .45 Colt first. About 2/3 of the brass picked up in major matches is .38 Special, but manufacturers think .45 Colt when thinking of the Old West. It was also out in .44-40, an authentic caliber.

DAVID ESPINOZA

✻ Bootmaker ✻

By The Jersey Kid, SASS Life/Regulator #287

During the height of the cattle drives, cowboys might spend up to four straight months in the saddle, often in the same clothes every day, eating every meal at the chuck wagon, and drinking nothing but coffee and water. When the cattle were delivered and the cowboy's job was finally done, he was paid for his work and turned loose in town. Teddy Blue Abbott in his wonderful book, We Pointed them North, said after such a cattle drive, "I bought some new clothes and got my picture taken. I had a new white Stetson hat I paid ten dollars for, new pants that cost twelve dollars, and a good shirt and fancy boots. Lord, I was proud of those clothes! When my sister saw me, she said, 'Take your pants out of your boots and put your coat on—you look like an outlaw.' I told her to go to hell. And, I never did like her after that." Thankfully we had such fashion forward cowboys as Teddy Blue and Charlie Siringo whose style has set the stage for Cowboy Action Shooters to follow one hundred years later. One of the most important and usually first items a new shooter acquires or eventually upgrades to is a pair of authentic, period boots, and one of the boot makers who sets the standard of excellence is David Espinosa of Phoenix, Arizona.

David began his boot-making career in 1972 when he served as an apprentice to RJ Foley and Jesse Bogle. Jesse, a top hand who eventually tired of being thrown from a horse, ran a shop half a block from the feedlot and near where David attended high school. David used to stop by to watch and listen to the old cowboy stories and eventually endeared himself to Jesse, who took him under wing to teach him the trade. David was quick to learn and ultimately bought out Jesse. David is an artist, a historian, a perfectionist, a SASS member, and he frequently comes to END of TRAIL to display his boots (his booth was always directly in front of a puddle of drool).

Today, with the growth of interest in top quality boots that are custom made for fit and personal taste, David employs two master craftsmen to help stay current with the orders. David personally starts and finishes each pair of boots because he is the artist, and he wants to ensure the customer is happy with the boots.

David Espinosa makes stock boots, but his forte is custom boots, both for fit and design. In fact, one of his passions is working with a customer to design a unique one of a kind pair of boots. He has over 1500 pair of lasts in stock to guarantee the proper fit based on his customer needs, and he still uses the Justin boot measuring method that was originally developed in the late 1880's. David makes both contemporary and Old West boots incorporating virtually every combination of toe, heel, material (exotics or top grain cowhide), and top design in existence, and more than half of his customers are repeat buyers (it is hard to go back to a stock boot once you wear a custom fit).

The boots I ordered from David were waiting for me one day when I returned from work, and I anxiously opened the box with that "Christmas morning" sense of excitement I am sure you all experience when a new Cowboy Action Shooting™ accoutrement arrives. Boy, was I immediately pleased with the boots; they are a work of art. The finish on the leather is superb, and they fit beautifully as per my measurements. But aside from all of that, they look amazing. My boots are of the typical 1870's black stovepipe design, but the tops are a chocolate color with seven white stars cut out in each boot. No way am I wearing chaps over these! I may be spoiled now, as off the shelf boots just cannot compare with the fit of custom boots.

So, the next time you are in the market for a new pair of boots, do your feet a favor and give David Espinosa a call.

CAPTURES END OF TRAIL MOUNTED SHOOTING CROWN

SASS Mounted Shooting since she was a Buckarette and has progressed to the point where she is the youngest person to ever win a world title in Mounted Shooting and only the second female ever to capture the title. Those of us in the sport feel like we are all uncles and aunts and are as proud of her as her mother and father, Sierrita Slim, SASS #4054, and Sweetface, SASS #7888. Morning Dove proved that consistency and smoothness never fail as she used her Taylor Running Irons, flawlessly shooting a clean match and besting El Paso Bob, SASS #71572 who was the top cowboy.

Aside from the exceptional performance of the winners and all of the competitors, this year's event was marked with an arena with sound footing that was carefully groomed daily by Jack Diamond, SASS #11268, which received 4,000 gallons of water nightly to ensure rider and equine safety. As in the past, END of TRAIL was kicked off with an event filled Opening Ceremony that highlighted the healthy return of Judge Roy Bean and recognized the 50th Anniversary of Cat Ballou and Tex and US Grant's 80th birthday. It also saw the Mounted Regulator badges bestowed upon Cheyanne Pink, SASS #67021, Ted E. Lee, SASS #59654, Stuttering Wayne, SASS #71602, and Ice Lady, SASS #71603, for all of their hard work and dedication to improving the sport of Cowboy Mounted Shooting.

Our events actually kicked off on Tuesday with a beginner's introduction to Mounted Shooting conducted by Expressman, SASS #41513, followed by a two-hour horseback tour of Founder's Ranch and the nearby area led by our local Chili Cowboy, SASS #59663. Wednesday, Expressman continued his teaching role with a course aimed at intermediate cowboys and cowgirls, and Thursday featured a four stage warm up event.

This year's main event was condensed to two, three stage days, taking place on Friday and Saturday to accommodate those shooters unable to commit to a longer time away from work and home. Our schedule was also adjusted to allow some of the shooters, including Bad Dog Bennett, SASS #86845, and his wife Little Miss Kitty, SASS #86851, Dan Nabbit, SASS #5537, Chili Cowboy, El Paso Bob, and Marshal Cahill, SASS #5827, to both shoot the event and participate in Dr Buck's outstanding Wild West Show. The stretched out shooting schedule also provided for all day Mounted Shooting, which was well received by our spectators who kept the bleachers packed for every event. As our sport has matured, we have progressively moved to more challenging patterns, and this year had some great stages laid out by our match director, Buck Cantrel, SASS #38242, and Sierrita Slim.

Similar to the Action Shoot where posses run their own stages, we all chip in to help as necessary. Those of us who are ROs fill those duties in the arena (a big thanks to

Founders Ranch, NM – This year marked the 29th Annual END of TRAIL and once again I was extremely pleased and lucky to be part of it. My first END of TRAIL was in 1986, well before the idea of Mounted Shooting was hatched, yet I still recall seeing Phil Spangenberg's performance on his mustang, Nevada, which proved to be the seed that exploded into our sport.

This year I am excited to report our overall world champion is a wonderful sixteen-year-old shooter named Morning Dove, SASS #7889. Morning Dove has been competing in

EXTREME STAGE

The extreme stages are team events featuring team work and riding through all sorts of obstacles, including snakes in the grass, bridges, and barriers. It's exciting to watch, and it's exciting to participate! Everyone had great fun!

Canyon Cowgirl who was not registered for the shoot, but served as RO for many of the stages) and our announcing duties were very capably shared by Helda Huginkiss, SASS #23799, Aneeda Huginkiss, SASS #23789, Fire Fox, SASS #80377, and El Paso Bob.

Friday morning the main match was kicked off by our own Tex and a Pledge of Allegiance after local cowgirl, Fire Fox, galloped around the arena with the American Flag. As always, our times were fast and the competition was intense, but at all times, there was great camaraderie, and it exemplified the SASS and the Cowboy Way. Near the end of our competition on Friday, we were accosted by one of the notorious New Mexico dust devils that demolished our gun-cleaning tent and tossed all our paperwork some 300 feet in the air, but luckily spared us and our horses.

In addition to the main match, END of TRAIL again hosted the All Around Cowboy/Cowgirl event, which comprised Mounted Shooting, barrel racing, and Action Shooting, and when the dust settled Calvin N Hobbs walked off with the buckle after an outstanding performance. Sunday offered an Extreme Team Competition that challenged horse and rider with bridges and jumps while still shooting balloons. What fun!

END of TRAIL once again was a great event, and it was terrific to see the support of the Wild Bunch and how excited the spectators were to be a part of our competition—see you in 2011. 🤠

MOUNTED ENTERTAINMENT

The Mounted Competitors all became entertainers this year! The competition was scheduled to provide arena action all day long for the civilian visitors, and several shooters were able to play roles in Dr. Buck's Wild West Arena Show. Daily parades through town were also a highlight, and horses were in evidence in and around town all week long.

HUGINKISS SISTERS' ADVENTURES AT END OF TRAIL 2010

By Helda Huginkiss, SASS #23799, and Aneeda Huginkiss, SASS #23798

Well ... us Huginkiss Sisters, Aneeda and Helda, haven't written to you all in quite some time, so we decided to catch you up on some of our adventures!

After letting the dust settle from the "Revenge of Montezuma," SASS' High Plains Regional Mounted Shoot, that we put on June 18th – 20th, we packed up and told our bosses we were off to play at END of TRAIL. We took my truck and Helda's trailer and threw our stuff and ponies in and headed south to Founders Ranch, New Mexico. We left earlier this year and got in around 3:30 pm Wednesday afternoon.

We picked a great camping spot between Expressman and Sierrita Slim and next to Marshal Cahill. It was close to everything! We set up our portable electric fence, put the ponies away, and set up camp. Buck Cantrel came over practice match was almost over, so Helda and I went to SASS town to do a little shopping. We found a couple of shirts, and I found some conchos for my horse's breast collar. That evening, we dressed up in our saloon girl finery and went to SASS town to listen to Syd Masters and the Trailhands. We watched the Soiled Dove Contest ... working girls and madams! Woohoo ... the costumes were awesome. Sid was nice enough to allow me to sing with the band again this year. I had a great time singing "Walking after Midnight" and "Cowboy's Sweetheart." Helda says she can't sing, but she can ... I saw her singing along at the table.

