FORTY AND FABULOUS! CELEBRATING 40 YEARS OF SASS 1986-2026

BY MISTY MOONSHINE, SASS #83232

In 1986, a small spark was struck. Harper Creigh had an idea. An idea that history could be more than something we read about in books or watch on the screen. The Old West, with all its grit, honor, camaraderie, and larger-than-life characters, could ride again — not as a reenactment, but as a living, breathing sport built on fun, fellowship, and safe competition. That idea turned Harper Creigh into Judge Roy Bean, SASS #1.

Forty years later, that spark remains, only now it is a roaring campfire. In 2026, SASS proudly celebrates four decades of friendships that have been forged, families bonded, legends born, and stories that get a little better every time they're retold.

From the very beginning, SASS was never just about shooting. Sure, the firearms are iconic. The stages are clever. The steel rings sweetly. But what truly sets SASS apart is the people standing shoulder to shoulder on the firing line — and laughing together long after the last shot is fired. Over the decades, SASS has become a second home for tens of thousands of members around the world. It's where nicknames stick for life and where complete strangers can meet on a posse and leave as lifelong friends. It's where newcomers are welcomed with open arms and veteran shooters are treated like the living history books they are. It's where the phrase, "come on over, we've got room" still means something.

SASS has proven that fun and safety are not opposing forces; they are partners. Cowboy Action Shooting™ has shown the shooting world that you can honor historical firearms, dress the part, run exciting stages, and maintain the highest standards of safety and sportsmanship. For 40 years, SASS members, Range Officers, Match Directors, and countless volunteers have carried that responsibility with pride. That commitment is one of the reasons SASS has endured.

SASS did not become what it is today by accident. We honor that SASS was built — match by match, club by club, year by year — by the members themselves. By the founders who dared to dream. By the early day participants who showed up when there were no roadmaps. By the club officers who haul steel, set stages, organize events, work tirelessly, and still manage to smile at the end of a long day. By the costume makers, the stage designers, the gun cart builders, the brass pickers, the storytellers, and the mentors who patiently guide newcomers through their first match. Every monthly match, state, regional, annual match, every National championship and END of TRAIL event has been shaped by countless hands and generous hearts. SASS is not a top-down organization, it is a living community, and its strength has always flowed upward from the posse line. We're proud of that, and of you, our members.

One of the great successes in the evolution of Cowboy Action Shooting is how well it has grown with its shooters. We've seen competitors join as young adults and continue well into their senior years. We've seen families shoot together, sometimes across three generations. We've seen members step away for a season of life, only to return and find the same welcome waiting for them. SASS doesn't rush you. It doesn't leave you behind. It meets you where you are. That adaptability — paired with hard work, creativity, humor, and respect for tradition — has allowed the sport of Cowboy Action Shooting not just to survive, but to thrive.

Ask any SASS member about their favorite memory, and chances are it won't be about a perfect run on a stage. It'll be about the day the rain turned a stage into a mud pit and everyone laughed anyway. Or the costume malfunction that became a running joke. Or the posse that stayed together year after year, even as life pulled them in different directions. It's about the laughter echoing between the berms, the tall tales told around tailgates, the quiet moments of mentorship that changed someone's life without ever making headlines.

These are the moments that don't show up on score sheets — but they are the heart of SASS.

As we celebrate this milestone, we do so with gratitude — for the past, the present, and the future. The future of SASS is bright because it rests on a foundation that has already proven its strength — camaraderie over ego, safety over speed, fun over formality, and community over competition.

To every member who has ever worn a cowboy hat, chosen an alias, volunteered at a match, or welcomed someone new — thank you. You are the reason SASS is 40 years strong.

Cheers to 40 years — and here's to the next 40. We'll save you a spot on the posse.

A NOTE FROM THE JUDGE, SASS #1

Misty Moonshine (a sentimental softie at heart) reached out to the Judge, just home from the hospital and feeling good, and asked if he had a message he'd like to pass along to our members for SASS' 40th anniversary, he said:

"Who in the world would've thought a simple little game like Cowboys and bad guys would go worldwide? Well hell, it is the age of miracles. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to everybody."

—Judge Roy Bean, SASS #1 (12/17/2025)

THE JUDGE (SASS #1) WITH JUSTICE LILY KATE (SASS #1000)

WHAT'S IN A NAME? THE MAGIC OF THE SASS ALIAS

BY HOWLIN WOLF, SASS #97566

In the world of the Single Action Shooting Society, every shooter carries more than a six-gun — we carry a name. A name that tells a story, sparks a smile, and ties us to the rich traditions of the Old West. From Curly Bill to Calamity Jane, those aliases are as much a part of SASS as the smell of gunpowder and the jingle of spurs on the range.

But lately, it seems the trail's gotten a little quieter. More and more of us are leaving our aliases behind, choosing instead to go by our given names because, well, we've become such good friends over the years. We know each other's families, we travel together, and it feels natural to say, "Hey, Mike," instead of "Howdy, Dusty Trail." And while that's a testament to the strong friendships SASS builds, it's also quietly changing the heart of our sport.

When we purchased Mernickle Holsters, we slowly stopped being Howlin Wolf and Ivy Wild (SASS #97567) — we became Cliff and Lisa to most. Simply because of the company and the new role we play in SASS. It wasn't intentional, it just kind of happened. Folks got to know us through business and before long our aliases took a back seat.

While at Bordertown this year, we decided to put that theory to the test. We had nine of us staying together in a B&B, and we built ourselves a good old-fashioned "alias jar." Every time someone used a real name instead of an alias, they had to toss in a dollar. Let's just say the jar filled up faster than a saloon on Saturday night! By the end of the week, we'd raised enough to take all nine of us out to dinner on the last day of the shoot. And you know what? We laughed harder, stayed truer to our characters, and felt that spark of SASS magic return.

When we step onto the range as our alias, we step into a story — our story. It's a small act of make-believe that sets SASS apart from any other shooting discipline out there. It's the difference between just competing and playing cowboy. It's what turns a match into a memory and gives a new shooter the courage to dive head first into the fun.

That alias is a character, a spark of imagination that keeps the magic alive. It reminds us that we're not just shooters — we're storytellers, living out the legends that inspired us to join in the first place.

And it's up to us, the shooters, to help keep that magic alive for the next generation of Cowboys and Cowgirls — and theirs too. Because if we let that part fade away, we risk losing a piece of what makes this community so special.

So next time you holler a greeting across the range, try using your pard's alias. Dust off your own while you're at it. Let's keep that Old West spirit alive and well — one name at a time. Because in SASS, your alias isn't just what you're called. It's whom you become when the timer beeps, the smoke rolls, and the Cowboy Way comes to life once more.

Cliff "Howlin Wolf" Powers is a long-time SASS shooter and the proud owner of Mernickle Holsters. Alongside his wife, Lisa "Ivy Wild" Powers, he continues to support the Cowboy community through craftsmanship, competition, and keeping the spirit of the Old West alive.

RULES AND THE COWBOY ACTION SHOOTING GAME

BY SNAKEBITE, SASS #4767

Rules are principles or guidelines that dictate behavior and actions. They can be imposed by authority in the form of laws, serve as building blocks, or used to define what is allowed or not allowed. It's pretty obvious that without some sort of rules everything would be a jumbled mess. Even outlaws have rules. Our game of Cowboy Action Shooting™ has quite a few rules but that wasn't always the case.

When I started playing this game, well over 30 years ago, the rule book was a tiny little flyer type book about four inches high. The so-called rules were amazingly simple. Like when referring to equipment the standard was, “If it looks Cowboy, it is Cowboy.” That pretty much defined what was allowable in the way of equipment. Conduct was virtually dictated by the much-quoted Wild Bunch saying, “If Gene, Roy or Hoppy wouldn’t do it, then neither can you.”

ON WITH THE GAME

Yes... CAS is a GAME! It was started as a game and was always meant to be a game. Well, as we all know games have winners and most folks want to win. As the GAME progressed, it grew by leaps and bounds. The more the game grew the more competitive it became. That increased the pressure to get the jump on the next guy. People stopped walking from one position to the next and actually started running. GASP!

Folks learned that modifying their guns would allow them to shoot faster, or that shedding some Old West dress and donning a few “modern” clothes allowed them to move faster. All types of short cuts developed, some better than others. Our wonderful little fantasy game had turned into a mainline competition.

THE RACE WAS ON, AND BELIEVE ME, IT MOVED FAST

Up until that point, the rules were made and mandated by the founders of the GAME, those folks who called themselves The Wild Bunch. There wasn’t any real official process for those playing the game to have input into the way the game was played. The influx of people playing the game and the intense increase in competition had complicated things and established a need for defined or “real” rules for the GAME.

In an effort to get all the input they could, the WB established the Territorial Governors group. This group would operate as a go-between with the individual clubs and the WB. They would provide feedback to the WB allowing them to make new rules and adjust the existing rules to accommodate the way the game was now being played. This new approach helped for a while, but things were changing so quickly it soon became apparent the TG’s needed to be more than just an advisory group.

So, though the WB maintained overall control, they passed the rule making to the TGs. As you might have guessed, this led to the next step in our evolution. The Range Officers Committee (ROC) was established to spearhead training of the membership. Structured training had become necessary due to the many clubs that had been established. Getting every club to play the game the same was a top priority. That required establishing a regulated training program that would teach every member the rules using the same format.

This completed the new structure of SASS, which is akin to the structure of our country. We now have an Executive branch overseen by our CEO, a Legislative branch (the TGs), and a Judicial branch (the ROC). This new system has enabled the game to keep up with growth while maintaining its friendliness.

There is no doubt that the GAME has evolved, but for those of us that grew up watching our Cowboy hero’s at the movies or on TV, it is still our opportunity to return to those days when we rode for the Brand and did things “The Cowboy Way.” It also gives those folks in later generations the opportunity to enjoy a bit of what their parents and grandparents enjoyed in those years past.

When asked what supporting SASS does for us, I like to pass on the fact that SASS has given us the best fantasy game ever and it continues to provide us with international unity and cohesion. Without the guided direction of SASS we would soon be splintered into little more than a bunch of disorganized local shooters going nowhere, and the GAME would die.

I encourage you all to not “just shoot,” but learn to play the GAME.

See you on the Range.

PRESERVING OUR FIREARMS HERITAGE FORTY YEARS OF COWBOY ACTION SHOOTING COMPETITIONS IN CANADA

BY GREY FOX, SASS #223 AND MISS MARY SPENCER, SASS #55147

The adventure begins in Ontario in 1984. Frank McFarquhar reads an article in Guns & Ammo magazine. A friend suggests that Frank should organize a Cowboy match as Frank is an avid shooter and collector of frontier style firearms.

The first Cowboy Action Shooting™ match in Canada takes place May 26, 1985 when 23 competitors assemble at the Peal Handgun Club in Brampton, Ontario for the very first CAS competition fielded in Canada. Frank organized these competitions for the first 10 years at the Peal Gun Club Range, Frank changed the venue in the 11th year and since then the event has taken place at the Guelph Rod & Gun Club.

At the first action shoot the participants were encouraged to wear western style clothing. It was not mandatory, however the attendees in Frank's words did a fine job with their outfits. For the firearms, a similar policy was used. In Frank's words again, double action revolvers were shot single action and one competitor shot a Luger offhand.

Frank describes the targets as a combination of eight-inch steel plates, bowling pins, metallic silhouette chickens, water jugs, and clay birds. Great targets, but they all needed resetting after each shooter was finished.

The event was wrapped up with presentations of awards and prizes, which were distributed to all.

Frank's vision saw incredible growth Canada-wide, with single action shooting clubs affiliated with the Single Action Shooting Society® reaching from British Columbia to Quebec, with 18 clubs in total. There are also a number of ranges that have non-SASS affiliated events. Canada-wide, a Cowboy Action Shooting enthusiast has the ability to attend a cowboy event from Vancouver's Island to the Maritimes every weekend throughout the year, weather permitting.

It was unknown to us on the West Coast that Frank McFarquhar had organized a Cowboy Action match at a range in Ontario in 1985. We discovered the new shooting discipline by reading the same article in Guns & Ammo in the spring of 1984, written by our friend Phil Spangenberger (now deceased). I called Phil and he shared the details of the sport. Three southern California practical pistol shooters and "B" western movie enthusiasts had developed, while watching an old western, the idea of putting on a Cowboy Action Shooting match in 1982. They called it END of TRAIL. They put a second one on in 1983. Phil gave us the names of the three innovators that had fielded these events. The principals were Harper Creigh, Bill Hahn, and Gordon Davis. Phil was associated with Gordon because Gordon owned Gordon Davis Leather and was noted for being a champion practical pistol shooter. I called Gordon and enrolled in the next END of TRAIL competition, held in May of 1984. This competition was at a range at a gated community called Coto de Caza located in Trabuco Canyon in Southern California. Miss Mary and I attended EOT again in 1985 and we were hooked.