Friday started the actual Mounted Shooting competition. We had a riders meeting at 9:30 and started shooting at 10 am. Buck Cantrel asked Helda and I if we would announce for the week-the night before. We started the day with the Rifle and Shotgun stages we didn't get to shoot Friday and also had the All Around Cowboy competitors run the barrels. Then we shot three more stages, announcing in between. Stage 5 was also a Rifle and Shotgun stage, so we ran the competitors through it as well. Just as we were getting done, it started raining. Ted E Lee took a spill off his horse during a reenactment in SASS Town and Leroy got away. Buck asked some of us to see if we could find his horse, so Helda and I grabbed our ponies and raced up the hill to see if we could spot him. The rain was coming down hard, and Leroy was nowhere to be seen. By the time we made it back to camp, Leroy had come back to his pen and was being taken care of. Ted E. Lee was fine and finished the competition Sunday! He's a cowboy!

Ted E Lee, ever the Confederate soldier, contributed to the public entertainment by keeping the visiting "blue bellies" in check.

and escorted us into town so we could participate in the prize drawing. Helda won a great flask, and I got a canvas rifle cover! We weren't dressed yet, so we didn't stay, went back to camp, and helped Jingle Foot and Jingle Belle set up their camp. Then we headed for Chili Hills in Edgewood and some good eats.

Thursday dawned clear and warm. There was a practice match starting at 10 am, and Helda loaned her extra horse, TopHawk, to Elise Cherokee to ride. She watched over both of them like a mother hen! I promised my dad and stepmom, who live in Tijeras, I would sing and play my guitar for their Senior Center in Edgewood. I spent an hour there entertaining and sure had fun.

When I got back to camp, the end, and we said heck yes! Since Helda and I were up in the first 13 riders, Fire Fox graciously agreed to announce while we rode. Heck, El Paso Bob even helped out and made up lots of stuff about everyone! We shot three fun stages Friday and were going to do a Rifle and Shotgun stage and the Barrel Race for the All Around Cowboy, but got rained out. We had a Mounted Pot Luck Dinner planned at Expressman's camp, but had to move to the registration tent due to the rain. The rain didn't stay long and both the food and the company were great. Royal Bandit, Buckskin James, and I brought our guitars and everyone took turns singing and playing ... we finally turned in around 10:30 pm.

Saturday was clear and a bit cooler due to the nice rain shower

The Mounted Costume Contest was scheduled in the Wild West Arena at 5 pm, but due to the rain, was moved to the Indoor Trading Post in the center of SASS Town. Helda and I raced to Canyon Cowgirl, Royal Bandit, and HelzaPoppin's camp and told them where the costume contest was gonna be, and we all threw our costumes on as fast as we could. We went as the "Crippled Doves from Soil Creek." Helda even wrote a poem about us. They waited for us, and we got there soggy, but ready to compete. Some folks didn't even recognize us in our get ups ... we had canes, crutches, bandages, black eyes ... it was a sight to behold. HelzaPoppin' was Madam Break ur Leg and Royal Bandit saved us Crippled Doves in the end. You had to be there to appreciate it! We won 2nd place, but I think that's because they felt sorry for us!

Sunday was partly cloudy, but not hot! The arena this year was awesome! No one slipped, and it was worked up deep for good footing. Those that wanted competed in two Extreme Team Stages .... we jumped bales of hay shooting balloons at the same time, traversed a bridge, and negotiated a cactus patch, shooting snakes in the grass with our partners. Now that was FUN!

After the team stages, the division winners ran in the Top Gun runoffs. I actually got to compete in it this year ... we went fast but two balloons ducked, and I was done! Helda announced for it and did a darn fine job. That girl is so talented!

Scores were tallied and the Awards were held at 1:30 pm in the Gem Saloon in SASS Town. Helda and I packed up camp as best we could and went to town to do a little shopping before the awards. It started raining during the awards, but the rain didn't stay long.

Congratulations to everyone that came and played at END of TRAIL! We had 45 riders this year. We sure loved seeing you all!

The Revengers of Montezuma didn't do too badly ... let's see, Royal Bandit took 2nd in Men's Division 3. HelzaPoppin' took 3rd in Senior Ladies Limited. Jingle Foot took 1st in Senior Men's Open, and I finally beat Helda (only took me 10 years!) and took 1st in Ladies Division 3. I think she had a bent gun ... she came in a respectable 3rd. Jingle Foot and I both shot the Match clean and were awarded the coveted "White Buffalo" pins. (How did that happen?) Not bad for our little group from Southwestern Colorado!

Well, we best be going ... the ponies are nickering for their food. Thanks, Tex, for putting up with us Mounted Shooters. A big thanks to Buck Cantrel for being such a darn good Match Director ... and Slim and Ted E Lee and Cheyenne Pink and Sue for all your hard work! You are appreciated! See you next year. Remember, shoot straight, be safe, and stay on the fuzzy side! 🐾 ters. It also relates in vivid detail the lives and adventures of the men who owned these personal firearms like the fire brand abolitionist, John Brown, the fighting lawman, Frank Hamer, or the Cherokee outlaw, Ned Christie.

"As Hal Herring says in his Preface, 'America was a nation born yelling and in a cloud of blackpowder smoke.' We have always been addicted to mayhem (albeit from a safe distance), and the most fascinating mayhem of all was that waged in the Old West. This is the story of 12 guns of that time and the famous and infamous people who used them. If you can start Chapter One and put the book down before you reach at least Chapter Six, see a doctor. Great stuff from someone who is both a historian and a masterful storyteller." – Dave Petzal, Rifles and Shooting Editor, Field and Stream

GOLD IN THE RED DESERT

Book One of the Owl Hoot Trail Trilogy

By T. H. Bear, SASS #28669
Reviewed by Sgt. Shuster, SASS #60835

T. H. and Bear Lady, circa 1878

Back in the days after the Civil War, a criminal fugitive was often referred to as an Owl Hoot, and the road he took to elude pursuers and ply his trade was known as the Owl Hoot Trail. Gold in The Red Desert by T. H. (The Hungry) Bear, SASS #28669, also known as Shelly Decker, is the first book of three that will follow Cliff "Reb" Brown on the Owl Hoot Trail from south Georgia to central Wyoming.

The reader will follow Reb Brown through a series of Western dangers, adventures, and gunfights from battles with Indians and bank robbers to stagecoach hold-ups and claim jumpers. It is in the West where Reb meets the only woman he would ever love. And there he struggles to right the wrong of murder.

Bear artfully weaves historical fact with his own imaginative cowboy fiction, and the reader will know if something didn't happen, then it should have! He also doesn't spare the details, and it is obvious he has a great love for the West ... both land and history. Gold in The Red Desert is not an easy book to put down. In fact, one cowboy at the 2010 END of TRAIL complained it adversely affected his shooting because every time he tried to go to sleep, he'd pick it up, turn a page, and read some more. All of this makes T. H.

Bear's Gold in The Red Desert a must-read for Western enthusiasts.

And Book Two: The Withlacochee Renegades will be out soon!

T. H. Bear is a retired law enforcement officer and pilot, a hunter and Cowboy Action Shooter, and founder of the Withlacochee Renegades on his own gun range. He has written several novels and short stories you can find at www.thbear.us.

SASS Life #1750

TALES OF EARLY CALIFORNIA

Judge Roy Bean

Before the Jersey Lilly

Col. Richard Dodge, SASS Life Member #1750

Cowboys know him as Judge Roy Bean, the Law West of the Pecos, holding court at the bar of the Jersey Lilly. Well, partner, the Judge didn't just appear out of nowhere to become Texas' most famous jurist. No, sir—there's more to the Judge's story than that, and the first part is almost as good as the second part.

Major Horace Bell of the Los Angeles Rangers describes his first encounter with the Judge—long before the Judge was a judge. Arriving at Mission San Gabriel after a leisurely ride from Los Angeles on a fine California charger, he came upon a saloon called "Headquarters," the most "aristocratic" of the three grog-shops located on the southwest corner of the great Mission building. Major Bell was attended to by "a very handsome black-bearded young man named Roy Bean, brother and successor to General Josh Bean ... the proprietor of the Headquarters, the first grog-shop in the place. Roy was dressed in elegant Mexican costume, with a pair of revolvers in his belt, while a Bowie knife was neatly sheathed in one of his red-topped boots."

And, that was only one stop in the life of Roy Bean, the colorful con-man.

His career began in a venture with his brother, Sam

Bean, in a trading post in Chihuahua, Mexico, where he quickly killed a Mexican hombre in a fight over a woman. Wisely removing himself from the area, he and Sam moved to Sonora, Mexico and then on to San Diego, where he lived with another brother, Joshua Bean, who became the first mayor of the city.

The hard-drinking Bean courted trouble everywhere he went. While in San Diego, he again drew the ire of another gent over the attentions of a fair lady, and turned an argument into a pistol-shooting contest on horseback with the contestants shooting at each other. He managed to injure the other party; both were arrested and jailed. Bean did not lack for feminine attention while incarcerated and received many gifts from the young ladies of San Diego—food, liquor, cigars, and a knife with which he dug his way out of his cell and repaired himself to San Gabriel. There he took over management of the Headquarters, owned by brother Mayor Bean, and crossed paths with Major Bell.

He dueled with and killed a Mexican officer who had kidnapped and forcefully married a young lady of Bean's interest, and he barely survived an attempted hanging by the officer's friends, leaving him with a permanent rope scar and a stiff neck for the rest of his life.

Judge Roy Bean

Moving on again, he spent time in New Mexico before retreating to San Antonio with the Texas army during the Civil War, where he engaged himself in arms-running with British ships past the Union blockade.