Myself, Al Page, and Neil Klassen assembled targets, props, plus a number of single action revolvers, lever action rifles, and ammunition. We made a poster and placed it in sporting goods stores and gun shops and 15 enthusiasts signed up. Some had single action revolvers, most did not, so we supplied the ones who did not with the appropriate handguns and lever action rifles. Many had their own shotguns. The first Cowboy Action event in Western Canada was held in the summer of 1986. We held the event at the North Saanich Rod & Gun Club. We then had intermittent shoots at the North Saanich Rod & Gun Club into 1990. Miss Mary, myself, and Al Page then formed the Western Canadian Frontier Shootist Society with the blessing and assistance of the Single Action Shooting Society, which had been formed in 1987. We published a Newsletter that we distributed to gun clubs and gun shops in B.C., Alberta, and Saskatchewan. We fielded the first SASS affiliated shoot in May of 1992 at the North Saanich Gun Club. With the distribution of the Newsletter the ball had started rolling and Cowboy Action Shooting clubs were formed in Courtenay, Kamloops and Alberta. The Kamloops association is called Palmers Gulch and had the second SASS affiliated match in Canada in 1993. Palmers Gulch traditionally gets attendance from all parts of the West. The Courtenay club has an annual match called Boomtown. The western clubs host the SASS Canadian Nationals, the 2025 Nationals were held at Mission, sponsored by the Red Mountain Renegades. The Nationals rotate to various venues in each different year. In 1993 the Victoria Frontier Shootists moved their events to the Victoria Fish & Game Protective Association and the events are held regularly throughout the spring, summer, and fall season. In pre-COVID days they had attendees from all over the west, the U.S., and Germany. Because the Single Action Shooting Society began to publish all manner of articles on Canadian events in The Cowboy Chronicle, we disbanded the Western Canadian Frontier Shootist Society and distributed the assets to the three pivotal clubs that had contributed so much to the growth of Cowboy Action, those clubs being the Victoria Frontier Shootists, the Valley Regulators in Courtenay, and Palmers Gulch in Kamloops.

All these events inspired other events, the Single Action Shooting events include Wild Bunch, based on the movie of the same name. In Victoria we, along with Ron Salvati, began Bolt Action Rifle Matches, a spinoff of the SASS events called BAMM matches. The Single Action Shooting Society has approximately 361 affiliated member clubs world wide.

Cowboy Action Shooting is the most fun you can have with your old time cowboy clothes on!!

Our firearms heritage is under relentless attack by an authoritarian regime that believes firearms ownership should be illegal based on its ideology. This administration has passed laws confiscating property from legal, licensed RCMP vetted owners. How has passing these laws affected gun crime? Not at all! Firearms crime has more than doubled since these legislated confiscations have come into force.

COWBOY ACTION SHOOTING™ YOUTUBE CHANNEL HITS ONE BILLION VIEWS

Abilene (SASS #27489) started a YouTube channel in 2022 to post videos of his fellow posse members shooting so they could see themselves and show their friends what they do. Little did he know that the channel would reach over a million subscribers and a billion views in less than four years. He has written a lengthy article about how this came about, which will appear in the next digital issue of The Cowboy Chronicle in April 2026. But you can visit www.youtube.com/@abilenecowboyshooter to see the videos now.

SHAMROCK SADIE, TOGETHER WITH NOT SO DEAD EYE AND POLLY WANNA KRAKKER (SASS #108266), LEAD THE CLINIC.

Clovis, California, September 18, 2025 — Kings River Regulators hosted the first Women of the West Clinic & Shoot, an event intended to help lady Cowboy Action Shooters™ build on their skills and maybe learn some new ones.

We had a ladies clinic, an eight-stage match inspired by famous western ladies, side clinics, slightly unusual side matches with matching awards, potlucks, raffles, and most importantly, fun. Our main clinic was instructed by Shamrock Sadie (SASS #78511) and Not So Deadeye (SASS #4435). These ladies have helped many shooters work on skills, training, confidence and speed over the years. They showed us ways to prepare for shoots at home, how to work through a stage, transitions, focus, dry firing practice techniques and more. I got to ask questions and clarify things I've been struggling with. Since some of my shooting has been self-taught, there were obvious holes in my knowledge and some things I didn't know I didn't know. Getting to ask questions and hear others lead to more learning. I'm so glad we got to have time dedicated to just talking about CAS. At big shoots or monthly matches there always seems to be too many other things going on. We ended the clinic shooting a couple stages while the instructors assessed us and gave us tips afterward.

After the main clinic we had side clinics — short sessions to focus on a specific aspect, like fitting and sighting in our guns, since some of us have been shooting hand me down guns never fitted to us. We also shot on paper to learn where we are hitting. Worked on target acquisition, sight alignment, sight picture, and how to improve shotgun shooting and hitting clays on stages. We had a long-range clinic where shooters got to try shooting long distances with buffalo rifles, the Quigley Down Under shoot, and CAS guns at 50 and 100 yards. We had a field cleaning class to show us what parts of our guns to spray when on the range, with what sprays, and why. We worked on SASS Shooter Handbook tips, ways to save seconds on the line and ways to fit our guns to our frames or grips. It's been a couple weeks now and I'm still hearing from ladies who have had their sights, grips, or stocks adjusted and how much of a difference it's made. A "petting zoo" was planned — a chance for people to try all kinds of SASS legal pistols, rifles, shotguns, Wild Bunch, pocket pistols, and derringers in different calibers and configurations. But tropical storm Mario blew in and rained us out — oh well there's always next year.

For the side matches we had the traditional speed pistol, but for speed rifle shooters had to reload an 11th round after firing 10 on the target. King's River Regulators have a working Ore Cart (the range is on an old quarry). The shooter gets into the cart and shoots targets while rolling down the tracks for time. KRR also is home of the Four-Gun Blast — one big target where the shooter engages it with 10P-10R-4SG as fast as they can. KRR also has the big buffalo target and is home to the unofficial Tallywacker Challenge — 10 rifle hits on the Buffalo's Tallywacker target at 20 yards. And the Annie Oakley Trickshot — back facing the target, use a mirror to hit the target with a .22 rifle 10 times.

Our match stages were written by Dustbowl Debbie (SASS #104385) with the clinic lessons in mind, so each one worked on a different skill. Some of us chose to use this as an educational match — rather than going for fast times we worked on getting the muscle memory of specific transitions, positioning and using sights. It was extra beneficial having the instructors at the stages so they could correct or encourage us as we tried getting those new skills down. I used eight famous western women as the inspiration for the stage story lines — both the heroines and the outlaws. Their lives and achievements were so interesting to research, I'm looking forward to finding next year's historical women. The Clinic & Shoot ended Saturday with a potluck dinner, raffle prizes, and awards.

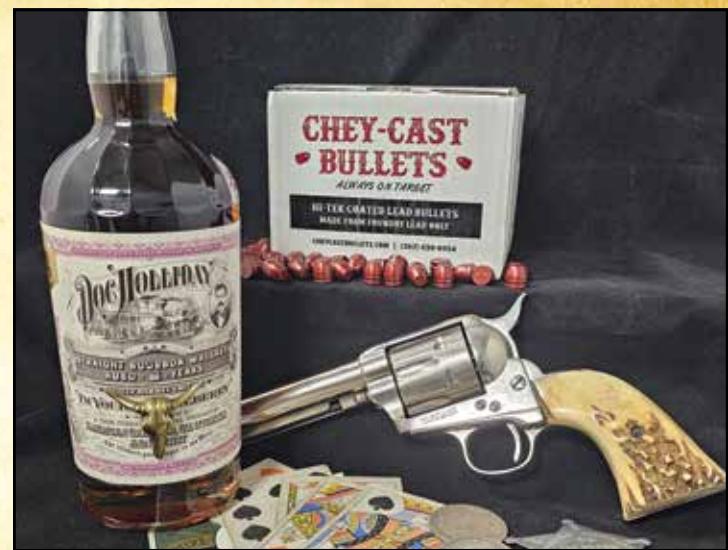

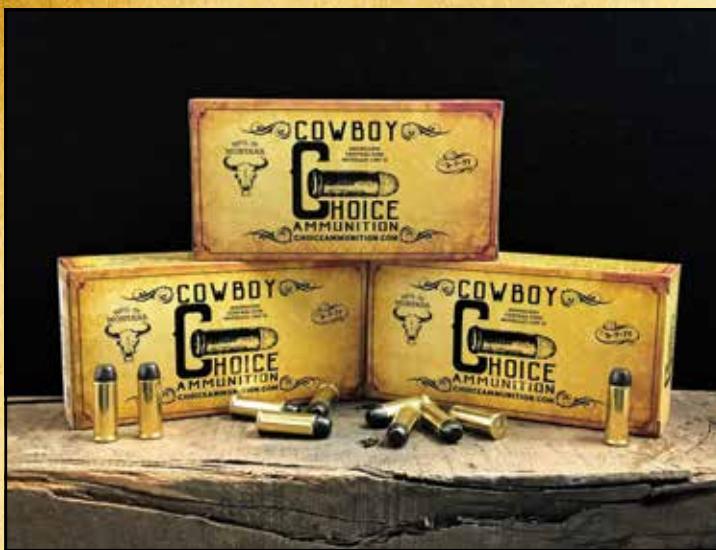

I have to say seeing people's progress by the third and fourth day was so inspiring. And the smiles when something finally "clicked"! Those were my ultimate goals of this event. We've kept in touch and it's wonderful to hear how the ladies are incorporating the information from the clinic and its instructors into their shooting. I hope it is something to build on. As we work on improving what we took from this clinic, we can find the next thing to work on at next year's clinic, and on and on. Check www.kingsriverregulators.com — the KRR website — periodically for updates.

King's River Regulators are truly blessed with a great crew of volunteers who set up the range, targets and props, ran the registration office, raffle tables, score keeping, timers and everything that shooting events need to run. They jumped in to help when the storm soaked the range, the water coolers were empty, last minute things came up that made us have to rearrange the schedule, and medical aid was needed. A true example of the Cowboy and Cowgirl spirit.

Company president Jon Wemple explains, "From the beginning, Choice Ammunition has been recognized as the premier brand for hunters who demand performance without compromise — and we carry that same commitment into every round of Cowboy Choice Ammunition and every Chey-Cast Bullet we produce. Our goal is simple: to give every cowboy action shooter the most consistent, reliable, and accurate ammunition and reloading bullets on the market."

While Cowboy Choice and Chey-Cast proudly serve many of the sport's top competitive shooters, Wemple emphasizes that cowboy action shooting is about much more than winning stages.

"This is a sport built on camaraderie — on people coming together to celebrate history, stay active, and share good times. Youth, men, and women of all ages can compete side by side. That's something truly special, and why we're proud to be a part of this remarkable sport."

NO MAN'S LAND 2025

BY SUE RENDER, SASS #38925

The fourth annual No Man's Land match was held May 30-31, 2025 at Mid-Carolina Rifle Club in Gaston, SC.

In 2022 a group of Florida Cowgirls brought Tilly Two Spurs (SASS #111118) an idea for an all-ladies match. Thank you Flalalocas! Last year, the fabulous Florida Cowgirls were gracious enough to hand the torch over to Candice B Real (SASS #88872), Dancin Angel (SASS #53686), and Sue Render to become Co-Match Directors.

The theme for this year's match was based off the movie Bad Girls. Stories, lines, props, etc. reflected scenes from the movie. This is a 10-stage match sanctioned by SASS and hosted by Savannah River Rangers and Palmetto Posse.

Five stages were shot Friday afternoon before the rain and thunder came rolling in. The last five stages were shot Saturday morning, followed by lunch and awards.

Our Range Master/Safety Officer, Jesamy Kid (SASS #34841), also played the roll of "prop master." He and a large group of Cowboys and Cowgirls transformed Mid-Carolina Rifle Club into the Bad Girls movie set! Thanks to Jesse Evans (SASS #111299), we also had a Gatling gun to shoot before the stage that coincided with a scene from the movie.

There were a total of 29 ladies/young ladies who shot the match. Here's a portion of what one competitor, Ms. Jewel (SASS #62556) had to say:

Congratulations to the Top Lady, Midwest Hale [SASS #106614] and Top Junior Girl, Elle Starr [SASS #114822]. This match exceeded my expectations in every way. I want to thank all who worked so hard to make this match happen. The props were awesome, stages were great and the door prizes were really nice. We had the pleasure of shooting a real Gatling gun before shooting our cowboy guns on one of the stages. Boy, was that fun. Also, thanks to all the sponsors and vendors who contributed to this fine match. Oh, and I don't want to leave out all the men (spouses and others) who set up the steel, reset knockdown targets, picked up our brass, and worked the loading and unloading tables. I hope I didn't leave anyone or anything out. We couldn't have done it without their help. Thank you all so very much. The awards were awesome and so was the meal that was served at the end of the competition. I hear there are already plans in the works for this match to be held again at the same location, same time of the year, in 2026. I hope to see more of our Cowgirls shooting with us next year. So if you couldn't make it this year, mark your calendars and join in on the fun in 2026.

She is so right! We could not have done it without the support and help of so many. Thank you!

Please visit the website (www.no-mansland.net) for scores, upcoming information about next year, applications, etc. We hope to see many of you at the next No Man's Land!

BATTLE FOR BALDKNOBBER'S RIDGE 2025 MISSOURI STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

BY SARSAPARILLA, SASS #107188

“What a beautiful weekend in the Ozarks” — a great summary for the 2025 Missouri State Championship. The Bear Creek Volunteers’ annual Cowboy match took place May 30 - June just north of Branson, MO at their beautiful range tucked in a valley with its namesake rushing in the background. Events kicked off Friday morning with a three-stage Wild Bunch mini match. Shooters were offered all the categories including Doughboy and Teddy Roosevelt, as well as some M1 carbines and 9mm carbines for a little extra fun. The swinging bear target on stage 2 was a welcome challenge for most. The all-knockdown stage 3 brought guaranteed fun. Everyone shot well and headed to lunch ready to do it again (including a couple of first timers to Wild Bunch). Congratulations to Owl Eye Olga (SASS #94036) and Sarsaparilla on taking the overall wins in Wild Bunch. Lunch on the range was followed by warm ups, along with the usual speed and distance side matches to let everyone shake off the cobwebs and let our friends from Oklahoma get used to seeing green grass and trees on a range.

Saturday morning brought another fantastic day. As the dew began clearing from the valley, all the competitors caught up with old and new friends while getting prepared for the day. Everyone gathered for the welcome ceremony and safety meeting in front of the Saloon before heading to their first stage. Eighty-three shooters completed their first five stages, ranging from a train robbery at the wagon to maintaining order at Liberty Church, all the while making sure not to peek at the lady's boutique. A tasty lunch of fried chicken was served on the range. A quick PCC match was held before everyone moseyed off to get cleaned up for the banquet.

Everyone was dressed to the nines for the social and banquet Saturday evening, with lots of stories being told of the day and days gone by. Dinner was followed by raffle giveaways — thanks to everyone for their support! Side match awards were also presented, with a couple of names being said more than others.

Sunday morning started off promptly with everyone hoping to continue on the prior day's success, or hoping to make up some ground. Everyone had a great time knocking back some bottles at the saloon, and seeing how fast they could make a withdrawal from the bank. All the posses worked well and the final five stages were in the books before you knew it. Everyone enjoyed a fajita bar lunch as the scores were tallied. More door prizes and costume awards were given out before the main match awards began.

There were 29 categories recognized, which means a lot of new belt buckles were handed out. Congratulations to all the winners and Missouri State Champions! A special congratulations to Marshal Shorty (SASS #111592) and Not So Dead Eye Maverick (SASS #4435) on their overall wins, and to the Missouri State overall winners Willie Mescal (SASS #86327) and Jackie Diamond (SASS #88014). Thanks to all the Bear Creek Volunteers for putting on a great match, all the sponsors for the donations, and all the shooters for coming out for a fun weekend. We hope to see you next year at the Battle for Baldknobber's Ridge, May 29 – 31, 2026. ## COMANCHERIA DAYS 2025 TEXAS STATE CHAMPIONSHIP THIRTY YEARS AND THE NEW THREE HUNDRED

BY KINCADE, SASS #109064

SASS #51153

TEXAS! Famously colonized by Stephen F. Austin, Empresario de Tejas, and the original 300 individuals and families that came to settle this untamed land.

Well, actually there were only 297 of them but let's not get picky at this point. You will see why in a minute.

The Texican Rangers, Texas' second oldest shooting club, founded by Mike Harvey (Texas Jack, SASS #5158), owner of Cimarron Firearms Co. and Texas Jack Wild West Outfitter, celebrated its 30th Anniversary by hosting the SASS Texas State Match, Comancheria Days 2025.

RV and Tent campers arrived at the Stielner Ranch and began setting up on Tuesday, April 8 to get ready for the events to come. Texas Jack Daniels (SASS #8587) continued the tradition of offering his RO1 class on Wednesday, the day before the match began, and it was well attended. Officially, Thursday, April 10 was the kickoff, registration starting at 7:30 in the morning, managed by Tombstone

Mary (SASS #19524), Shooting Iron Miller (SASS #85140), Bama Sue (SASS #54223), Crooked Creek Sam (SASS #101801), Beans Ahgin (SASS #65626), Minnesota Clay (SASS #45970), Frontier Faith (SASS #94293), and Lovie (SASS #112528). Things got in full swing at 9:00 with Texas Jack Daniels teaching the RO2 class. When you see him, say "thank you" because he's been giving his time to this for more than a decade. Simultaneously, the Wild Bunch four-stage Mini Match kicked off with 63 shooters. The Plainsman Match started at 2:00, while the Long Range competition spanned from 10:00 to 3:00. To top it all off, side matches for Fastest Rifle, Fastest Revolver, Fastest Shotgun, Fastest Derringer and Pocket Pistol, Fastest 1911, Bolt Action Military Match (BAMM), Fastest Cody Dixon Rifle, and Blazing Saddles took place from 1:30 until 4:30. In between events there were great vendors to choose from, including A & B Enterprises, Andrew Welsh Photography, Bear Gordon Photography, Booyah Bullets, Bullet Boss, Deadlast, Dirty Sally's Mercantile, Doc's Old West Cowboy Chaps, Gypsy Jo, Hearpeace, Lean Dog Productions, Lone Star Leather Works, Running Bear Forge, T Star Leather, Tell's Primers, Texas R3 Creations, The Earplug Lady, and Traveler's Antiques & Trading. They all did their jobs of parting Cowboys and Cowgirls from their money. It was a busy day at the range and hats off to the volunteers who kept all the balls in the air to cover the positions on the range. The Posse Marshals gathered for the walk through at 5:00 and everyone prepared themselves for the Main Match starting the next day.

On Friday, April 11, San Saba Slim (SASS #112288), Match Director and President of the Texican Rangers, continuing their club's tradition of starting the match with a hearty Texas welcome, followed by Colonel Callan (SASS #73944) on the bagpipes, the Pledge of Allegiance, the Texas Pledge, and a prayer from Bisbee Jackson (SASS #77610). Doc Holloman (SASS #110783) completed the opening ceremonies by lighting up the cannon. With that beginning you know this match is going to be something special.

Seventeen posses were separated into two flights. Shooters were assigned an 8:30 morning shoot or began the afternoon shoot at 12:30. The transitions between the two schedules flowed smoothly with Fister Bo (SASS #112253), Range Master, constantly on the move refilling water, electrolytes and snacks for the shooters. The Posse Marshals did another outstanding job this year. Hats off to Sheriff Robert Love (SASS #8960), Caprock Kid (SASS #105507), Fast Tracker (SASS #53792), Dirt Dart (SASS #94019), Roy's Creek Dan (SASS #73697), Reckon (SASS #35883), Slowaz Molas-ses (SASS #41444), Oklahoma Dee (SASS #44562), Crockett Texas (SASS #106906), Texas Jack Daniels, Rusty Shackleford (SASS #99400), G. W. Ketchum (SASS #100493), Kit Carson (SASS #60183), Newt Ritter (SASS #5891), Lil Magill (SASS #85752), Skinny (SASS #7361), Bootstrap Richard (SASS #79130), and Whiskey Kid (SASS #96877). The day finished with a Margarita Party, hosted by Haw-shaw Fred (SASS #36811), Hot Tamale (SASS #78531) and Annie D. Vine (SASS #103798) beginning at 5:00 while the Side Match awards were passed out. There was also entertainment provided by Blacky Vela & The Hipshots. Look under the Texican Rangers' website for the Side Match winners and their scores.

The well-thought-out stages were challenging and fun, with the difficulty being equally split between the lower and upper stages. Three started with the rifle in hand, one with the revolvers staged, and another with the shooter's choice of the shotgun in hand, or hands on the belt if you chose to begin with the revolvers. Two stages had Nevada Sweeps. Two had specific orders for the targets and two were round counts. The targets were arrayed in two, three, four, five, and one six count, with some in a straight line and others positioned to keep the shooters on their toes. It was a good combination of relatively easy sweeps as well as those that made you think and come up with a strategy before the buzzer. Again, the Texican Rangers color coded their targets for a shooter's advantage.

Buzzie's Bar-B-Q and Alex's Tacos were present again this year for anyone who wanted to purchase breakfast or lunch. The Rangers have a beautiful place with picnic tables under oak trees to eat, reminisce, or commiserate on the day's matches with the old friends you always run into at annual matches.

AND BE SURPRISED, while sitting under the oaks... who is that masked man? It's the Lone Ranger! Well, it looks like him, and for good reason, it's Wild Bill McMasters (SASS #182), mounted on a sixteen-hand Cremello Quarter Horse and wearing the costume made famous by Clayton Moore. His gun belt, spurs, and spur straps were made by the Bohlin Company, using the same dies for the silver conchos and buckles that they used on the original. Custom-made bullets lined the belt. Filling the holsters were ivory-gripped second-generation nickel-plated Colts. The costume came from Jaime Castenada, a tailor in North Hollywood, California who learned his craft under Nudie Cohn, and the hat from D Bar J. An original 1930s era Bohlin saddle completed the look. It's not every day that a legend rides into your midst.

Saturday, the Texas Spring weather continued to cooperate. You never can tell what it's going to be like this time of year, but so as long as it doesn't rain, everything is good. The posses couldn't have asked for a better day for shooting. If you were on the second flight of the day you probably had to be quick to get changed for the evening awards banquet starting at 5:30.

The Grand Ballroom at the Inn of the Hills Hotel & Conference Center in Kerrville, Texas provided the venue for the banquet. Men and women came "decked to the nines" for the Saturday night awards and raffle. Shotglass (SASS #17153), Squawty Bawdy (SASS #62632), "Comin' N Hot," and Texas Jack Daniels handled the stretch raffle this year. Raffle ticket sales ramped up considerably after Shotglass announced that this would be her final year handling the raffle, but assured everyone she would still be active in judging the Costume Competition. Thank you Shotglass, Squawty Bawdy and Texas Jack Daniels for all of the years that you each brought your personal touch and passion to the stretch raffle. The twenty-five raffle prizes this year were amazing, giving some lucky winner a chance to take home a Cimarron 1873 .357 Brush Popper, a pair of .357 New Ruger Vaqueros with pearl grips, an S&W Shield, a Springfield Armory 1911, a Henry Rifle, two Bond Arms Derringers, a Ruger Wrangler, a Ruger Super Wrangler, a Dillon 750, a Ladies Package, a Gift Basket, Small and Large Pistol Primers, a Tactical Gear 4-Gun Cart, an Iceland Cooler, artwork by Buck Taylor, and several Annual Match Entries. There were also two shooter prizes of an 1873 Brush Popper .357 Rifle and a pair of El Malo Revolvers in .357. A huge thank you goes out to Mike Harvey of Cimarron Firearms and numerous other donors and sponsors. A two-deck card raffle was held for a pair of 1873 Great Western II "Californian" .357 Revolvers, with numerous shooter prizes awarded throughout the evening.

Handlebar Bob (SASS #4650) returned for his twenty-seventh year as Master of Ceremonies and "Very Dry Joke Teller." He was ably assisted by Shooting Iron Miller, Fister Bo, and Tombstone Mary, keeping the drawings and awards moving. Tonic Kid (SASS #70340) from Oklahoma opened the evening singing the National Anthem, followed by Colonel Callan asking the Blessing. A special acknowledgement went out to Becky, Kit and Skye Patterson, owners of the Stieler Ranch, for hosting the Texican Rangers from the beginning. Texas Jack Daniels spoke on behalf of the Texas State Rifle Association and their work protecting the Second Amendment Rights in Texas. Doc O'Bay (SASS #63631), Yankee Texan (SASS #56796), Sweet Anne (SASS #87732), and Texas Flower (SASS #43753) judged the Costume Contest. The Shooting Costumes were won by Medicine Creek Kid (SASS #110004) for Cowboy and Shotglass for Cowgirl. Downtown Abby (SASS #113734) won for Junior Girl, while Heartbrake Kid (SASS #110551) took Junior Boy. Texas Pearl (SASS #9100) and Wild Bill McMasters secured Best Dressed Couple, well deserved with Wild Bill explaining how he taught himself how to personally bead his jacket and gauntlets. The winner in the Ladies Category was Delia Rose (SASS #100054). Rounding out the costume contest for the Gentlemen was Medicine Creek Kid (speaking Comanche to the judges with a Comanche costume and face paint that would cause anyone to head for the hills to save their hair), Captain George Baylor (SASS #24287) as a former Texas Ranger now State Senator, and La Sombra (SASS #108676) as a Cuban Guerilla, supporting the American forces in the Spanish American War. (There should have been a special acknowledgement for Lucky de Meers — SASS #113437 — as a Pinkerton Agent with a wanted poster chasing the Medicine Creek Kid.)

For 2025, a total of 152 buckles were presented to winners. There were 41 categories represented and 59 Clean Match shooters. The Overall Lady Champion was Sweet K. Oss (SASS #106975) at 191.45 seconds with Wild Wendy (SASS #98295) taking home Texas State Ladies Champion. Preacher Kid (SASS #92048) was the Men's Texas State Champion with Lever Action Kid (SASS #109545) as the Overall Men's Champion at 152.57 seconds for ten stages. Visit the Texican Rangers' website for complete scores. The match was attended by competitors from 17 states. It was an honor to have two special guests, Tex (SASS #4) and Cat Balou (SASS #55), founding members of SASS, in attendance from New Mexico.