For twenty years he embarked on a series of questionable ventures in and around San Antonio, including the selling of watered-down milk (which ended when minnows were discovered swimming in the milk), selling his neighbor's stand of trees as firewood, and selling rustled beef in his butcher shop. He married 15 year-old Virginia Chavez and created five "little Beanitos" before divorcing her and heading west.

He came highly recommended by the Texas Rangers as a possible Justice of the Peace in Pecos (now Val Verde) County and was subsequently appointed and re-elected for 20 years.

He established the famous Jersey Lilly and resumed his nefarious dealings in his newfound role. Train crews stopped frequently for a drink while the train took on water. Bean would delay returning his customers' change until the train's whistle drew them back, cursing the Judge's way of doing business. It's a wonder they didn't lynch him, but they needed the whiskey he served, and he was the only game in town.

Bean launched his colorful reputation by holding an illegal prizefight between Fitzsimmons and Maher on a sandbar in the Rio Grande as several Texas Rangers watched helplessly from the bluffs overlooking the site. Fueled by ample drinking before and after the fight, a mob of reporters departed to spread the word of the fight—and of Judge Roy Bean.

As Justice of the Peace, the Judge wielded his infamous brand of justice from 1882 to 1902. He sentenced several to hang (though no one was ever actually hanged). He really did fine a corpse $40. In another case, he dismissed a murder charge against a man who had killed a Chinese laborer because the law said nothing about killing a Chinese.

Bean's outrageous rough-hewn justice appears comical, even farcical to us today, but it appears the old Judge was really a softhearted rascal underneath it all. He used the $40 from the corpse to provide the deceased with a decent funeral, and he routinely spread the take from his courtroom fines to help many of the destitute folks in the area around the Lilly. All of this was done anonymously, as the Judge didn't want a blemish on his rough reputation.

As we all know, the Jersey Lilly was named for the famous British actress, Lilly Langtry, and, though he never met her as he often claimed, they did correspond. She actually sent the Judge a pair of pistols as a gift, which he treasured to his dying day. It is a fact she actually visited the Jersey Lilly after the Judge's death—too late to know how the old character would have reacted. Now, that would have been something to see!

And so the Judge passed on into the colorful legends of Texas and the Old West. At one time it was believed there would never be another like him, but we all know better, don't we?

THE BURGESS RIFLE, PART 1...

use, and certain to be popular with people that find the '66/'73 gate to be hard to use and hell on fingernails. This one just slides easily.

I took it to Cowtown as soon as possible and shot it. After a few hiccups, it was reliable with .200 gr. LRNFP and 250 gr. LRNFP ammunition (same profile), but my attempt to use up some 160 gr. bullets proved it wouldn't feed these shorter bullets. They stovepiped with the bullet end pointing up. This isn't a severe problem. Most of our rifles demand ammunition of a certain length and profile. Cartridges can be too long or too short and not function in a tubular magazine rifle.

But with appropriate ammunition, including Ten-X 200 and 250 gr. and Winchester 250 gr. ammunition, it worked flawlessly. Winchester factory 250 gr. Cowboy ammunition did 854 ft./sec. for a power factor of 214. Ten-X 200 gr. ammunition did 813 ft./sec. for a power factor of 163. Ten-X 250 gr. ammunition did 860 ft./sec. for a power factor of 215. Speed reminded me of a very smooth '92 or a '73 without a short stroke. I could never work it at flat out speed. Eight years of short stroked '73s have ruined me for non-short-stroked rifles. I kept short-stroking it, which resulted in it not picking up the next round. But if I backed off a tad, it worked perfectly.

Photo E shows the little "fingers" that guide the cartridge into the chamber. Without doing testing from a rest, it became evident that accuracy was equal to other Uberti products. Cowtown has some small targets up on the side of the hill. The Burgess had no problems hitting the head on the small cowboy. It shot well enough that I suspect it'll have a future in long-range pistol caliber rifle side matches.

My prediction is that the main buyers will be guys who want something different, guys who shoot, say, '87 shotguns or Schofield revolvers. Guys who want style points will want one.

It's too new for Classic Cowboy, being a '83, when '73 is the cutoff. Ironically it's too OLD for B-Western, the cutoff being '84. I talked with Snakebite, who is on the rules committee, and remedying that is on their agenda this December. Odds are you could shoot B-Western at local matches, but not at State Championships and above until the rule is changed.

I doubt that will affect its sales. I figure most of the buyers will be shooting blackpowder in their Burgess rifles. With that in mind, I shot a lot of American Pioneer Powder 3f rounds with absolutely no problems. When Larsen E. Pettifogger detail stripped it for his part of the article, it was clean, and all I had done was to swab the bore and flood the innards with Windex/Vinegar and Break Free CLP. The .44-40 will be even cleaner due to the thin-wall brass expanding and keeping gunk out of the chamber and points aft.

What separates this Burgess article from others (some of which have information that is just wrong) is the expertise of Larsen E. Pettifogger. He has re-engineered '87 shotguns to actually working. He has re-engineered Lightning rifles to the point they work most of the time. He understands the inner workings of guns and explains it quite well. He did all of the photos of the Burgess. I'll let him take over ...

LITTLE KNOWN FAMOUS PEOPLE WAY OUT WEST -

By Joe Fasthorse Harrill, SASS #48769

Joe Fasthorse Harrill, SASS #48769

John Barclay Armstrong was born in Tennessee in 1850 and headed for Texas in 1871. In 1875 he joined the company of Texas Rangers under Captain Leander McNelly, and soon earned the nickname "McNelly's Bulldog." When McNelly retired in 1876, Armstrong was promoted to Lieutenant and assigned to head up the Texas Rangers Frontier Battalion. He was involved in numerous gunfights when keeping the peace in lawless regions like Laredo and Eagle Pass, and he tracked down and killed some of the most dangerous outlaws of the west, including Sam Bass, John Mayfield, and John Wesley Hardin. Armstrong pursued Hardin all the way to Florida, and after he cold-cocked Hardin, killed one of Hardin's gang, and arrested three others, sent a telegram to Ranger HQ.

"Arrested John Wesley Hardin, Pensacola Florida this P.M. He had four men with him. Had some lively shooting. One of their number killed. All rest captured. Hardin fought desperately. Closed in and took him by main strength. We are waiting for a train to get away on. This is Hardin's home and his friends are trying to rally men to release him. Have some good citizens with me, and will make it interesting."

- John B. Armstrong

He resigned as a Texas Ranger in 1881 and was appointed U.S. Deputy Marshal. The next year, he established the 50,000-acre Armstrong Ranch. The old ranger died in 1913.

END OF TRAIL 2010

GOOD NEWS, BAD NEWS

A REPORT FROM END OF TRAIL

By Maurice 'Mo' Lasses, SASS #65309

It was a sunny, hot New Mexico day. I was walking down the main street of town when I spied that nefarious Old West character, Tex. Slowly I walked towards him, waiting for him to catch sight of me. He did, and his eyes narrowed as he watched me approach. I had the sun to my back, and I waited to see if he would make his move. I carefully watched his gun hand, making sure no one else on the street was in our way. Suddenly, he made his move and I counteracted with typical Mo Lasses speed. Our reactions were the same, and we grasped each other's hand, his eyes widening now, and a big smile came to his lips as he said, "Good morning Mo, isn't it a lovely day?"

My response was that it sure was, but I had some good news and

Mo Lasses and the Lindholm Brothers Praying Cowboy Spurs. The spurs are the subject of the first raffles, but through the generosity of the many END of TRAIL sponsors and vendors there will be additional raffles. Get your tickets and let us get started on the Cowboy Memorial Chapel!

some bad news for him. Curious, he asked what the good news was. I told him we had held Cowboy Chapel earlier that morn, and in a break from tradition, we had taken a collection with the funds to go towards the Cowboy Memorial Chapel. We had raised $617.02 (it was $616.92, but we found a dime on the floor later!). "Well", he replied, "that IS good news!!"

I was almost reluctant to tell him the bad news. Since the money was going to the Cowboy Memorial Chapel, which has been talked about as being a chapel to hold 40 or so, I hated to tell him there were almost 100 in attendance at the 8:00 Cowboy Church. It seems our plans for a small church may have been too conservative!

What this means is we need to buckle down and really get our fund raising going across all parts of the world. This END of TRAIL was attended by fine folks from Australia, Austria, Canada, New Zealand, South Africa, and Italy (including Mr. Al Chemista, from Italy. Ya had to be at the show to appreciate the name!)

I spent several days at END of TRAIL, not shooting, but instead seeing old friends, making new friends, watching some of the finest shooters during the day and great entertainers at night. But, I was also busy pestering some of the fine folks who were attending END of TRAIL as either vendors, or in some cases, as shooters for donations to help with the Cowboy Memorial Chapel. And boy howdy, did I get lucky!!

Long Jim Hancock and I were pleased with the attendance at the groundbreaking ceremony for the Cowboy Memorial Chapel, attended by the Wild Bunch and a large crowd of folks. After some remarks from Long Jim, I was pleased to be able to read a poem I had requested Utah Bob do for the occasion. It must have been dusty that evening because so many of the folks attending had tears in their eyes.

At the opening ceremony later that evening, Long Jim and I were asked to talk about the Memorial Chapel, and I read the poem again to a very appreciative audience. My thanks to Utah Bob for writing the poem.

After the ceremony, Mad Mountain Mike from River Crossing came up to me and asked that I stop by his location in the morning. I figured he wasn't going to ask me to be one of his models, so I suspected he was going to donate something to the cause. The next morning at the crack of 10, I was awake and at his booth. I looked around and saw some of his fine moccasins, and some buffalo hide butt stock covers and thought boy would anything like that be great! But, no, he had something better in mind. Mad Mountain Mike donated a buffalo skin, rough out Shane-style fringed shirt in size 38-46, with a value of $495. I have already started my number of cancer survivors would surprise you. Some are young and strong and fast and eager to pit their skills against all comers. All are among friends, a lot of friends. All are exactly where they want to be. This year there are over a hundred more than there were last year despite the desperate economy. 522 registered shooters. But then, it's money well spent.