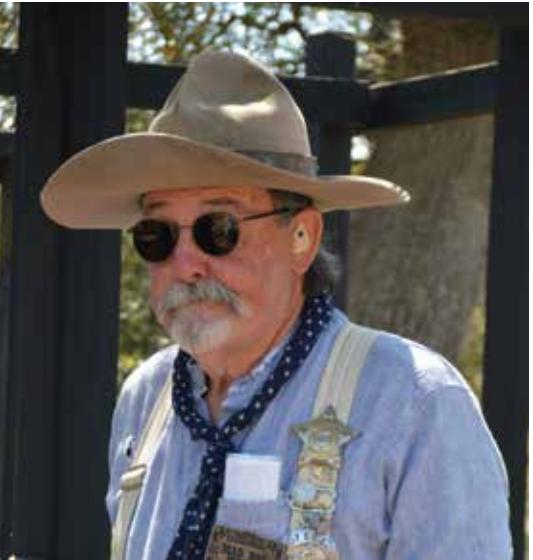

The leadership, members of the Texican Rangers and a host of volunteers did an amazing job of organizing and running this event. There are many small details and legions of individuals that make the Texas State Match a success. Special attention has to be given to San Saba Slim, President of the Rangers and Match Director, Sheriff Robert Love, Assistant Match Director, Shooting Iron Miller, Secretary, Tombstone Mary, Treasurer, Fister Bo and Culebra Blaze, Co-Range Masters, and Dutch Van Horn, Director of Communications, Esteemed Photographer, and Gentleman Extraordinaire.

There were two-hundred seventy-five shooters plus participants, a new 300 to celebrate the Great State of Texas. Awfully close to Stephen F. Austin's number of original colonists. Mark your calendar for Comancheria Days, the 2026 Texas State Match, to be held April 9-11, 2026. The Texican Rangers' website — <https://www.texicanrangers.org> — has all the needed information to sign up. Let's celebrate the 250th Anniversary of our country and have more than 300 Cowboys and Cowgirls in 2026.

KANSAS CAS ROUNDUP

BY LUCKYSHOT HAILEY, SASS# 190467

POWDER CREEK COWBOYS

We've been busy out at the Montello Township range and we're thrilled to share how far we've come.

Over the past few years, the Powder Creek Cowboys have been steadily improving our facilities, building on the vision of our founding members and expanding to a full eight roofed stages, each equipped with generous loading and unloading tables, lighting, and fans to keep things comfortable.

Our stages are connected by a covered boardwalk keeping shooters shaded and dry no matter what the weather brings. In 2025, we proudly introduced our newest addition — the Lucky Strike Mine stage, featuring challenging rifle targets and dynamic down-range movement. A fun stage for those looking to test their skills and shake things up.

We hosted three separate State Matches in 2025 and appreciate everyone who participated. We hope to see you out at the range again.

KANSAS STATE COWBOY ACTION CHAMPIONSHIP

One hundred thirteen Cowboys and Cowgirls traveled from 11 states in June to compete in 26 categories at the 2025 Prince of the Pistoleers Kansas State Match. This year's match was a resounding success, filled with challenging stages, spirited competition, and memorable moments. Thank you to all our participants for making this year a great event!

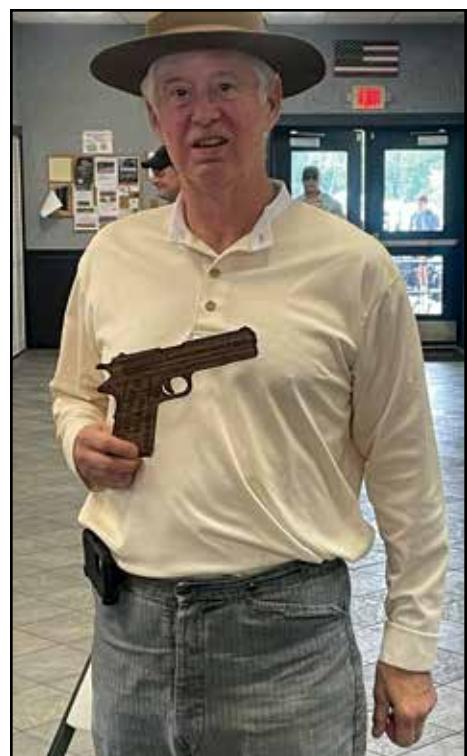

Thursday kicked off with a variety of side matches, a three-stage warm-up, and the Wild Bunch mini match, featuring 45 participants blazing through three stages. Attendees also enjoyed strolling through our vibrant vendor row.

Friday morning began with a safety meeting, followed by a stirring rendition of the National Anthem by Tonic Kid (SASS #70340) and a heartfelt prayer from Holy Smoke Harmon (SASS #84590). Thank you both for setting the tone. After completing five challenging stages, we gathered for a banquet featuring delicious food, exciting prizes, side match awards, and a costume contest. Congratulations to all our winners!

Saturday wrapped up the final five stages, followed by lunch and the much-anticipated awards ceremony. Our overall winners are Willie Mescal (SASS #86327) and Cooncan (SASS #101282). Kansas State Champions are Sneaky (SASS #104049) and Cooncan. A huge congratulations to our overall champions and every category winner. Your dedication and spirit made this match so much fun!

KANSAS STATE WILD BUNCH CHAMPIONSHIP

At the end of August, our Wild Bunch shooters came together at the Powder Creek Cowboys range for the 2025 Kansas State Wild Bunch match. The event included 10 demanding stages with strategically placed targets.

Each stage typically called for 28 pistol shots, 10 rifle rounds, and 4 shotgun blasts. Shooters completed six stages on Saturday and the remaining four on Sunday, which allowed time to enjoy lunch and attend the awards ceremony. Congratulations to our champions: Don Jorge (SASS #37131 — Overall Wild Bunch Modern), Buster Jack (SASS #59964 — Kansas State Wild Bunch Modern), Hail Hot Mary (SASS #93459 — Overall Wild Bunch Lady Modern), and Uncle Frankie (SASS#112657 — Kansas State Wild Bunch Traditional). Well done, Champions!

KANSAS STATE BLACK POWDER CHAMPIONSHIP

The 2025 Kansas State Black Powder Championship was held in late October. Nearly 60 shooters brought the heat/smoke in both Black Powder and Smokeless divisions, battling through 10 stages over two action-packed days. Each stage kicked off with a line from a country song, because why not add a little music to the competition? The weather mostly played nice and we wrapped it all up Sunday with lunch and an awards celebration at the clubhouse. Flint Hills Dawg (SASS #74774) is our Kansas State Black powder champion and No H Sara (SASS #105411) is our Kansas State Lady Black Powder Champion. The Top Overall Black Powder shooters are Buffalo Chip Jed (SASS #111564) and No H Sara. The Overall Cowboy is Willie Mescal and our Overall Cowgirl is No H Sara. Congrats to all our shooters.

None of this would be possible without the incredible support of our sponsors, donors, volunteers, members, and board members. Your hard work and dedication have helped us build a top-notch venue that we're proud to call home.

SMOKIN' GUNS AT RABBIT RIDGE 2025 MISSISSIPPI STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

BY PADRE DE CINCO, SASS #111846
AND DEANNA CASWELL (PADRE'S WIFE)

If you think rain ruins a Cowboy Action match, you must have missed the 2025 Mississippi State Championship. This Memorial Day weekend, the skies opened and tried to drown us, making for soggy boots and dripping hats, but this match is always fun — come rain or shine.

This is more than a competition, it's like a family reunion with gunpowder, and a celebration of the sport we love. This year's event drew more than 100 shooters, including many new faces. With a hard cap of 140, next year's slots will go fast. Whether you're an old hand or a greenhorn, this is the match to circle on your calendar.

GUNFIGHTING IN A GULLY-WASHER

This year's stages were fast and fun thanks to a bunch of new BIG and beautiful targets. Jered Maddox (SASS #28216), our ever-creative scenario writer, made the most of this year's theme, Support Your Local Sheriff, celebrating a classic western comedy.

The event officially started with a Friday night black powder match. Everyone likes to shoot fast, but at night the real stars light up the sky. Little did we know all that thunder was ushering in the rain.

Saturday started with a torrential frog-strangler, but Cowboys aren't quitters. Let's Go (SASS #82713), the Senior Gunfighter and Overall Men's winner with his very own high-stepping style, didn't let the puddles slow him down a bit. The posse around him cheered as his boots kicked up the spray.

By Sunday morning, the skies over Rabbit Ridge were clear, bright, and full of gunsmoke.

HELPING HANDS & HOSPITALITY

You'd be hard-pressed to find a match with a friendlier bunch of folks, and we're not just talking about the locals. Every year, competitors from out of town show up early, pitch in, and treat each other like kin.

Frontiersman winner Preacherman (SASS #20408) arrived days ahead of the first shot, hammer in hand and a smile on his face — cleaning, changing out shotgun target ropes, and even hanging photos in the clubhouse! Two days before the shoot, he's indistinguishable from the locals. This year, we installed his very own outdoor shower, hereafter known as The Preacherman Frontier Bathhouse of Eternal Refreshment.

Cattle Baroness and Mississippi State Ladies Champion, Sunny Girl (SASS #45500), answered her posse's call before they could even finish the sentence. Timing, scoring, spotting — whatever needed doing, she was on it, rain or shine.

That same spirit carried through every corner of the match — especially around the food tables.

FULL PLATES, FRIENDLY FOLKS

If you've never been to a match where you're fed all weekend long, let me introduce you to Mississippi hospitality. Here you're treated like you've just come off the trail and haven't seen a square meal in months.

From pulled pork and Popeye's chicken to authentic Mexican tamales and street tacos, the Mississippi River Rangers serve serious food from Friday afternoon to Sunday evening. And when there isn't a meal on the table, there's still trail mix, fruit, muffins, chips, and coolers full of drinks.

Even amidst Saturday's ponchos and puddles, calories and conversation were never in short supply. Shortcake (SASS #105517) and Lawdog Dago Dom (SASS #105516), who together swept their Frontier Cartridge Gunfighter categories, brought enough farm-fresh, individually packaged, boiled eggs for everyone.

Duelist winner, Leroy Luck (SASS #112928), and his Ladies Gunfighter winning woman, Misses Luck (SASS #112980), rolled in from Missouri with enough homemade cookies to fill the dessert table all weekend — and dang, they were good. They didn't come alone either; they brought a whole crew of new faces who fit right in.

A COWBOY TOWN HIDDEN IN NORTH MISSISSIPPI

The Cowboy Town of Gunsight sits on some of the most beautiful ground you could ask for — rolling woodlands and cotton fields open into a green valley that feels like a private slice of cowboy heaven. The clubhouse porch, with its rocking chairs and wide view of the hills, is only half the charm.

Step through the main street and you'll find a cantina, jail, livery, saloon, and even a bordello that all look ready to open for business. The façades have porches, windows, hand-painted wooden signs, and life-size cutouts that make each stage feel like a living movie set.

And just when you think you've seen every helping hand, Brazos Belle (SASS #82399), Ladies Senior and

OVERALL WINNERS LET'S GO AND BRAZOS BELLE

MS STATE WINNERS: SEA GOAT (SASS #111673) AND SUNNY GIRL

Overall Women's winner, and her clean shooting husband, Crooked Bullet (SASS #70870), show up — from Texas, no less — and work like they're lifelong locals. She was lending a hand all over the range and he was up on the roof repairing flashing before the first stage was fired.

LIMITED SPACE — DON'T WAIT!

This year proved again why Smokin' Guns at Rabbit Ridge is a favorite across the country. Rain, mud, and soggy hats didn't slow us down, they became part of the story we'll tell for years.

Whether it was the fast stages, the sharp costumes, or just the sound of good friends laughing over lunch, this event hit every note. With a 140-shooter cap, next year's slots will go fast — so mark your calendar early and come join the reunion.

If you're looking for a match that respects your wallet, treats you like family, and feeds you better than your grandmama did, go to MississippiRiverRangers.org to register today.

STAMPEDE AT SOUTH RIVER 2025 GEORGIA STATE SASS CHAMPIONSHIP ANOTHER GREAT YEAR IN THE BOOKS

BY T-SQUARE, SASS #105817

Atlanta, GA — Well, we did it again! The 2025 Georgia SASS State Championship, Stampede at South River, is history, and what a shoot it was. Fast Eddie (SASS #76308L) and his hard-working group of Cowboys and Cowgirls hosted 164 entrants from 20 different states that showed up ready to compete for a SASS championship.

The weather cooperated (mostly),

CARDBOARD COWBOY AND WITCH DOCTOR,
GEORGIA BLACK POWDER CHAMPIONS.

the stages were challenging, and best of all — everyone stayed safe. That's what matters most when you're slinging lead and having fun doing it.

THE HEART OF SOUTH RIVER

If you've never been to our facility, you're missing out. That log cabin clubhouse is something special — feels like stepping back in time the moment you walk through the door. The café keeps everyone fed with good home cooking, excellent barbecue, and hot coffee. There's plenty of space to sit back in the air conditioning and do your cowboy math while trying to figure out where you would have finished — if only. Clean bathrooms too, which anyone will tell you is worth its weight in gold. Ophelia Payne (SASS #96574) keeps everything running smoothly, and runs the best cowboy taxi service in the Southeast.

We couldn't have pulled this off without our sponsors stepping up big time. Jimmy Spurs Cowboy Gunworks, Page Custom Knives, Starline Brass, and Hunters HD Gold were our main match sponsors this year. Competition Electronics and Kitty's Closet & Emporium came through as associate sponsors. Then we had a whole mess of stage and side match sponsors — Bullets By Scarlett, Johnny Jump Up, Moma Knows Best Jam & Salsa, Mason Dixon Stampede, Outlaw Bullets, Savannah River Rangers, Charley Reno & Max Payne, Marion River Woodcraft, Foxy Filly & Cardboard Cowboy, Dungannon Gunner, and The River Bend Rough Riders crew with Witch Doctor and Pig Iron Lane. These folks make it all possible.

VENDOR'S ROW WAS HOPPING

You know what they say, half the fun of any good shoot is walking vendor's row, and this year didn't disappoint. Eleven vendors set up shops in our central plaza, turning it into a proper Old West mercantile district. Arizona Rocks, Buffalo's Western Wear, Bullets By Scarlett, CAS Bullets & Shot, Denham's Cowboy Shooting Gear, Kitty's Closet & Emporium, Marion River Woodcraft, Moma Knows Best Jam & Salsa, Outlaw Bullets, Page Custom Knives, and Speed Action Products all had their wares on display. Plenty of folks walked away with lighter wallets and heavier shooting bags — just the way it should be.

MCINTOCK! COMES TO LIFE

This year's theme was McIntock! and stage writers Charley Reno (SASS #104911) and Max Payne (SASS #96573) had some serious fun with that one. Ten stages based on scenes from the movie, each one more challenging than the last. Jake Dunson (SASS #16008) wrote up the storylines, and he captured that John Wayne swagger perfectly.

3 DAYS OF NON-STOP ACTION

says Cowboy Action Shooting™ like ice cream on a stick, right? The afternoon brought couples and team matches that had everyone cheering.

PINKY PISTOLS, LADY'S WILD BUNCH OVERALL CHAMPION, AND LADY TOP GUN SHOOTOUT WINNER.

Saturday morning meant business — the final five stages of the Main Match. A little morning mist tried to slow us down, but you know how it is with Cowboys and weather. We just pulled our hat brims down a little lower and kept shooting. More Dilly Bars at lunch (somebody's got to eat them), and then some real excitement — the Men's and Ladies' Top Gun Shoot-Offs to cap off the weekend.

THE WINNERS AND THE NUMBERS

Hurricane Charly (SASS #90225) and Slow Jen (SASS #107464) earned their Georgia State Champion titles, posting the fastest times among in-state shooters. The men's Cowboy division came down to 3.6 seconds — that's one missed reload or one shotgun make-up. Intense finish.

Picket (SASS #108967) and Midwest Hale (SASS #106614) shot the overall fastest times of the entire match, 164.15 and a 218.69. Just watching those two shoot was an education in how our game can be played at the highest level.

Black Powder Georgia Champions were Cardboard Cowboy (SASS

#74358) and Witch Doctor (SASS #70082), while Coosie (SASS #112259) and Brazos Belle (SASS #82399) took home the Black Powder Overall Championship. Cardboard Cowboy and Pinky Pistols (SASS #96392) took home top honors for the Wild Bunch Match. The Top Gun Man on Man Shoot-Off was won by Santa Fe River Stan (SASS #36999). Lady on Lady was won by Pinky Pistols.

We had 35 clean shooters this year, which is a testament not only to their skill, but also the excellent stage planning and setup.

SATURDAY NIGHT WRAP-UP

The awards ceremony Saturday evening was everything you'd expect from a good Cowboy gathering. Potshot Parker (SASS #35906) brought his whips and put on his usual crowd-pleasing demonstration. Barkeep Casey (SASS #86366) kept the drinks flowing (both the regular kind and the sarsaparilla for those keeping it family-friendly), while Slippery Stew (SASS #82437) handled emcee duties with distinction. That man could make reading a phone book entertaining. Card tricks too, but that's a topic for another time.

Mark your calendar now — May 14-16, 2026. We'll be back with another McLintock-sized helping of Cowboy Action Shooting, and if this year was any indication, you won't want to miss it. See you down the trail, partners! See You Next Year!!

LESSONS LEARNED THE GUNFIGHT THAT ENDED THE DALTON GANG AND THE GUNS THE TOWN CITIZENS USED TO DO IT

BY PAUL PAWELA

“The World likes a man who does his duty well.” —John Kloehr

In the annals of America's record-ed history, its citizens are much too infatuated with the criminal dung that shoots to popularity and infamy more so than the brave individual(s) who venerate the courage, individuality, independence, and self-reliance to take on the evildoers who terrorize the honest, hard-working citizenry and brings the criminal element to justice via incarceration or their demise.

The quote, “The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing,” is validated by what happened in Coffeyville, Kansas, on October 5, 1892. Coffeyville's honest, ordinary men came to the rescue against known outlaws robbing the town's two banks and terrorizing the townspeople. The good men of Coffeyville would forever be transformed by ordinary people who became extraordinary legends in refusing to let evil triumph. These good men not only did something to win against evil, but some good men gave their all. This is their brave story and the hard-fought lessons learned that we can still learn from and apply to this day.

This is the story of the townspeople of Coffeyville, Kansas, who had all the ingredients that made them Americans. They were hard-working, honest, God-fearing people who were hardened by a lifetime of endless violence.

Many of the townspeople had served in the Civil War, with so many deadly fights over pro-slavery and anti-slavery issues. These violent clashes would have come to be forever known in history as “Bleeding Kansas.”

CONDON BANK AS IT IS TODAY.

Those confrontations would birth gangs of outlaws whose tactics came from the infamous guerrilla fighter William Quantrill himself, of the infamous Quantrill Raiders. His most famous raider alums were the notorious Frank James, Jessie James, Cole Younger, and Jim Younger, who made up the notorious James-Younger Gang.

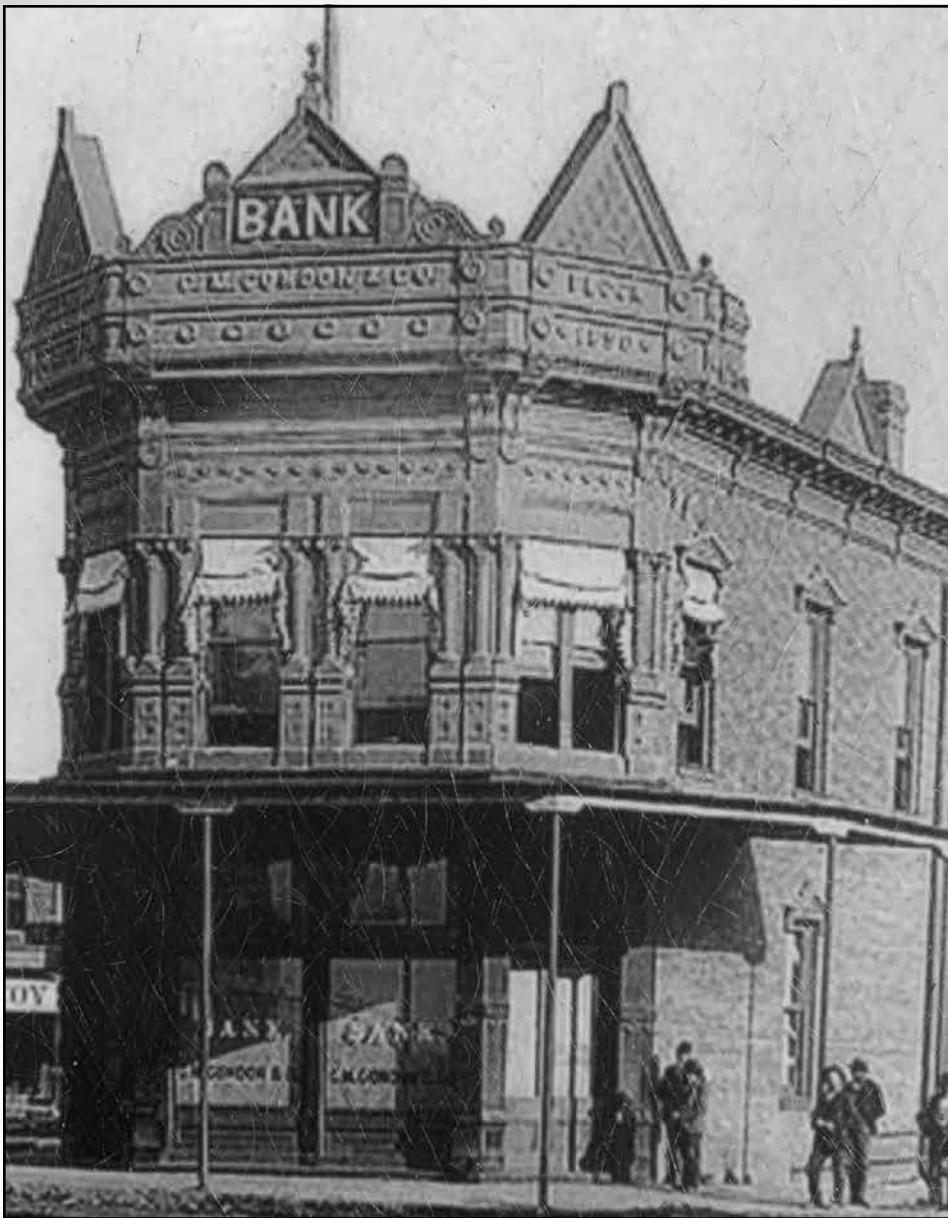

Jessie James perfected Quantrill's tactics, his gang setting the blueprint for almost every known outlaw gang that followed them. Their written-in-stone tactics were hard riding on horseback, brutal shooting, having a network of hideouts, stealing money as the objective, and murder without compassion.

Years later, the James gang formula would impress other like-minded outlaw gangs and encourage them to follow their path with the bolder aspirations of the legendary James gang.

One, the Dalton gang, with a reputation for being ruthless and daring, would attempt a robbery that had never been done in America's history, simultaneously robbing two banks in broad daylight.

The Dalton gang was so-named because of multiple brothers who formed it. It should be no coincidence that the Dalton brothers were cousins of Jim and Cole Younger, as the Daltons' mother was the Youngers' aunt.

The Dalton gang was bold and daring, having recently pulled off a string of successful train robberies in what was at the time known as Indian Territory (it later became the state of Oklahoma). As a consequence, the central train companies put up a $40,000 reward for the capture of the gang or $5,000 for the capture of any individual of the gang, which for the gang was problematic in itself. To make mat-

CONDON BANK AT THE TIME OF THE ROBBERY (NOTE THE BULLET HOLES).

The gang grew up around Coffeyville and knew many residents. One of their genius plans was to wear crude fake mustaches and beards to fool the town's residents and tie their horses on a hitching post to allow for a quick getaway after robbing the banks. However, the team leader did not send an advance scout to the town, which would have revealed those hitching posts were no longer there due to the town's reconstruction efforts.

The townspeople immediately recognized the outlaw gang, as the gang was carrying plenty of firepower with their Winchester rifles across each gang member's legs. Town resident Alex McKenna passed within five feet of the gang when he recognized them and followed three of them, Grat Dalton, Dick Broadwell, and Bill Powers, into the Condon Bank as Bob Dalton and Emmett Dalton split up to enter and rob the First National Bank at the same time.

McKenna would warn the townspeople that the Daltons were robbing the Condon Bank, but they did not know the First National Bank was also being robbed.

There comes a time when good people stand up for themselves and say enough! That is precisely what happened with the townspeople of Coffeyville.

The entire Dalton gang were experienced and seasoned gunfighters with a significant propensity to have better skill of firearms marksmanship than their opponents, which gave the gang a certain cockiness and overconfidence, which in turn would cost them dearly in Coffeyville.

The outlaw gang planned to rob two banks simultaneously. The robbery was the brainchild of gang leader Bob Dalton and his brothers Grat and Emmett, The other two gang members were Bill Powers and Dick Broadwell. Like most criminal elements, the Daltons had a plan due to their chosen path, relying on bullying rather than being smart. It was the smallest of details that caused their demise.

THE JAIL AS IT LOOKS TODAY.

feyville. Citizen Parker Williams took the first initiative by firing a handgun from the prone position on a store awning into the Condon bank around the same time hardware store owner Henry Isham was handing out Winchester Rifles and Remington shotguns and ammo to about 15 men.

More men were doing the same at Boswell's hardware store, soon after hearing thunderous volleys of different calibers of rifle rounds — in .44-40, .38-40, and .32-20 — from the townspeople who had outlaws in their sights. The good citizens sent 80 rounds into the Condon bank in less than two minutes.

The unsung hero of the town of Coffeyville was Condon Bank teller Charley Ball. His nerves of steel and impressive ruse convinced the robbers that the bank vault was on a time delay. Thus, the robbers believed they would have to wait a few moments for it to open, buying precious time for the townspeople to come at the gang with superior firepower, which they did. As all this was happening, Coffeyville drew first blood as outlaw Dick Broadwell was seriously injured in the arm from shots fired by Parker Williams, who witnessed Broadwell drop his Winchester inside the bank.