June 21-27, 2010

Wild Bunch Match

The first event, the Wild Bunch match started Monday morning, June 21st with a surprise for many. At the shooters' meeting we were told that on Tuesday everyone's rifle and pistol loads would be chronographed to make sure they met or exceeded the power factor of 150, or, as Pecos Clyde told us, not 149.999. The chronograph station was on Stage 8. Several people failed the chronograph, earning a 30 second Spirit of the Game penalty. They were given an opportunity to come up with legal ammunition and re-chronograph. Otherwise, they were given a match DQ when they shot the next stage with the same ammunition. They were allowed to shoot the rest of the match, but not for score.

Frederick Jackson Turner's Big Red Sky Band was like a jolt of electricity Saturday night in the Belle Union. Whether dancing or just listening, the mood was upbeat and smiles were everywhere. Even "The King" was moved to perform!

No one was cheating. They just hadn't chronographed their ammunition. The rules have had the power factor from the beginning. It just hadn't been checked at a major match before. See Wild Bunch for Dummies, Ammunition, in this issue for more information on the Power Factor for Wild Bunch and how to survive your next chronograph session.

Survivors of the chronographing had to shoot very well to make the top five in categories. The stages were pretty simple. Most had 20 rounds of pistol. Some had us shooting 1911s at rifle targets. All did not allow make-ups on shotgun targets. These are features you're likely to see in most Wild Bunch events at major matches.

That night we had a Wild Bunch costume contest. The Man With No Name had Dutch's outfit

Longhorns from the New Mexico Folsom Falls Ranch were new this year to END of TRAIL. The Folsom Falls Ranch folks have generously donated several longhorns to the SASS Western Heritage Museum and have even offered to help us "flat-landers" take care of them. Many Thanks!

US Grant has survived for 80 years, and Tex and Cat Ballou have been hitched for 50 years! Cake, champagne, and video tributes capped the Opening Ceremonies. It was a happy time!

down to the last detail to win the men's category. Shotgun, as a soiled dove, narrowly edged out Nellie Blue's colonel's daughter.

Warm Up, Side Matches

Monday and Tuesday also had multiple shifts of Warm Up. Wednesday had the usual side matches, long-range matches, and Plainsman match. If you shot them all, you had to be tired that night.

Opening Ceremony and Parties

Wednesday night was the opening ceremonies. Putting the opening ceremony on the night before allows all contestants to attend. If you're putting on a major match, file that under REALLY GOOD IDEAS. Having the ceremony before the first flight on match day pretty much guarantees that only the early flight will be in attendance. After this the 2010 class of Regulators was announced. Several workers who had been working hard for as long as 20 years or more finally got their badges. If your club has someone who works long and hard for your club, why haven't you nominated them for Regulator badges?

This year's True Grit award went to Judge Roy Bean, who survived a harrowing schedule of chemotherapy and radiation and is now cancer free, to the delight and relief of his many friends.

Then we had cake and champagne celebrating U. S. Grant's 80th birthday and Tex and Cat Ballou's 50th Wedding anniversary. A film with photos from their lives was fascinating, as well as nostalgic.

Main Match

The stages had lines and scenarios from The Magnificent Seven. It was the 50th anniversary of that classic western movie. Most of the stages had been tested and de-bugged at Buffalo Stampede, the Four Corners Regional. It has long been a testing ground for END of TRAIL Stages. Minor glitches had been eliminated, and the stages went quite well, with virtually no complaints.

Well, one gentleman did have a complaint. He said it was his first END of TRAIL, and it would be his last. I asked him why. "Why, these idiots don't know anything about Cowboy Action Shooting™. They had a bonus with no penalty for missing! And they had a bonus for throwing a knife!"

There were two bonuses. On Stage 6, The Greatest Shot I Ever Saw was from the scene in which James Coburn shot an escaping bandit off his horse at an incredible distance (using a two handed hold. Obviously Coburn was an early SASS shooter). In this version you had a choice with the last pistol shot to shoot a close target for no bonus, but a miss for missing it, or a more distant target for a 5 second bonus and no penalty for missing. The smart thing to do was to go for the bonus. Most people did.

The other bonus was on Stage 3, Who's Faster, the Gun or the Knife? On the clock you threw a rubber knife at a giant cowboy target standing just beyond arm's reach. This was a five second bonus for hitting, no penalty for missing. I would be the last person to encourage bonuses for non-shooting activities, but this one was fun. It also reminded us that in the midst of all of this tough competition we came here to have fun.

For those of you new to Cowboy Action Shooting™, please note both

“Bonus” targets were worth five seconds. Whether it’s five seconds added to your time for missing or five seconds deducted from your time for hitting, as long as all shots are worth five seconds, there are no bonuses in reality. You are still penalized five seconds for missing (to answer the gentleman’s first complaint). They’re called bonuses so that if you miss one, you’ll still have a clean match, well, at least so far.

Costume Contests

In addition to the Wild Bunch costume contest, Thursday night was the Soiled Dove and Parlour House Madam contest.

During the day Thursday and Friday were the Best Shooting Costume, Best Dressed Conventioneer, Best Waddie Costume, Best Gun Cart, and Best Dressed Sutler.

Saturday night was the Best Dressed Costume contest and costume promenade. Several categories were decided by the slightest of margins. The competition was quite good. Cat Ballou has the details of the costume contests in her column. Pay close attention to Robber Baron’s costume. It was the best researched and produced costume I’ve seen in 11 years of SASS.

Nighttime Activities

Friday and Saturday night the Gem Saloon held a poker tournament. River Crossing’s Silver Screen Saloon Show drew standing room only at the Belle Union Friday night.

END of TRAIL learned from our Italian compadres and has incorporated an Opening Ceremonies flag procession recognizing each nation participating in END of TRAIL. This year the Albuquerque Bataan Military Academy took charge of getting things appropriately organized. Job well done!

Alchimista sponsored the Silver Screen Saloon Show, which provided another “all new” Friday evening of entertainment. The Dance Hall Darlings, Peaches O’Day, and Miss Tabitha were superb (again!). He’s even invited the troop to perform in Italy at the European END of TRAIL!

CD Tom was recognized this year, both as a Regulator and as an outstanding contributor for his scoring efforts. His scoring program has revolutionized the Match Administration process, allowing everyone an early peek at their posse assignments, and an opportunity to make changes while it’s still possible. Well deserved recognition!

Sunday

For those who hadn’t gotten enough shooting yet, after cowboy church several side matches were shot: The Bank Robbery, The Bartender, the Wild Bunch Team Event, High-Noon Shootout, and Top Gun Shootout-Sweet Sixteen. Then it was time for congratulations and commiserations at the efficiently run awards ceremony.

There were some surprises. T-Bone Dooley didn’t win his seventh Classic Cowboy championship because he had injured himself a couple of days before the event started and was unable to compete. Holy Terror wasn’t top lady. She won Cowgirl and had the lowest total time, but Sage Chick, still a junior, won on rank points. The rank points vs. total time debate on the SASS Wire will, no doubt, be rekindled.

First overall was, again, Badlands Bud, winning 9 of 12 stages. Rumors that he is a space alien continue to spread. Several categories were impossibly close. Long Swede edged out Long Hunter by less than two seconds to win 49’er. Ol’ Short Tom edged out Twelve Mile Reb by 2.64 seconds to be Senior World Champion. In Gunfighter, Possum Skinner was almost a second SLOWER than Lassiter, but won on rank points. In Ladies Duelist, Iron Maiden was five seconds SLOWER than Nellie Belle, but won on rank points. In Frontier Cartridge Silver City Rebel edged out Spur Roberts by less than three seconds. In the area of, "well, what did you expect?" Nuttin' Graceful and Honey B. Graceful repeated in their categories of Duelist and Ladies Frontier Cartridge. Half-A-Hand Henry, in her quest to win in 10 different categories, took Ladies Frontier Cartridge Duelist, keeping her right on track. Slick McCade added a World to his recent National Championship in B-Western. Texas Tiger continued her domination of Ladies Wrangler. I suppose it's the tiger skin outfit. Justin Parker won Junior Boys. Look out, Cowboys, next year. At the other end of the spectrum, Rosita Gambler won Elder Statesman again. We figure he must have bionic parts.

Match Winners and Overall World Champions. Badlands Bud repeated again this year while Sage Chick finally bubbled to the top in the ladies categories. These two are eligible to wear the coveted Black Badge reserved for all END of TRAIL Overall Winners. Congratulations!

The survivors of the Top Gun Shot-off/Sweet 16 were Badlands Bud and New Mexico’s Texas Tiger. The “Young Guns” were given the opportunity to design the Top Gun Shot-off this year, and it proved to be fast, exciting, and efficient. Good Job!

Only a handful of the 522 starters had hopes of being World Champion. Most of the competitors were here to have fun, see old friends, and enjoy END of TRAIL. Most accomplished that goal in spades.

Moving out

The RVs started moving out on Sunday morning. Some people couldn't stay for the shoot-offs and the awards ceremony. They had to return to what most people think of as real life, but some of us think of it as "that wasted time between matches." The next weekend was the Fourth of July, and there were events all over the country. Some people headed west to Railhead in Williams, Arizona. Others went north to Hell on Wheels in Cheyenne, Wyoming. "Well, it was kinda on the way," they'll tell you, "only 800 miles out of my way." By Monday morning only a few RVs remained, and most of them were gone by noon. The tent city folded up and went away. If you haven't been, I hope you make it next year to the 30th annual END of TRAIL. This was one of the best ever in 29 years, but, as Coyote Calhoun closed the awards ceremony, "You ain't seen nothin' yet." I hope you make it. I hope you dance.