Gunfights are a two-way street, bullets go in both directions, and now Bob Dalton, the gang's leader and the town's deadliest opponent, shot and hit citizen Charles Gump, who was shooting from Isham's hardware store. Dalton's bullet struck Gump in the hand and shattered Gump's shotgun. Friends would rescue the wounded Gump, bring him into the hardware store, and provide first aid.

The firefight had now intensified as bullets were whirling in each direction. The volume of shots was intense, as a ricochet had found its way into the foot one of Isham's employees, by the name of Reynolds.

As gunfire intensified, the outlaw gang members in both banks decided to make a break for it. At the same time, Lucious Baldwin exited from the rear of the Isham store and encountered Bob and Emmett Dalton. Bob Dalton, without hesitation, raised his Winchester and fired, hitting Baldwin from 50 feet away in the chest. Baldwin died the next day from his wounds. As Bob and Emmett Dalton fled, Bob once again aimed his deadly Winchester and shot and murdered two more Coffeyville citizens, George Cubine and Charles Brown, from 40 to 50 yards away.

As the outlaws from the Condon bank fled, they were caught in a crossfire of bullets from men in both Isham's and Broadwell's hardware stores. Bob Dalton noticed Thomas Ayers shooting at his friends and brother. Taking careful aim with his Winchester, he shot Ayers from 75 yards, hitting him in the eye. But citizen George Picker quickly pressed his thumb into Ayers' eye socket of and SAVED his life.

As they outlaws tried to reach their horses — tied next to the town's jail (no one ever claimed outlaws are wise) — the alleyway they were in made a perfect killing field straight from Isham's hardware store. That alleyway would be forever known in history as Death Alley. Dalton, Broadwell, and Powers were being shot to pieces from precision shots from the men in Isham's.

Part-time town Marshal Charles T. Connelly, Barber Carey Seman, and the town's best shot, stable delivery owner John Kloehr, on foot, were trying to intercept the outlaws who were trying to escape. In doing so, Marshal Connelly got ahead of the bank robbers and Grat Dalton, who was behind Connelly, indexed his Winchester rifle without aiming, pressed he trigger, and shot Marshal Connelly in the back, killing him. (In the author's rifle class, students are taught to shoot one-handed as well as two-handed.)

As Grat Dalton tried to mount his horse, John Kloehr took deadly aim, firing his Winchester and hitting Dalton in the neck, killing the outlaw instantly. Outlaw Dick Broadwell, also mounting his horse, was also engaged by sharpshooter Kloehr and shotgun-toting Carey Seman fired the coup de grace. Rifle and double-ought buckshot hit the already severely wounded Broadwell, who was able to ride his horse about a half a mile away, only to fall off and die.

Gang leader Bob Dalton tried to mount his horse but was shot in the heart. Many credit John for shooting the outlaw leader, but Kloehr denied doing so. In fact, it had been speculated that hardware store owner Henry Isham downed the gang leader from 100 yards away.

In this writer's historical findings, it is indeed Isham who fired the fatal shot that killed the Dalton Gang leader. This is verified by Isham's bible, in which the entire event that unfolded was written down, giving full accounts of who shot who. This bible is still in the possession of the Isham family.

The last outlaw — who had been shot many times and tried to get away on his horse, and probably could have — was the youngest Dalton, Emmett. He was finally felled again by Kloehr and Seman, and again with Winchester rounds and shotgun double-ought buckshot. Amazingly, Emmett was shot with 24 rounds and lived!

In conclusion, the townspeople did bold deeds. Movies, books, and magazines have told Dalton's story, but you will hardly find anything about the heroic townspeople, which is a shame. These were ordinary people like yourselves, the readers, who ended up doing extraordinary things. This cannot be emphasized enough.

The weapon of choice that was instrumental for both sides in that battle was the Winchester model 1873, a rifle noted for its high capacity of 15 rifle rounds, known at the time for a smooth lever action and smooth trigger that could be fired rapidly with ease and reloaded the same. In today's terms, it would be described as an assault weapon. Our Founders recognized the importance of their citizens' right to bear arms, so they fought to keep those rights.

The Second instrumental weapon in the fight was the double-barreled shotgun, followed by the handgun. What has changed from then to now? Nothing! The American household should have a semi-automatic rifle, shotgun, and one or more handguns in its inventory, with supporting ammo to match each firearm.

THE LESSONS LEARNED FROM THAT GUNFIGHT THAT STILL HOLD TRUE TO THIS DAY

If you are going to be a responsible gun owner or a police officer, you need to challenge yourself in all kinds of applications with all types of weapons.

Always remember that the criminal element will, given a chance, murder you and your family without compassion, and also police officers trying to apprehend criminals. You and your family must be mentally focused to deal with that, which requires training!

The importance of marksmanship and point index shooting can't be overstated. Point index means up-close shooting, not anything farther than 30 feet. Beyond that, all rules of fundamental marksmanship apply.

Learn to shoot from different positions, all of them, and even the most uncomfortable ones.

Most people are shot first in the hand because the threat is the gun being held in the hand. Remember to beware of ricocheted rounds they can be just as lethal as one coming straight for you!

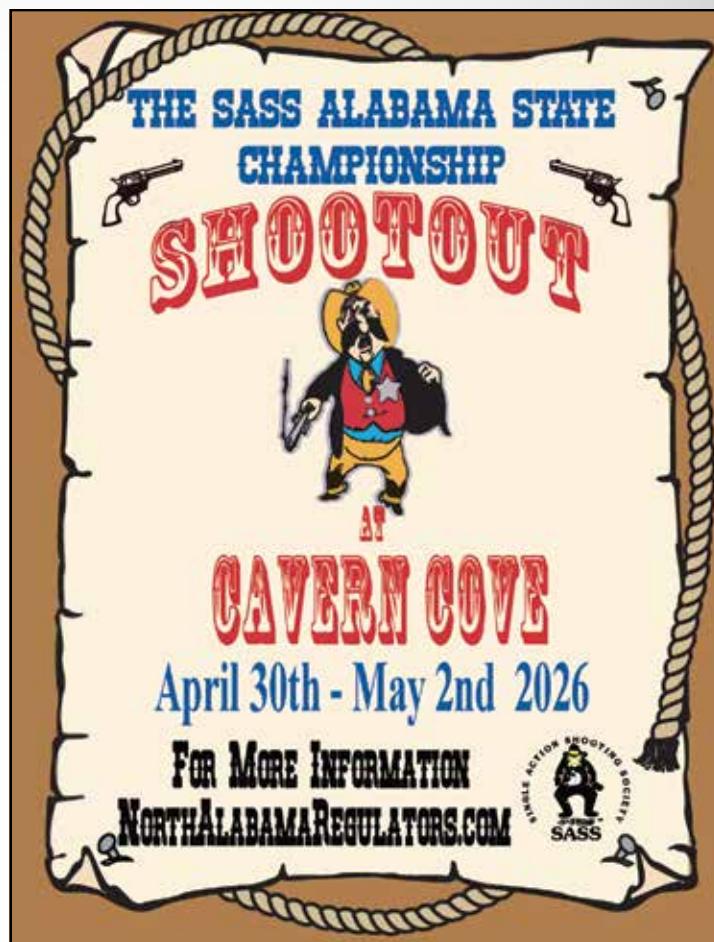

Bullets go in both directions. Self- and First-Aid training classes are just as important as firearms training. Be proficient at both!

People are bullet sponges. Always remember to keep shooting the bad guy with multiple rounds and stay put from behind cover until the threat is confirmed to no longer exist!

There is no glory in having to shoot another human being. While John Kloehr was credited for shooting Bob, Grat, and Emmet Dalton, and Dick Broadwell, he was humbled when Winchester arms presented him with a rifle, and a gold medallion was given to him by the citizens of Chicago. Ironically, the inscription medal read, "To John Joseph Kloehr: The Emergency Arose, The Man appeared." On the back were the words "Presented by friends in Chicago who admire nerve and courage when displayed in defense of social order." John Kloehr responded eloquently, stating that it was his civic duty to defend his friends while upholding the law. He also humbly credited the brave men who fought beside him.

Finally, The Washington Post (you read correctly) pointed out that the citizen defenders came from every walk of life and continued, "What this country needs is a multiplication of Coffeyville. A town of that caliber should be distributed freely throughout this glorious and happy land. Whenever robbers, murderers, incendiaries, and bandits congregate, some new Coffeyville should spring up in the night, populated by Browns, Connellys, Kloehrs, Baldwins, and Cubines and filled with the spirit of marksmanship. No county in any state should be without its Coffeyville."

This article is dedicated to the town of Coffeyville, which welcomed the author and helped him with the information contained herein!

THE AMERICAN OLD WEST GUNFIGHT REAL OR MYTHICAL?

BY COLONEL MONTANA KID HAMMER, SASS #6476 PATRON REGULATOR

Many of us likely remember the television show, Gunsmoke, 1955 – 1975, with Marshal Matt Dillon facing down an unknown gunman in the opening scene. Both cinema and television, products of Hollywood entertainment, not education, would have us believe many nefarious, unsavory, and even good fellows in black or white hats met their demise this way. Understand — I bought into that scenario then as now and rather, somehow, appreciated how cut and dried their gunplay played out. However, this violent ending was very much the exception, not the standard. If Hollywood and the American Old West's modern-day psyche prefer gunfights this way, where did the notion of such action truly begin, or did it?

Once again, the short answer is yes and no. Yes, it has a genesis. No, not quite as smooth, prim, and proper as Marshal Dillon executed it, pardon the pun. (A side note, John Wayne, not James Arness, was originally approached for the role of Dillon. It was Wayne who highly recommended Arness. Mr. Arness got the role, and the rest is history.)

You might be familiar with the name James Butler Hickok, aka Wild Bill Hickok. It is a rare American who doesn't know that name, even if they don't know much more about him. In that case, you may or may not know of the incident, in fact of history, yet still not without its controversy, of a street fight Wild Bill participated in against one Davis "Dave" Tutt on July 21, 1865, in the town square of Springfield, Missouri. I won't recount the details of this civic altercation by gunplay. However, Hickok won the day, while the American press built him into American Old West fame or infamy on this occasion. The media on that day, as best they knew, claimed this revolver duel or gunfight was the very first of its kind. I'm not here to debate that fact or fiction, nevertheless, the prototypal street gunfight was burned into the collective conscience of America and around the world. Newspapers, dime novels, stage plays, cinema, and television from that time until modern times, with Marshal Matt Dillon executing that famous TV show opening. (And let's not forget The Gunfight At The OK Corral). I will leave it to you, the reader, to decide this topic — The American Old West Gunfight, real or mythical?

Listed below are several titles from among hundreds you might begin your very own research to answer this article's query or to learn more about Wild Bill Hickok. I have these books in my personal library.

THE ORIGINAL WILD MAN OF BORNEO

BY BIG DAVE, SASS #55632

Leon Borchardt was born in Germany sometime in the 1860s. There isn't much known about his parents, childhood, or lineage, except that he was Jewish. He stowed away on the SS Fresia in 1876, was discovered, and made to work for his passage for three transatlantic crossings until he finally was allowed to immigrate to the United States. Borchardt drifted from city to city doing odd jobs until 1883, when he enlisted in the U.S. Army. A few months later he learned he would be deployed to Washington Territory where he learned he would be called upon to possibly see combat against Native Americans. The Army became instantly unattractive to him, so he deserted.

The following year, he turned up in San Francisco. He was penniless and willing to do almost anything for work, provided it didn't require much effort or skill. As luck would have it, he was approached by the proprietor of a circus sideshow in the city's Barbary Coast district. (This part of San Francisco was analogous to New York's Tenderloin district, an unsavory and unwholesome place.) All he had to do was allow himself to be covered in horsehair, be placed in a cage, caper about, yell, and eat raw meat that was thrown into the cage. He would be paid with beer and would receive half the receipts from the customers. Borchardt was billed as the "Wild Man of Borneo."

This was just great. He shambled around the cage and yelled "Oofy Goofty!", drank plenty of beer and whatever else he could get his hands on, and had a fun time. The only drawback was he drank up his allotment of beer and spent his salary buying more beer on credit. No matter, he had finally found a "profession." The name Oofy Goofty stuck, and that became his preferred form of address. Leon Borchardt was thereafter known as Oofy Goofty.

Alas, all good things come to an end. The horsehair was affixed to his body with either tar or glue. Within a week, Oofy became ill and listless because his skin wasn't allowed to breathe. He was dumped off at the San Francisco Hospital where the doctors had the devil's own time removing the gunk and horsehair. Eventually, he recovered. His "Wild Man" days were over, but he kept the name.

Oofy was down, but not out. His next gig was to become a baseball team's mascot. Unfortunately, that didn't work out because the team went on a losing streak shortly after Oofy got the job. They decided Oofy was bad luck, beat the heck out of him, and forced him to walk home to San Francisco, nearly 100 miles away.

Oofy's next occupation was to become a bunco artist and scammer. His career was brief. In June 1885 he was charged with libel for claiming that a man named C. Linear had offered him $200 to burn down Linear's house (for insurance money, I'm guessing). During the investigation, Oofty was thrown into the Home of the Inebriates. The U.S. Army found out about him and had him incarcerated in a military prison. About three months later he deliberately injured himself, was released, and returned to San Francisco.