... and, there's still three in the air! Badlands Bud was the top shooter overall and the Top Gun. Awesome!

A new class of Regulators was inducted during Opening Ceremonies. We had Regulators from all across the country and around the world in attendance. Being a Regulator is a special honor and these recipients richly deserve their new badges.

Who said Lightnings don't work? Lassiter used his long-barreled revolvers while shooting Gunfighter, an '87 Shotgun, and a Lightning to shoot his way into the Top Gun Shoot-off! That's an impressive accomplishment. Lassiter, by the way, offered to arrange for Side Match ROs, which he did. His efforts salvaged many of the END of TRAIL Side Matches. He did good!

Dr. Buck's Wild West Show was a real crowd pleaser! The grand stands were full for every performance and the performers were all world-class practitioners of the Wild West Arts. His show is guaranteed to bring the public back each year. The portable stage was itself a work of art, thanks to Laramie Jack and Big Horn.

diet just in case I win it!!

Walking down the street one afternoon, I spotted Capt. George Baylor. Having read his book, I approached him for an autographed copy of his book, Common Valor, which he readily agreed to donate. (Now if I can only get an invite for one of his and The Redhead's margaritas!). While talking to him, Creek Harding heard what I was gathering donations for and approached me and offered to donate several autographed and collectible western books from his collection, which I agreed would be a fine addition for the raffle.

Having seen Katie at several Conventions in Las Vegas (my wife being VERY familiar with her hairpieces!), I asked if she would donate, and we have an $85 dollar hairpiece from Katie's Millinery donated to us. And, having seen some of the cowboys take off their hats, she might want to consider expanding into toupees for the guys!

I approached the folks in Buckaroo Bobbins and was given a gorgeous $240 Santa Fe purse with conchos. As I was carrying it around the grounds, I got lots of whistles and comments on how well it went with my outfit! (Cowboys can be soooooo cruel!)

Mose and Bella Spencer have come up with an idea I think is terrific. They are creating a duster with the Praying Cowboy embroidered on the back with the words "Lest We Forget" above it.

How appropriate! Having seen their work, I am really looking forward to seeing it, and buying one for myself!

Work N Ranch has agreed to donate something from their fine collection of goods for us to raffle off—thanks to the nice folks for their consideration!

Our friends at Mernickle Leather will donate either a Holy Terror or Evil Roy complete rig, depending on your sex, with your named carved in the back, a $500 value. Bob does great work and is always willing to lend a hand.

Ted Blocker has agreed to donate one of the fine products from their leather goods.

Hamilton Dry Goods also has committed to donate something from their extensive line of products. (They carry the cowboy shirt that wicks away moisture, which with the rain and heat at END of TRAIL should be on every cowboy's list.)

Hearing Protective Services donated two $50 sets of hearing protection. These are custom made, so you need to make arrangements to be where they are sometime.

Frederick Jackson Turner has donated several CD's of his Greatest Hit. (Actually, I think you will be getting MORE than just one song...)

Former World Champ and a not so Evil Roy has donated a set of instructional videos. They may be well worn out before the winner gets them, however ...

SASS' own Man In Black, a great guy and friend of all, West Fargo, has donated a $100 action job—he is one of the top Ruger tuners in the business, so be sure to buy your tickets to get a chance at that!

The good folks at Cowboys and Indian were just ready to pounce while I was explaining to Wes what I was collecting for. They couldn't tell me fast enough they wanted to help out too, so they have donated to the raffle a $150 gift certificate for an action job on a cowboy gun.

Colorado Hat Company, makers of some of the finest hats around, has graciously agreed to donate a gift certificate good towards a purchase from them.

Old Frontier Clothing has donated a shirt for the raffle.

The good folks at Redwing have donated an absolutely gorgeous eagle head knife and sheath worth $250. If you have admired Redwing's screwknife, you will adore this one. And Redwing, thanks for the fundraiser for Ricky Lee.

Old West Laser Graphics has donated a gift certificate for some of their fine work—if you can think it, they probably can do a laser graphic of it!

Long Hunter has donated a handgun, and Kirkpatrick's has donated a complete Long Hunter holster rig.

Max's Metal Art has donated one of his unique barbed wire baskets. Folks, Max does some interesting and unique work with horseshoes and barbed wire, and this basket would fit in any cowboy's man cave.

And for the ladies, Diamond K Turquoise has donated a set of handcrafted sterling silver with red stone setting earrings, something that will go well with a wide variety of women's outfits.

If you have ever seen his craftsmanship, you will appreciate the fine work found at Beadwork by Hawk. He has donated a $50 gift certificate towards the purchase of his fine handiwork.

I have contacted many of our own SASS authors and have gotten books donated from T. H. Bear, Forty Rod, Clay Mosby, Linn Keller, Flint McCloud, and Jittery Jim Jonah. What a great collection of books for any lover of good western stories!

You all have seen photos by Mr. Quigley Photography, some of the best action shots you will find of SASS and Mounted SASS members. Mr. Quigley will take a photo of you with all of your SASS firearms and do one of his fabulous Patriot Warrior photos with you framed with the words from the Second Amendment. This is an individualized 16 by 20 canvas portrait, one you will be proud to display in your home.

JJJ Blacksmiths created one of his Railroad Spike knives and donated it to the cause. It is a unique and really sharp (in looks and in cutting ability!) and will add a unique look to any rig.

I have talked to many of the other fine sponsors and vendors that were at END of TRAIL. Obviously, I sprung my request on them with no notice, so if you do not see the names of some of the other fine sponsors and vendors on this list, rest assured that each one I talked to took it to heart and have promised to see what they could get their company to do, but obviously many of the reps here are unable to speak for their company as far as committing to donating something. I have no fear that all of them will respond in the generous manner we all have come to love about this sport.

As you will note, the folks that run their own business have been able to commit quickly and generously. The last person I want to talk about isn't donating a tangible product like leather goods or a firearm or such, but does have something worth buying raffle tickets for. Nope, what you get instead will be two consecutive days of teaching, each day being four hours worth of instruction on everything you need to know about this sport. This private instruction will be at donor's convenience, meaning you may have to go to where the donor is shooting or holding other classes. But, I think eight hours of instruction from Holy Terror will be worth any cowboy or cowgal's effort.

If there are any other vendors or donors that wish to make a donation to the raffle such

MARSHAL SUDDEN JUSTICE, SASS #14121

August 20, 1939 – July 5, 2010

By his son, Manos Del Fuego, SASS #27917

I am sad to report the sport of Cowboy Action Shooting™ has lost a good friend and mentor, Christian A. Tietgens Sr., better known as Marshal Sudden Justice. The Marshal, as we called him, was the founder of the Bartlett Bounty Hunters club in Leominster, Massachusetts and the main influence of the Justice Posse name in New England. He and several other cowboys helped to establish the sport of Cowboy Action Shooting™ in New England as well. Many cowboys entered the sport under his mentorship. Any time a cowboy needed advice or equipment, The Marshal was eager to help. He was well known at shoots for his advice and expert gunsmithing skills, but he was especially known for his several pairs of highly engraved Single Action Army pistols.

Marshal Sudden Justice participated in shooting matches nationwide including END of TRAIL, El Dorado, Helluva Rukus, The Reckoning, and Thunder In The Valley. As an expert shooter, he also participated in many other shooting sports such as high-powered rifle, bullseye pistol, skeet, and trap. He was also an active lifetime member of the Leominster Sportsmen's Association, serving on their board of directors. Additionally Dad was a lifetime member of both the Gun Owner's Action League and the National Rifle Association.

Marshal Sudden Justice joined the US Army in 1962 serving in Counter Intelligence during the Cold War. He earned an honorable discharge in 1968. Unfortunately The Marshal had not competed much over the last few years due to failing health, but his cowboy spirit never waned. To me he was a mentor, leader, advisor, fellow shooting enthusiast, and most of all, my Dad. 🤠 as leather goods, clothing, firearms, artwork, or western crafts, contact me at donadler@hotmail.com. Since all donations are going through the SASS Western Heritage Museum, all donations are tax deductible. You can also send a check to SASS Western Heritage Museum with a memo that it is for the Cowboy Memorial Chapel, also tax deductible!

And, while Long Jim Hancock and I were sitting around the roaring campfire listening to the coyotes howl and drinking sasarillas (ok, we were at a table in the food court eating lunch), I mentioned the idea of asking the Wild Bunch to donate a Life Membership for the raffle, with a limit of 500 tickets at $20 a ticket. We talked to Bighorn, who agreed it was a good idea and started campaigning for us. Before you know it, we got the word that the Wild Bunch liked the idea! So, you will soon be seeing information about your chance to win a Life membership for only $20! (If you already have a Life membership, Tex assured me that after you pass on, you will continue to receive your Cowboy Chronicle for at least the next 20 years. You just have to let him know if you want it sent to a nice heavenly spot, or one that could stand a bit more air conditioning.)

Thanks to all and God Bless. Now, lets get this Memorial Chapel built!! 🤠

THAT SOUTHERN (UTAH) HOSPITALITY!

The Ruckus at Red Rock – April 15-17, 2010

By Constable Nelson, SASS #11784

Constable Nelson,
SASS #11784

St. George, UT – When I started planning this latest Cowboy Action trip to the USA, I did things a little differently. This time ‘round, I set the dates first and then started looking at the SASS calendar. As it turned out, right in the middle of those planned dates, I saw the Dixie Desperados were hosting their annual in St. George, UT, and as a real bonus, I discovered Dixie Bell, SASS #5366, and T.L., SASS #5365, were part of that club. Having shot with them at various matches even back in the old California END of TRAIL days, I was grateful for the opportunity to catch up.