His next career move was to allow people to beat him. He charged on a sliding scale, according to the thickness of the object with which he was beaten. A mere kick cost five cents, while a beating with a cane cost fifteen cents. For a quarter, you could beat Oofty with a baseball bat.

How he came up with this unusual profession depends on which source you consult. According to an interview he gave to The San Francisco Examiner in 1885, he had been doing it for a while. His secret was to conceal a leather pad inside his pants. Much later, in a book written after Oofty was dead, the author claimed he felt no pain because of the treatment he received at the hospital during the removal of the horse-hair during his Wild Man stint. It's hard to separate fact from fiction with this guy. The sources often contradict each other. Oofty himself added to the confusion by embellishing his story. He was a type of urban legend long before the term was coined. I suppose it's fitting because this was, after all, the period during which dime novels were popular. Almost all the stories of famous, and not-so-famous Wild West characters were exaggerated. I'll try to be as accurate as possible, but some of the stories are so bizarre that even if they are dubious at best, for the sake of amusement they must be included because it's kind of fun. Besides, as I've said before, historical events often surpass even the strangest works of fiction. My last article about tariffs was rather dry and depressing, so writing about a former sideshow freak who became a human "Kick Me" doll is cleansing to my jaded palate.

AT THE BELLA UNION HOTEL, OOFY STARRED WITH A WOMAN NAMED BIG BERTHA IN A FARICAL VERSION OF ROMEO AND JULIET. OOFY WAS SLIGHTLY BUILT AND 5'4" WHILE BERTHA WAS REALLY BIG, ENORMOUS IN FACT. THE PLAY FLOPPED, PARTIALLY BECAUSE OOFY'S ROMEO WAS PLAYED IN CHARACTER AS THE WILD MAN.

Oofty briefly tried a stunt where he attempted to push a wheelbarrow across the United States. The day after he started, his journey ended abruptly when some farm laborers beat him up and pushed him into a creek. There was something about the guy that made people want to hurt him. You can only hope there was some truth to his assertion that he felt no pain. He was a precursor of sorts to Curly in the Three Stooges.

Oofty then entered a six-day walking race in California. Those types of contests were extremely popular in the late 19th century. He covered 223 miles in six days. Not surprisingly, he was good at this sort of thing and entered several of them despite having a limp from deliberately injuring himself to get out of serving time in the military prison. Another plausible explanation for the limp was it was caused by the beatings acquired during his stint as a human "Kick Me" doll. An equally believable explanation is he was hurt after being tossed out of a bar. There is even a story about how he was injured by the great boxer John L. Sullivan, who hit him so hard with a pool stick or bat that his spine was permanently bent. The source for that one is dubious and appears to be the result of embellishment.

In 1887, a friend bet Oofty that he wouldn't allow himself to be shipped from San Francisco to Sacramento in a shipping crate. Of course, Oofty took him up on it. He obtained a crate, had it marked "This Side Up — Handle With Care," and off he went. The store owner who received the package wasn't in on the stunt and was surprised and upset that a disheveled little man emerged when it was opened. Oofty was only 5'4" tall. I suppose there was a happy ending to this story. Oofty not only collected his money but wasn't beaten afterwards for a change. However, he was beaten again after his next stunt.

Oofty decided to become an actor. He starred with a famous stage actress named Big Bertha. Bertha was indeed big — she reportedly weighed 400 pounds. Their one and only performance was an adaptation of Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet. Oofty played Romeo in character as the Wild Man of Borneo. According to one version, an angry group of drunken and unamused miners set upon the hapless "Romeo" and kicked the bejesus out of him. Another version has it that the play had several performances until Oofty proved "too ardent a lover" and Bertha grew weary with him and challenged him to a boxing match where she promptly knocked him out of the ring. Either story is believable. If the second story is the truth, it would be in bad taste to speculate on the details of the ungainly performances that occurred in Bertha's boudoir.

After the thespian adventure flopped, so to speak, Oofty moved to Houston, Texas. In 1900 he gave an interview to a local newspaper which is probably the most reliable chronicle of Oofty's life. His time in Houston was not particularly remarkable, with one exception. Twelve years later, he entered a quail eating contest that lasted for 30 days. He only did it once. He was turning into the "Mild Man of Borneo."

Mostly he sold fake diamonds and concocted various grafts to make a living. Then as now, you make a decent living as a grifter in the United States. Some people have hit it especially big, even becoming high ranking politicians. Oofty was more of the small-time variety of grifter. He was last reported in the 1920 census as living in a boarding house with the occupation of "salesman." The exact date of his death is not known.

There is one more bizarre twist to this already weird story. In the state of Wisconsin, there lived a man named Oofty Goofty Bowman. He was not in any way related to Leon Borchardt. According to Mr. Bowman, his parents just wanted to "express their admiration for the actor." Bowman never tried to change the name. He died in 1951 in Racine.

"Wild Man of Borneo" was a nearly ubiquitous term when I was growing up. In fact, the name has been applied to me upon occasion. It was used to describe men of untamed nature who tended to do unpredictable things. Oofty Goofty did in fact achieve a certain amount of fame if not fortune. In 1941, there was even a movie made about him called The Wild Man of Borneo. It should not come as a surprise that the movie was a comedy and only loosely based on real events. The real story would surely have offended people of that era.

DISPATCHES FROM FORT BAYLOR SASS FOR RVERS

BY CAPTAIN GEORGE BAYLOR, SASS
#24287 PATRON LIFE REGULATOR

ORIGINALLY PUBLISHED IN THE APRIL
2017 ISSUE OF THE COWBOY CHRONICLE
REPRINTED BY POPULAR DEMAND

Judge Roy Bean (SASS #1) invited me up to the ranch house at Founders Ranch after one of the monthly match down below. He wanted me to write an article aimed at getting RVers interested in SASS. Hmm, SASS has gotten a lot of shooters interested in RVing, so turnabout...

IN THE BEGINNING...

The Redhead and I got interested in RVing at the 2006 END of TRAIL World Championship of Cowboy Action Shooting™ at Founders Ranch near Albuquerque, New Mexico. The Redhead wouldn't come with me unless (a) she could bring our dog, George S. Patton and (b) she didn't have to stay in a hotel. The solution was to rent an RV. After much searching we rented a 31-foot-long trailer from what I now call Satan's Trailer Rental. We would come to call it the Trailer From Hell. Virtually nothing worked, and the AC would not work with any generator we could rent smaller than 9000-watt and it sounded like a squadron of B17s at take off. We got noise complaints from three rows away in the middle of the day. It was small and uncomfortable and cold showers got old almost immediately (but did help conserve water).

You enter Founders at the top of a hill and the "town" and the shooting ranges are in the valley below. In between are 15 rows for RV parking, capable of accommodating 600-plus RVs. The view of the town below is pretty spectacular. The 2006 END of TRAIL was the 25th Anniversary and attracted 900-plus shooters. The RV parking was pretty full.

Something strange happened in the CAMP BAYLOR SHOP, A 20-FOOT ENCLOSED TRAILER CUSTOM MADE FOR SUPPORTING A SASS SHOOTER. YES, IT'S SMALL, BUT IT HAS WORKED FOR 10 YEARS, LOADING FOUR CALIBERS AND 12-GAUGE SHOTSHHELLS AS WELL AS FIREARM MAINTENANCE AND CLEANING.

Trailer From Hell. One morning The Redhead walked outside with her first morning cup of coffee, turned and took in the 360-degree view and fell in love with RVing. By the end of the match we had talked to everyone there who would talk to us about RVing and Cowboy Action Shooting™ and we looked at a lot of RVs. Eventually we found some full-timers and talked to them. Their chosen RVs ranged from fifth wheel toy haulers to 35- and 40-foot motor coaches. Notably, we talked with Silver Heart and Pecos Clyde, who had been full-timing for two years in a 40-foot, four-slide diesel pusher coach with a 20-foot enclosed trailer that housed their Jeep and Clyde's shop with reloading machines. I went with Clyde to the trailer first, while The Redhead went into the coach with Silver Heart.

When we finished the tour of the trailer I walked into the coach and The Redhead turned to me and said, "You need to retire. We need to sell the house, buy a motor home and go to SASS matches full time."

My first thought was, "Who are you and what did you do with my wife?"

To shorten the rest of that story A

LOT, in June 2007, about five years ahead of schedule and after I had undergone cancer surgery, we left Houston in our 40-foot motor home and have been living in it ever since, going to SASS matches (and a few SASS Conventions) all over the western United States from Louisiana to Montana.

RVS AT SASS MATCHES

Founders Ranch is the model for how RVing at SASS matches should work. There are a lot of RVs there from tents to 45-foot diesel pushers. Normally they're in rows facing west, uphill, but some friends get together and make “squares” with RVs at 90 degrees, their curbside inside making a patio of sorts. Inside the square picnic tables and such are set up, sometimes with an EZUP for shade, sometimes with seating for 20 or so. Parties and group dinners occur—sometimes spontaneously, some, like the Arizona Cowboy Action Shooters party, are anticipated and very popular. If you’re lonely at the RV Park you can walk around and eventually someone will invite you in to talk, drink, snack, clean guns, fix a water pump, and so on. Or you can put out your awning and a few chairs, put a Margarita machine on the table, and start it. You will have friends you didn’t even know within a few minutes.

A few years back, The Dooley Gang, a Texas-based group known for their parties, had a big, very successful, four-wheeler you can use that.

Like END of TRAIL, many big SASS matches, state championships, Regionals, Divisionals, and the National Championship Winter Range have at least some on-site RV parking. Some, including Winter Range, even have hookups or at least electric power. But dry camping isn't a problem. Most matches are three or four days. END of TRAIL, if you shoot everything from Wild Bunch through the main match shoot-off, is about 11 days, but water and sewer trucks make the rounds daily. You pay at the SASS registration office and post a big, brightly color-coded receipt on the windshield, and the appropriate truck stops. After a few years we have learned the tricks to go the distance without either truck. It's a challenge. I treat it as such and revel in making it with water and black tank to spare and still manage to shower daily. But then, 40-foot coaches have big tanks.

An RV is the best vehicle for accessing a lot of activities at these matches. The nearest hotel might be 30 miles away, but your RV spot is 100 yards from the Belle Union, where parties start Wednesday night. Your friends are sitting around after the match sipping Margaritas. You can join them after you finish cleaning your guns, and if you realize you didn't bring something, just ask around until you find someone who has it and borrow what you need. SASS people help each other. If your toughest competitor breaks a gun, you offer one of your spares. It's SASS, where "The Cowboy Way" means something, not a sport where the winner gets a new six-shooter and the bottom of the finishing list gets ignored or razed. We still win new six-shooters, but they're given away in drawings and raffles. The guy in last might win one of them, etc. If you're in an RV up the hill, you can stay at the party until late and not worry about the affect of the Margaritas or Moonshine.

SASS people help each other in many ways. Twice at matches I've gotten the 40-foot 34,000-pound coach stuck. In one case, the host club produced a 16-ton earthmover that pulled us out. In the other, we learned how to free the coach with a Jeep, a winch, and a post-hole digger. Note both of those occurrences were during the first year or so. We have learned the value of reconnaissance, and since then we haven't gotten stuck.

There are times we both wish we had a house (with a garage for the shop), but we get to spend time where we want to be. Phoenix is great in the winter, too hot for an RV in the summer. Albuquerque is great in the summer, too cold for an RV in the winter. If we decide we want to spend the summer in Nebraska or traveling from match to match and the winter in south Texas, we can do that. It's not for everyone, and I don't try to "sell" anyone on it. But it is a lot of fun for us. RVing is an adventure. So is going to war. After 10 years we still considered it an adventure. We would do it all over again.

CHARMING JUNE 18, 1941 – SEPTEMBER 2, 2025

BY J. D. NEVADA, SASS #36148 LIFE

Henderson, NV — Born in Brockway, Pennsylvania, Nancy Myers (Charming, SASS #36149) became interested in Cowboy Action Shooting™ in the late 1990s in the Las Vegas, Nevada area. She did everything possible to help the local Cowboy clubs, but the Eldorado Cowboys in Boulder City became her favorite. Charming was instrumental in the Eldorado Cowboys hosting their first SASS Nevada State Championship.

In January 2001, she joined SASS and was involved over the years with all the official roles in the Eldorado Cowboys, from her beginnings as a Waddie to becoming the club's President. Charming served as the longest running President of the Eldorado Cowboys.

In June 2005, Kid Sopris (SASS #3290 Regulator), Hick (SASS #3847 Regulator), and Otto N Sure (SASS #21267 Life), nominated her for SASS Regulator, an honor she cherished throughout her life,

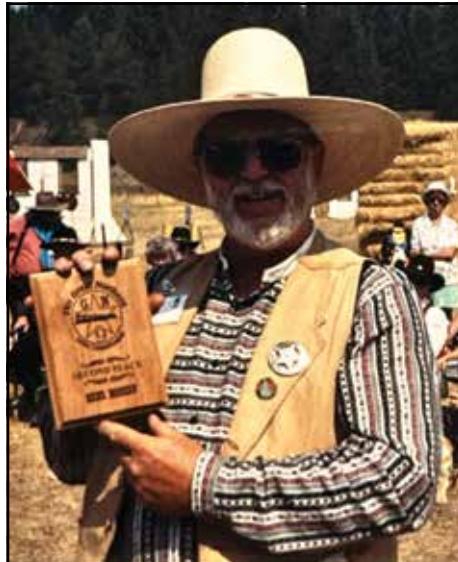

Charming enjoyed traveling across the country to different matches, meeting and talking with other SASS members

Her favorite saying was "Charming is a name, not an attitude."