Well, from the time I arrived in Utah until the day I left (a day later than originally planned!), I felt I was among friends, even if I had only just met most of them.

The match started on Thursday with enough side matches to satisfy anybody. Speed events, pocket pistol and derringer, the Plainsman, a rimfire event (both rifle and pistol), long range pistol, a whole bunch of Long Range Rifle events, AND—my personal favorite—the “Shotgun Challenge.”

There you were ... standing up on the gallows, shotgun in hand and a minimum of 15 shells on you. At the beep, you shot targets that fell down; targets that fell down AND tossed a clay bird; and targets that fell down, tossed a clay bird, AND released bowling balls (no kidding!) that ran down tracks, and, yup, released another clay bird! Has to be close to the best fun (and possibly most challenging) side event I have shot—ever.

The side matches were followed by a fast and furious three stage Mini Match that gave us all a chance to get into “Match” trim for the next morning.

The Main Match itself was excellent. I enjoyed each stage without exception, although if anyone wants to chase down the varmint who invented the “Tadpole Sweep” (a 1,2,3,4,3,3,3,2,2,1 sweep), I’ll join their posse for sure! Wolf Wind Walker, SASS #36748, did a fine job designing fun stages with plenty of movement and variety.

It was obvious from the start a huge amount of work has gone into this relatively new range. The props on many stages were of terrific quality—The Mission, The Telegraph Office and Rail Depot, and The “Tonsorial Palace.” I am told more improvements are planned.

There were some awesome shooters at the match, and competition was keen indeed. There were also 17 shooters who shot CLEAN (and four who—Oops! were “Clean with a P”). This, I think, is all that needs to be said about the stage design and the target layouts; when more than 20% of the shooters didn’t miss a target ... isn’t that what we should all be trying to achieve when we set up a match? Don’t misunderstand me, it wasn’t a matter of everything being big and close either. The Mission stage, for instance, had pistol targets made from cut down gas cylinders. Not all that big, but with a beautiful ringing sound when hit—so appropriate to a stage where you started out ringing the REAL bell.

The Banquet complimented the shoot perfectly. The food offerings were delicious.

The awards ceremony was conducted with great good humor, and the Main Match awards themselves are something special. Ruckus at Red Rock, right? The category winners each took home a small part of that theme, with plaques made from local RED ROCK.

Pretty clear, I suppose, that I had a great time. I must thank all members of the host club for the effort they put in, and offer congratulations for a successful, fun, and safe event.

On a personal note, too, I must again thank Dixie Bell and T.L., who took a whole bunch of us wayward travelers into their house and made us feel at home. 🤠

Top Gun Shootoff winners were Boots Robb, SASS #43337, and Addie Rose, SASS #24061.

In the wash-up, overall winners were Hells Comin’, SASS #56436, and Belinda Belle, SASS #42966, for the main match.

ONE QUARTER CENTURY OF COWBOY ACTION SHOOTING™ IN EASTERN CANADA

By Grey Fox, SASS Life Regulator #223

~1985~

Cowboy Action was different in Canada in 1985! Notice the guns, targets (!), and costumes ... but folks were having a great time!

In the spring of 1984 Indian Frank, SASS #38915, read an article in Guns & Ammo magazine penned by none other than SASS luminary Rawhide Rawlins, SASS #834. Indian Frank was inspired and set forth to organize the first Cowboy Action match in Eastern Canada.

The event, by all historical reports, was an interesting and eclectic affair in both dress and armament. Frank's initial cadre of shootists arrived dressed in blue jeans, checkered shirts; others with ponchos and fringed vests. Some were sporting cowboy guns; others double action revolvers, and a few with semi-auto pistols. The targets were painted silhouettes, and the ball was opened!

As time passed, Indian Frank's event has endured and is the longest running Cowboy Action match in Canada. On Victoria Day, May 24th, 2010, Frank and his home rod & gun club in Guelph, Ontario hosted the Quarter Century Shoot—a much more refined event with SASS rules, big targets, and everyone dressed in frontier fashion. Many early SASS members such as Vicious, SASS #8014; Doc Rowland, SASS #12350; and Bear Butte, SASS #11231, were in attendance. Bear Butte being one of the long time officials of this auspicious event.

The winners circle included

Wild Cat O'Shea, SASS #47844, Duelist; Indian Frank, SASS #38915, Senior; Rawhide Wilson, SASS #40834, 49'er; Jim Brown, Long Range; Louis La Lumiere, Cowboy; Craig La Lumiere, Young Gun; Katherine McCulloch, Lady; Russ McPhee, Gunfighter; Tim Bird, Frontier Cartridge; and Dave Edwards, Silver Senior.

The photos tell the tale—past and present. 👉

~2010~

In 2010 everything looks much more familiar! Today guns, targets, and costumes are pretty much the same the world over!

THREE AMIGOS SHOOT NETS $240 FOR THE COWBOY MEMORIAL CHAPEL

Gunfight in the Badlands II

Palaver Pete,
SASS Life/Regulator #4375

Bend, OR – Eighty shooters from around the Pacific Northwest and California showed up for the Three Amigos shoot conducted by the Pine Mountain Posse in Bend, Oregon. All 10 Stages were based on the western spoof movie starring Steve Martin, Chevy Chase, and Martin Short. The highlight of the shoot was the “Buttercup Dance” performed by Palaver Pete, The Legend, SASS #36069, and Juniper Butch, SASS #20029, during the Awards Assembly held on Sunday afternoon. For those who have seen the movie, you may recall the dance takes place in the Mexican Saloon when the Three Amigos first arrive in town. Coyote Bob Barker, SASS #27516, played the bartender, who warned the Three Amigos to “not get into any troubles.” If you haven’t seen the movie and want a laugh, the DVD is available for rent at most video outlets.

Registered shooters were given the opportunity of purchasing an “insurance policy,” which permitted them to re-shoot a “dissatisfied performance” stage. The policy did not cover any safety or disqualification violations, only dissatisfied performance. The cost was $10 for each policy, and 48 Shooters opted to purchase the insurance based on the fact proceeds would be equally split between Junior Shooters in Bend, and the SASS Cowboy Memorial Chapel to be constructed at Founders Ranch in New Mexico. Thanks, shooters, your generosity is much appreciated!

Top male and female shooters for the match were husband and wife

Mid Valley Drifter, SASS #35724, and Buckshot Shell-E, SASS #37335, from the Oregon Old West Shooting Society in Albany, Oregon. Right bebrating their 23rd Anniversary. Congratulations from all the members of the Pine Mountain Posse!

A side event that attracted well over 20 shooters was the long-range rifle shooting. The Central Oregon Shooting Sports Association (COSSA) Range is one of the few ranges in the United States where distances up to and beyond 1,000 yards can be found—a dream for those shooters with their Sharps and other rifles that will reach out there and touch someone. This is one of those side matches where you hear a boom, then a few seconds later “the clang” report from the metal buffalo. It’s a hoot just to watch the shooters and spectators waiting for the clang—as soon as the clang is heard, the smiles begin. Thanks to Juniper Butch, Brownie Nash, SASS #3656, and Sweetwater Pearl, SASS #56026, for managing this most popular side match. Winners are indicated below.

As the photographs indicate, perhaps the most thrilling aspect of the shoot was admiring the Mexican and Mariachi costumes worn by most shooters. Cameras were flashing and smiles dominated the event.

The 80 registered shooters were unanimous in their conclusion the Reactive Metal Targets and the Mariachi-dressed Amigos won the gunfight. This conclusion was reached when the participants realized more laughs went down range than lead. Fortunately for the majority of shooters who were clad in Mexican outfits, there were no Arizona Law Enforcement Officers in the area, so therefore questions concerning legality of citizenship were avoided! However, several prominent SASS members were recognized despite their various Mexican and Western outfits. Long Jim Hancock, SASS #47369, for example, did not fool anyone by being dressed as a “Cowboy Memorial Chapel.”

Rail Road Flat, CA – Once again we invaded Taylor Park with our campers, motor homes, and tents for a rip-roaring good time at the third annual End of Track. The High Sierra Drifters outdid themselves again. They hosted a wonderful shoot that had us reminiscing of the High Sierra Shootouts from yore. Management had told me since they were hosting two annuals a year, one would be up close and personal and the other would be the old High Sierra. For those of you who have never been to the great shoot at Railroad Flats, CA, it's been going on for 25 years and holds wonderful memories for a lot of us. The High Sierra of old always had challenging targets with some way out and hidden in the brush.

Thursday brought side match day. I normally don't shoot too many side matches, but these guys are giving all the money to charity and most of us flipped out a twenty for tickets that were good for all the side matches. Fiddle Town Flash, SASS #19380, had 37 shooters for his Plainsman match. We shot three stages, with the first one being a long shotgun stage with all kinds of targets. The whole Plainsmen match was a shoot clean match. All misses were made up with your shotgun. It was a blast. After Plainsmen, Bull Dog Rick, SASS Life #67896, our range master, opened up for the rest of the side matches. Along with the normal speed matches, pocket pistol, and derringer, they had a .22 event, long range, and Quigley. Thursday night brought a Mexican potluck in our camp, and afterwards the remainder of the evening was spent wandering around the different camps.

Friday morning came early, real early, before the sun rose. We had to be on the range by 8:30 A.M. to shoot the first seven of 14 stages. Opening ceremonies were not the same old thing. Peaceful, SASS #256, had an opening prayer that was done very tastefully, with a blessing for our troops in harm's way, and then he had Ole Uffda, SASS #74748, sing the national anthem, and he was good!! He was so good I sought him out, shook his hand, and thanked him. I was running our posse and hadn't looked in the book to see who was with us. Everyone on our posse were old friends except one, and it turned out to be the man with the golden pipes!!

We started out on the bottom end. There wasn't a breath of wind, and the air was wet and huge, very heavy. We had six blackpowder shooters on our posse, and not one of us knew how to download our charges. It was a very challenging day, and those damn pigs on Stage 14 just kept dancing around and laughing at us. At least that's what we all thought they were doing, as none of us could see a thing after a couple of blackpowder rounds went down range. We made it through the morning, and while the rest of our posse went back to camp, I stayed on the range to shoot the Wild Bunch match. Denio, SASS #51564, had three stages for us to shoot. I think I worried Irish Ike, SASS #43615, on Stage Two. After I finished shooting, he looked up at me and said, "Where did that come from?" Apparently I was just a couple of seconds behind him, and that only happens on a blue moon!

Friday night was our first of two potlucks, with the High Sierra Drifters supplying the entrée. The food was outstanding as usual. The evening brought more camp hopping with the majority of the campers ending up in Possum Hollow.

On Saturday we shot the upper end, and it went off without a hitch. All the stages were well thought out and simple to comprehend. I think having such a great posse makes shooting the stages pretty darn simple! That evening Annie B. Restless, SASS #58669, coordinated the cooking of the entrée for another great potluck. The side match awards were handed out at dinner, and then we set off for one more night of camp hopping. We again ended up in Possum Hollow with a wonderful group of folks from the Ukiah Gun Club, where we got involved with a branding party. Yes, there was alcohol involved, and half the revelers were running back to their camps to find something cool to be permanently marked with the Rocking 4 brand. Wil Cooner, SASS #59484, and Cap Roundtree, SASS #L6056, were the primary culprits in defacing boots, chaps, and gun carts.

Sunday brought three different shoot-offs, the first being the Magnificent Seven team shoot. The next event was The Tortoise and the Hare with the top 10 and the bottom 10 teamed together. Lastly it was the top five men and the top five women shooting off. I didn't participate but went up to the range to watch the fun.

Everyone was animatedly talking about what they had done or what the plan was to beat the last group.

After the steel was put up, it was time for the awards ceremony. Those guys always do a good job of that! After the awards we all packed up and headed off in different directions, thinking of the next gathering in the meadows at Taylor Park. 🐾 not only get the shooter in the mood for the stage, but also reveal some history about Beaver Dick's life.

The side matches took place on the first day of the shoot. Extremely high winds not only blew the long range bullets off path but most of the shooters as well. I'm not whining (well, maybe a little bit), but on the bright side, smoke blocking the shooter's vision wasn't much of a problem. Also aggravated by the wind were the cowboy clays, speed shoots, and long range pistol and pistol caliber rifle events. Everybody survived, and only a few of the looser fitting hats went blowing down the road. The main match day was much better. It winded up a little towards the

Rexburg, ID – Well, if you were planning to go to the 2010 Beaver Dick Black Powder Blowout but didn't, sorry we missed you. If you were there, I am sure you had a great time. On June fourth and fifth, 45 shooters gathered and braved the wind and rain to make much smoke at the Twin Butte Bunch's no-berm shooting range. If you have never been here you are really missing out on a great range with great stages and props.

The Beaver Dick Black Powder Blowout is also an historic event. Named after Richard Leigh, a famous trapper and sportsman's guide in the late 1800's who settled in this area, shooters can feel guided by the old boy. The scenarios end of the match, but all in all, the smoke was back, blocking the last target or two of the stages.

As I said, the stages revealed some of the background and history about Beaver Dick. His name was Richard Leigh, and he was dubbed Beaver Dick because of his prowess as a trapper and his two front buck teeth. Beaver Dick was married twice, both to Native Americans. His first wife and six children were all taken by the pox, and his second wife bore him three children. Beaver Dick was also a superb hunting guide and guided

Idaho Packer, SASS #45068, took the trap for the Beaver Dick Category

President Teddy Roosevelt. The stages were fun, fast, and challenging. The Twin Butte Range has many old buildings and a train car for realistic and historic props. Some of the stages were shot from inside the buildings, some from outside, and some all the way through open doors and windows of the buildings. One of the stages, called Yellowstone, had ten targets that could be engaged in any order with any gun, and all the shooter's guns were staged on the table. Each target had to be hit two times. If the shooter did his or her job they wouldn't have to touch the shotgun, but misses could be made up with any gun. Everybody should have shot this stage clean. Stage Three was called Susan after Dick's second wife. It was staged around The Outlaw Shack and was based on defending the homestead. This stage was a jinx for our whole posse. The previous three stages, the whole posse smoked through with excellent times. We stopped for lunch and bam, this stage came up. There were more misfires, jammed shotguns, and other miscellaneous blackpowder related mishaps, and everybody experienced them. I wonder if the other posses were visited by outlaw spirits of the past at that stage? This year we had an Iron Man stage and a Man-on-Man. These were great additions and a lot of fun. The Iron Man was three stages shot one right after another. They were set apart so the shooter had to pack his guns to each stage, load and engage, and be off to the next stage. The whole run part of it was around 100+ yards or so. The first stage was started loaded like a normal stage, and the ammo needed for each other stage was set up at the stage or a table nearby. As the shooter came to the next stage, the rifle had to be loaded and the pistol had to be de-brassed and reloaded for the different scenario. That's right! Each stage had a different shooting order of the targets to remember. As always there was plenty to eat and some of the finest fixins' found anywhere. It all culminated with the Awards Banquet and steak and chicken dinner. There's nothing better than visiting with old friends and making new ones with a juicy steak in front of you. There were plenty of prize giveaways, and everybody went home with something. For this shoot, the Twin Butte

"Thunderer"®

The gun Sam'l Colt should have made!
Developed by Cimarron, produced by Uberti.

"To paraphrase the famed film director John Ford, 'If this isn't the way the old west six guns were, it's the way they should have been!' Firearms buffs have often wondered why the single action was never produced in the 19th century with the grips of the double-action Thunderer revolvers. Now you can have the best of both worlds, in four handsome and practical barrel lengths. Cimarron's mating of two popular frontier six-shooters has given birth to one of today's most sought after single action wheel guns!"

BUNKHOUSE BIDNESS

By Bad Penny, SASS Life / Regulator #1453

scramble for the lower bunk here waddies, there's lots of room. You could water the whole herd in the fountains alone. It was the official residence of the Kings of France from 1682 to 1790 when they rolled out the guillotine to do some serious topping and tailing. The Sun King, Louis XIV, played chess in the gardens on a huge chess layout using live servants as his chessmen. If he had been into Cowboy Action Shooting™, just think what he might have hung for targets! A whole new meaning to the words "big and close." Too gruesome.

So you are going to get How The East Was Won and how Cowboy Action Shooting™ came to France.

It is a staple of the Western that a "Lone Ranger" can ride over the horizon and save the whole town for all that's good, righteous, and the cowboy way.

In France our hero is Trusty Phil, SASS Life #28720. And, as is only right and fitting, he got the girl, the beautiful Leci with whom he rode off into the sunset, and they had two gorgeous daughters, Agathe (13) and Charlotte (12), but whoa there, I'm getting ahead of myself.

Trusty Phil's whole life seems a preparation for bringing Cowboy Action Shooting™ to France, which he finally did in 2007.

"I've been involved in specialized gun magazines and the gun industry trade press for over 25 years, as well as being an active hunter, shooter, and collector, even re-enactor since I was 13 years old," he told me. "One of started as a small gathering of devotees of all things Western in 2000.

What really helped here was an entirely welcome and completely benign, though well-armed, invasion from Germany. That happened when German Cowboy Action Shooter, Arizona Tom, SASS #30872, and the one he rode off into the sunset with, Broken Arrow, galloped hard for the border loaded with guns and ammo ready to demonstrate Cowboy Action Shooting™ at Trusty Phil's rapidly growing western show.

"In 2006 and for several years in a row since, they drove from Germany to France at their own expense to show the French crowds of shooters, western buffs, and all kinds of blackpowder enthusiasts" the cowboy way, Trusty Phil recalls.

He simultaneously began using his magazines to talk up the new shooting sport and soon the reaction came back from the public.

"How can I do that?" Trusty Phil says was the response. "And Cowboy Action Shooting™ France was born." The infant grew rapidly and here Trusty Phil acknowledges the invaluable help of the "Italian Connection."

As a gun writer he had been in constant touch with those he calls "the big guys," Alessandro Pietta (Alchimista, SASS #41531) and Rino Chiappa (Master Rino, SASS #5745) the Italian gun manufacturers, who make so many of the wonderful guns we cowboys use as time machines to take us back to the good old days. The flow of Italian and French cowboys back and forth between the two my favorite periods is the half century that won the West. I've always been interested in everything connected with that segment of U.S. history."

As Chief Editor in the gun industry press, he had been traveling to the SHOT Show since 1988.

"There I met the Wild Bunch several times and noticed the fast-growing sport of Cowboy Action Shooting™ in U.S. gun magazine editorials." All this inspired him to do his level best to bring Cowboy Action Shooting™ to France.

First, on his own, he launched the Paris Western Show™, which

Halfway through getting to know Trusty Phil, SASS Life #28720, Cowboy Action Shooting™ France #1 (founder) and Honorary President, Old West French Shooters #2 and Vice-President, and Paris Western Show™ Manager and founder, I realized he didn't have a bunkhouse. # PARIS WESTERN SHOW 2010 countries—shooting matches and training ROs—had its effect.

“When visiting Days of Truth in 2007, I was almost alone,” Trusty Phil recalls. “The next summer down at the European END of TRAIL Mazzano ranges, there were some two dozen French shooters plus VIP representatives of the French National Shooters’ Association sent to observe this new shooting sport.”