Don started competing January 2000 at Poulsbo, Washington, home of the Webfoot Buckaroos, later renamed the Poulsbo Pistoleros. He also shot at R.U.C.A.S. in Renton, WA. Don competed in various categories over the years. He shot many matches all over the northwest states.

In 2005 Don and Olde Roughcut (SASS #21208) drove south from their home state and shot every match they could find for about five weeks.

Don was an excellent marksman. He was fun to shoot with, always striving to improve his skills for faster times.

And as they say... "This is where the Cowboy rides away."

MISS RUBY REDSMOKE

BY TUSCON THE TERRIBLE, SASS #47089

At the beginning of October 2025, we lost a Cowboy Action Shooting™ legend here in New Zealand. Tracey Ball (Miss Ruby Redsmoke, SASS #48421) was known in Cowboy Action circles around the world as "Ruby Redsmoke," "Miss Ruby," or just "Ruby." She was a member of the Golden Downs Rangers near Nelson.

I remember the first shoot she attended. Ruby and hubby, Trinity Hill (SASS #47086) came to Blue Spur near Hokitika to watch, observe, and learn this sport their good friend Payden Kash (SASS #28437) was introducing them to. They were hooked, helped by the winning of a revolver in a raffle. They got into the sport "boots and all."

Ruby's computer skills and organizing ability were talents that made shoots she was involved in running exceptional. The range books, the prize table, the certificates, the trophies and awards, the food. It seemed she thought of everything and a match would run like clockwork. And she was one of the best Posse Marshals one could hope for. She could get the biggest shirker on the posse to do their bit. When she told you do something, it got done! Ruby also kept our Trophy Register up to date and assisted me to start our own Cowboy Action Face Book page.

Ruby Redsmoke always dressed "to the nines" in B-Western attire. She made most if not all her costumes. Red and black were her signature colors, with many rubies and plenty of bling, matched by her shiny engraved guns and her shotgun, which belched red smoke. And her saloon girl costumes, Wow! Many Cowgirls emulated her style. It amazed me how much clothing she took to shoots. Must have cost a pretty penny in excess luggage flying to EOT.

When overseas, Ruby always caught up with the infamous "Margarita Sistas," a group of girls she had so much fun with, and they were all lifelong friends. There are stories about their escapades... but "what happens on tour stays on tour."

Ruby didn't compete just at EOT. Revenge of Montezuma at Cortez was one of her favorites and also an EOT warm-up at the Rio Grande Renegades. Ruby loved EOT. Her first was in California in 2004, where she placed in Lady B-Western and then dominated that category on her next five visits. Ruby also buckled in Lady 49-er and Lady Duelist. However, she wasn't a fan of the Sweet Sixteen Shootouts, in which she often found herself shooting.

At EOT 2016 Ruby Redsmoke was awarded "SASS Regulator" for her efforts "above and beyond." Well-deserved and very fitting!

Ruby also crossed the "ditch" to Australia regularly to compete in the Duel Down Under (a team shoot between Australia and New Zealand) and Chisholm Trail (Australian SASS Regional). Meeting up with her many good Cowboy mates made the trips a "must" and she also returned home with nine buckles.

Her list of wins in New Zealand was also impressive. Eight Top Lady Champion for the South Island Champs High Noon (NZ SASS Regional). Ruby was Top Lady Champion a total of sixteen times.

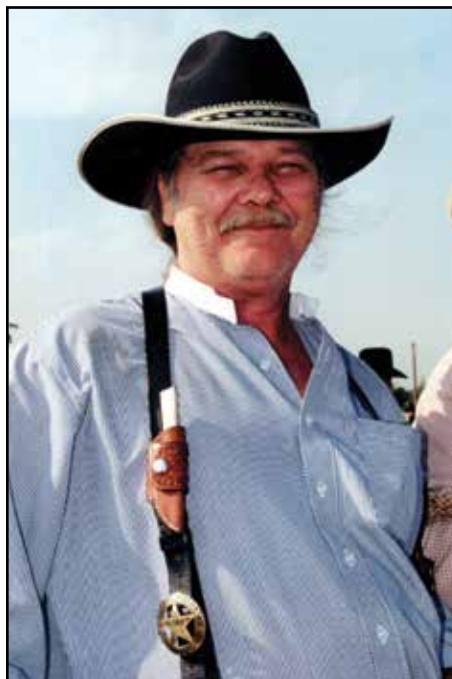

Miss Ruby was part of a group that ran a Cowboy Action Shooting school around New Zealand. Skills that were learnt during their visits to EOT were then handed on to increase the skill levels of New Zealand Cowboys/Cowgirls. This updated and re-enforced the skills learnt during Evil Roy Shooting Schools in New Zealand, 2003.

Ruby helped in the Pistol NZ booth at Shot Expo, held in Auckland. Pistol NZ was promoting all aspects of pistol shooting in New Zealand. The presence of her in her B-Western finery was enough to attract shooters into the booth to ask, "Whats all this about?" And the conversation about Cowboy Action Shooting began.

Ruby's contribution to Cowboy Action Shooting here in New Zealand was huge. The sport wouldn't be at this level without her enthusiastic input, guidance, style, costumes, and organizational skills. Her last shoot was the NZ SASS Regional in Hokitika in 2020.

At Land Run recently, Ruby was awarded "Legendary LOCAS" posthumously. A recognition of her work, her efforts in the sport of Cowboy Action Shooting, and the friends that she networked with in different countries.

Miss Ruby succumbed to the effects of MSA, a type of Parkinsons. She will be sadly missed by family and also her Cowboy family on both sides of the Pacific. Loved by many, missed by all. Rest in peace Ruby.

NASTY NICK

NASTY NICK

BY LINDA CAUBLE

While SASS continues to move forward and attract new shooters, sadly many of those who were the Old Guard have moved on. Among those is Andy Cauble (Nasty Nick, SASS #1380 Life), who was a member of the original California Coto Cowboys from the early 1990s, but who passed away early last year. Nick had family steeped in the history of the U.S., with ancestors who fought in practically every conflict in which this country was involved from the Indian Wars, Civil War, San Ysidro, Revolutionary War, WWI and WWII, Korea, through Vietnam. His grandfather rode the Chisolm Trail and his maternal grandmother and grandfather homesteaded in Montana in the early 1900s. Being an encyclopedia of American history, Nick could teach you more than you could ever learn from a class or a book and his table at the early gun shows always drew a crowd, as he related stories of the Old West. His love of this country was unparalleled and he could hold his own in any conversation about the frontier, thus his love for Cowboy Action Shooting™ and early firearms. He never hesitated to share his knowledge at gun shows and as the founder and owner of Walker '47, with an annual presence at END of TRAIL in Norco, California with gun smithing services and gear during the day and hospitality in the evening when the daily shooting was done. Nasty Nick never needed, nor sought, the limelight, but stood in it more than he knew. The coffee pot was always on at Walker '47 and anybody could come in on any day and sit down for a friendly chat or a corny joke or two. Nasty Nick was the exemplar of the Cowboy Way — always treating everyone politely and with a smile (unless he razzed you, at which point you knew he truly liked you). His shooting friendships spread across the United States to Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and Europe, so it was no surprise when he was honored with the SASS Spirit Award at EOT in 2002.

Nasty Nick made friends wherever he went and he lived by the motto of Walker '47 ("Where A Man's Word Is His Bond"). We sent him off with a little bit of him in specially-loaded shotshells at his "home" range — The Cowboys range in Norco, California in late April of last year, after which we toasted him with shots of his two favorite drinks — Scotch and Dr. Pepper — accompanied by home-made chocolate chip cookies made and served by his son Andy and daughter-in-law Kate. It's impossible to list everyone who honored him by coming out and participating that day, but you know who you are and I thank you and will never forget that you were there, from my son's friends who knew and respected Nick to local shooters to Hipshot (SASS #7) of The Wild Bunch. However, I did want to extend a special thank you to Mark Mabry (Ethan Cord, SASS #124) who loaded the shells Also to Dave Hunter (Mysterious Dave Mather, SASS #4861) and Mark Romano (Frederick Jackson Turner, SASS #28271), both of whom picked up the mantle when I couldn't finish my speech. I also want to extend a special thanks to "Black Raven Bob" (Rob Anslow) who voluntarily put together a YouTube video tribute to Nasty Nick. Go to <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=2b6saEjRUYk> to view it.

Nasty Nick was truly one of a kind. He will definitely be missed and his passing is a loss to the SASS community. As a fellow shooter recently said, "Andy was a fine man and Cowboy."

PITTSBURGH MAC

BY RIPPLE, SASS #103179

Paul McNaughton (Pittsburg Mac, SASS #20796) passed away on November 15, 2025 at the age of 81. He was a proud member and leader of the Danvers Desperados of Massachusetts. Mac's authenticity, skill, discipline, deep respect for the traditions of the sport, willingness to do more than his share of the work, and, most of all... his commitment to sharing his knowledge with newcomers, made him one of the most influential figures in the northeast corner of the Cowboy Action world. Mac was like a father or even a grandfather figure to many. In recent years, he stood hunched over, struggling to get around or even stand very long, but when went to the line and you heard his signature "Come and Get It!" you knew when the buzzer sounded he was going to be off to the races — smooth and fast, making it look so flawlessly easy.

He was always ready with tips and tricks on being more competitive... and if you were smart, you listened to what he had to say, because more often than not, he was top shooter, and almost always clean. For those very few of us who did manage to beat him in the latter years, he just might have had some choice words, with a bit of a twinkle in his eye and grin on his face — hoping to get a rise out of you. That smug smirk and chuckle under his breath will be missed as we honor him by working hard, maintaining that competitive focus and helping our fellow Cowboys.

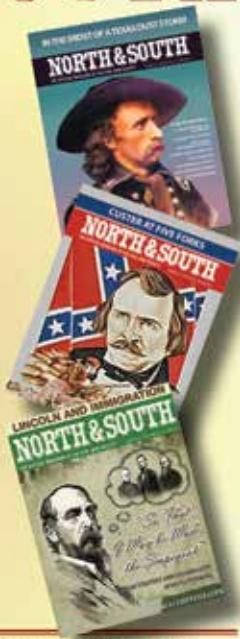

In honor of Mac, many Cowboys will no doubt use his famous "Come and Get It," a simple and easy phrase, not only to indicate you're ready, but also to let everyone know you are not going down without a fight. Mac didn't go down without a fight and his legend is etched in our memories, especially when we shoot in Middleton, Massachusetts, at "Mac's Place."

JASE THE ACE

BY TEX, SASS #4

Trail markers serve more than just to signify the end of a journey — they can also signal the beginning of an exciting new path. Jase the Ace (SASS #11226) exemplifies this notion. As a Buckaroo shooter, he represents the start of a remarkable journey in the shooting sports.

At just 13 years old, Jase has already been shooting for four-and-a-half years. Despite his age, his demeanor and skills set him apart. He carries himself with maturity well beyond his years and consistently outperforms many adult competitors. My first encounter with Jase showcased his respectful and insightful nature. He approached me, introduced himself, and engaged in meaningful conversation — so much so that I was surprised to learn he was a Buckaroo. His home schooling has clearly been effective, contributing to his impressive character.

Jase's competitive history is nothing short of impressive. He has claimed victories in his category at the Florida State Championship (his home state event), as well as outstanding performances at the Land Run Nationals. Notably, he secured wins at the END of TRAIL World Championships in both 2024 and 2025. Although his first match at the Ohio State Championship saw him finish second due to a rifle jam, he quickly established himself at the top of the Buckaroo standings. Given his recent performance at Bordertown, Jase is poised to continue his success as he moves into the Young Guns and Cowboy categories.

When asked about his initial training, Jase revealed that his journey began even before his father's involvement. His development has been shaped by a group of influential mentors — Waimea (SASS match strategy; Bucky Buckskin (SASS #106867) focused on transitions; and both Dead Eye Dillard (SASS #23582) and Cheyenne Culpepper (SASS #32827) helped refine his technique. The supportive environment extends beyond mentors — Jase's posse include multiple competitors in different categories, all offering encouragement. He considers everyone in SASS to be family and values learning from his fellow posse members.

During the Bordertown match, Jase demonstrated not only his shooting abilities, but also his commitment to helping with match responsibilities such as spotting and brass picking. His maturity was especially apparent when he experienced a foot-fault on one stage. Although the Range Officer offered him a reshoot, believing she may have caused the error, Jase declined, stating, "No, it was my responsibility to shoot the stage correctly." This level of sportsmanship reflects the highest standards among champions and is remarkable in someone so early in their shooting career.

When asked for his contact information, Jase promptly shared his phone number, email address, and YouTube channel — Jase the Ace Outdoors. He has already attracted followers and his first round of the Bordertown Top Gun Shoot-off can be viewed on YouTube, where his impressive performance is on full display.

When you encounter Jase the Ace at future matches, take the time to introduce yourself and get to know him. You'll be glad you did — he is truly a standout member of the SASS community.