In 2008 the first French Championships of Cowboy Action Shooting™ were held at Tir National de Versailles during the Paris Western Show™, and it was a resounding success, thanks largely to the “Italian Connection.”

Trusty Phil commented he had more difficulty with other shooters than with the authorities in establishing Cowboy Action Shooting™ France. Sound familiar?

The other shooters were those who claimed to have been “shooting cowboy for 20 years.”

“When discussing further and visiting them, I soon discovered they had been shooting bullseye or balloons with .30-30 ‘94s or Marlin .45-70s.”

“We finally got it done!” he exults.

Of course, he was temporarily forgetting that France was still France. While Cowboy Action Shooting™ France was operating with Trusty Phil as #1 and Honorary President, other folks formed a second Cowboy Action organization, the Old West French Shooters (OWFS)—which is also affiliated with SASS. Trusty Phil soon became OWFS #2 and Vice President while retaining his place with Cowboy Action Shooting™ France.

Trusty Phil puts all this down to “typical Gallic warlike behavior.” I prefer to attribute it to that absolutely unshakable French dedication to Liberty. Look at the Paris skyline. Every single chimney is different from the one next to it. Building codes? Being on the “same page?” Never!

It was the great Charles de Gaulle, who somewhat ruefully remarked, “it is impossible to govern a country that produces 265 kinds of cheese.” Vive la France! Who wants to be governed? The West was wild, and that’s why we yearn for it and play the game.

The infant is now bigger than a toddler. Some nine ranges throughout France, with most having two to four dedicated Cowboy Action Shooting™ bays, are putting on a total of 10 to 12 matches a year all over France, with average attendance of some 25 – 30 shooters, 40 – 50 for the bigger matches. The big annual match called “Old West Shooting Days” has since moved from Trusty Phil’s Western Show at Versailles to a larger, dedicated, and more convenient place, though the international Paris Western Show™ still retains Cowboy Action Shooting™ demonstrations. All ranges have to be approved by Federation Francaise de Tir for liability insurance purposes.

The Cowboy Action guns in France are much the same as in the U.S. except there are no ‘97 shotguns. They are prohibited, and there are a larger proportion of cap’n ball revolvers since cartridge guns require police permits, and cap’n ball guns don’t have to be registered.

Cowboy Action Shooting™ is very much a family sport in France. Three of the nine directors of OWFS are women, and “we recently began to register Buckaroos,” says Trusty Phil.

“We authorize anyone over 12 to shoot with parental approval and

2010 Beaver Dick Black Powder Blowout . . .

Bunch has settled on the Black Trap Award. This shoot is named after a historic figure who happened to be a trapper. What better for an award than a double long spring trap with the category and winner on the pan? This is the only place you can win it, pard, but you gotta shoot it to win it! See you next year. J.

Bunkhouse Bidness . . .

ROs in close attendance," he adds.

An ore cart on rails is the newest prop, and here's a French side match or team shoot recipe to get the adrenalin flowing. Take a full-sized exact replica of a Wells Fargo stagecoach, add four snorting, ground-pawing horses, stuff the coach with howling and hollering cowboys and cowgirls clutching 12 gauges loaded with blackpowder blanks, and rip past a bunch of balloons blazing away at full speed. Mercifully, the recipe doesn't call for any garlic! Next year at Tir Versailles—maybe.

And here's a story Trusty Phil tells to point out how "politically correct" and useful Cowboy Action Shooting™ can be in our fight to protect civilian ownership of firearms.

After demonstrating Cowboy Action Shooting™ at a club, the board was so delighted they invited him for an after-shoot drink in a cafe across the road. Not realizing the cafe was off the range property, Trusty Phil strolled over "dressed as a pistolero with two single actions showing on my sides," as he recalls it. The patrons reaction ranged from delight to astonishment, but, and here Trusty Phil goes into bold face capitals: "ABSOLUTELY NOBODY was scared."

Heck, just looking at him they knew he was the good guy! l

NEW BOOK!
How The West Was Worn $16.95
Bustles And Buckskins On The Wild Frontier
by Chris Egan
Did you know that pioneer women sewed lead in their hems to keep their dresses from billowing on the trail? Or that business men had to wear bonnets to protect their eyes from the scorching sun? From old family Levi's to the short-lived "lancer dress elevator"; how the West Was Worn examines the costumes, often beautiful, and highly inventive clothing of the Old West. You'll learn how a cowboy's home state determined the way he wore his pants and hats, as well as how to distinguish one Indian tribe from another by their accessories.

Colonel Dan,
SASS Life #24025

ARTICLE IV, SECTION 4 CASE CLOSED

By Colonel Dan, SASS #24025, Life / Regulator

There have been daily expressions of extreme indignation recently from the White House, Capital Hill, and the mainstream media over Arizona's highly publicized illegal immigration enforcement law. In truth, however, Arizona has only taken the action necessary to justifiably enforce Federal law—something Washington itself has consistently refused to do! For the federal government to now bring suit against that state for doing what they will not do, despite their constitutional obligation, would be laughable if it weren't so seriously detrimental to the country. On top of this contrived outrage, Washington's weak attempt at covering up their true motive for this obstructionism by trotting out the old standard and overused excuse of racial profiling and discrimination is transparently ludicrous.

Individuals as well as states have an unalienable right of self-defense, which cannot be denied by any level of government—federal, state, or local. To do so, flies in the face of God's design for both man and beast. This divine right of self-defense supersedes any grounds for a lawsuit, but let's set divinity aside for now and continue. And rather than dissect the issues formally cited in the suit itself, let's consult a much higher authority—the Constitution. Let's see what it says about who's responsible for what? If we can determine the supreme law of the land directly addresses this issue, any further consideration of litigation against Arizona becomes unnecessary. Why? The Constitution holds all the trump cards ... that's why. At least it does if those charged with upholding the law obey and enforce the law. Conversely, if these same elected officials ignore the law, then we are no longer a nation of laws, but a nation of men; subject to the whims of an entrenched oligarchy of self-proclaimed rulers—not at all what God or the Founders intended or created.

Article IV Section 4: "The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican Form of Government, and shall protect each of them against Invasion; and on Application of the Legislature, or of the Executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened) against domestic Violence."

Now let's examine the definition of a few key words in this passage so we're all on the same page. The definitions below are from the Oxford dictionary. Colonel, why use the Oxford dictionary? The Oxford dictionary I use not only gives the modern American definition, but also includes the original British definitions with which our Founders were most familiar and would have used. Therefore, we can be more confident the original author's intended meaning is accurately and fairly represented.

Shall: expressing an instruction or command. In the legal sense, "shall" means there is no latitude for question or negotiation—no legalistic wiggle room here whatsoever. The "command" in question must be fulfilled.

Guarantee: provide a formal assurance or promise, especially that certain conditions shall be fulfilled relating to a product, service, or transaction. In this case, the Federal government must fulfill its obligation to provide the service of protecting the states.

Protect: keep safe from harm or injury. Is this immigration situation harming the United States? Obviously the answer is YES!

Invasion: an instance of invading a country or region with an armed force: an unwelcome intrusion into another's domain. No question, this is an invasion as the actions of those crossing our borders are indeed an unwelcome intrusion of our domain ... and at times, they are well armed, violent, and extremely dangerous.

Domestic: existing or occurring inside a particular country. Again, no question ... this invasion is happening inside the United States and in this particular case, inside several states.

Violence: behavior involving physical force intended to hurt, damage, or kill someone or something; the unlawful exercise of physical force or intimidation by the exhibition of such force. Now if you don't consider armed thugs and drug dealers, stoning, clubbing, and shooting at our border guards; killing, raping, robbing, kidnapping, and vandalizing the citizens who live in the border area as violence, then please stop reading my column. There's no hope for you.

Another way then to re-state the applicable meaning of Article IV Section 4 is this:

"The United States must fulfill its obligation to keep the states safe from harm or damage caused by any intrusion into this country."

It's indisputably clear what responsibility the Founders laid upon the Federal government in Article IV Section 4, and they did so in no uncertain terms using very precise language.

Keep in mind, many of the Founders were lawyers and knew the importance of being exact in their wording throughout these documents—particularly the one that would be the legal foundation of their new country. As I've always said, the Founders wrote exactly what they meant, meant exactly what they wrote, and did so in plain English. This can be seen not only in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, but in all their supplementary writings as well. Pick up a copy of the Federalist some time and you, too, will conclude these men were not prone to obfuscation and didn't harbor ulterior motives. Their writing was clear, deliberate, and precise.

What is Washington's underlying purpose then when their responsibilities and obligations are so clearly spelled out? When questioning anything that seemingly doesn't make sense or doesn't pass the common sense test in the political world, follow the power and the money to find your answer. These people are simply pandering to a potential voting block totaling upwards of 20 million new constituents—a growing number that can't be ignored by Washington insiders. Whichever party can be viewed by these 20 million as responsible for granting amnesty and eventually providing them citizenship with its bountiful benefits, can logically be seen as the party to which these new citizens owe their allegiance ... and their votes! It's nothing more complicated than that my friends. It all boils down to the simple fact these Washington power brokers will intentionally ignore the Constitution and allow a situation to continue that is damaging their country in order to stay in office ... as this issue indicates.

To my simple way of looking at the world of politics, our Federal government has criminally neglected its Constitutional responsibility and is unquestionably in direct violation of Article IV Section 4 of the same Constitution they swore an oath to uphold. Ergo, end of argument; case closed; lawsuit dismissed. Arizona, good job; charge on. Washington, lead honorably and fulfill your constitutional obligation, or get the hell out of the way!
